Welcome to face2face!

face2face

face2face is a general English course for adults and young adults who want to learn to communicate quickly and effectively in today's world.

face2face is based on the communicative approach and it combines the best in current methodology with special new features designed to make learning and teaching easier.

The face2face syllabus integrates the learning of new language with skills development and places equal emphasis on vocabulary and grammar.

face2face uses a guided discovery approach to learning, first allowing students to check what they know, then helping them to work out the rules for themselves through carefully structured examples and concept questions.

All new language is included in the interactive Language Summaries in the back of the face2face Student's Book and is regularly recycled and reviewed.

There is a strong focus on listening and speaking throughout face2face.

Innovative Help with Listening sections help students to understand natural spoken English in context and there are numerous opportunities for communicative, personalised speaking practice in face2face. The Real World lessons in each unit focus on the functional and situational language students need for day-to-day life.

The face2face Student's Book provides approximately 80 hours of core teaching material, which can be extended to 120 hours with the photocopiable resources and extra ideas in this Teacher's Book. Each self-contained double-page lesson is easily teachable off the page with minimal preparation.

The vocabulary selection in face2face has been informed by the Cambridge International Corpus and the Cambridge Learner Corpus.

face2face is fully compatible with the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEF) and gives students regular opportunities to evaluate their progress. face2face Intermediate completes B1 and starts B2 (see p13).

face2face Intermediate Components

Student's Book with free CD-ROM/Audio CD

The Student's Book provides 48 double-page lessons in 12 thematically linked units, each with 4 lessons of 2 pages. Each lesson takes approximately 90 minutes.

The free CD-ROM/Audio CD is an invaluable resource for students, with over 200 exercises in all language areas, plus video, recording and playback capability, a fully searchable Grammar Reference section and Word List, all the sounds in English, customisable My Activities and My Test sections, and Progress sections where students evaluate their own progress. Help students to get the most out of the CD-ROM/Audio CD by giving them the photocopiable instructions on p10-p12.

Class Audio Cassettes and Class Audio CDs

The three Class Audio Cassettes and three Class Audio CDs contain all the listening material for the Student's Book, including conversations, drills, songs and the listening sections of the Progress Tests for units 6 and 12.

Workbook

The Workbook provides further practice of all language presented in the Student's Book. It also includes a 24-page Reading and Writing Portfolio based on the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages, which can be used either for homework or for extra work in class.

Teacher's Book

This Teacher's Book includes Teaching Tips, Teaching Notes and photocopiable materials: 35 Class Activities, 12 Vocabulary Plus and 4 Study Skills worksheets, and 12 Progress Tests.

Network CD-ROM

The Network CD-ROM is a network version of the CD-ROM material from the Student's Book CD-ROM/Audio CD for use in school computer laboratories by up to 30 users.

Intermediate and Upper-intermediate DVD

Available in 2007, the Intermediate and Upper-intermediate DVD contains all the video sequences from the Intermediate and Upper-intermediate Student's Book CD-ROMs. The User Guide accompanying the DVD gives ideas for exploiting the video material in class.

Website

Visit the face2face website www.cambridge.org/elt/face2face for downloadable activities, sample materials and more information about how face2face covers the language areas specified by the CEF.

The face2face Approach

Listening

A typical listening practice activity checks understanding of gist and then asks questions about specific details. The innovative Help with Listening sections take students a step further by focusing on the underlying reasons why listening to English can be so problematic. Activities in these sections:

- focus on the stress system in English and how this relates to the main information in a text.
- examine features of connected speech.
- raise awareness of features of informal spoken English.
- focus on different native English speakers' accents.
- highlight how intonation conveys mood and feelings.
- encourage students to make the link between the written and the spoken word by asking them to work with the Recording Scripts while they listen.

For Teaching Tips on Listening, see p18.

Speaking

All the lessons in face2face Intermediate and the Class Activities photocopiables provide students with numerous speaking opportunities. Many of these activities focus on accuracy, while the fluency activities help students to gain confidence, take risks and try out what they have learned. For fluency activities to be truly 'fluent', however, students often need time to formulate their ideas before they speak. This preparation is incorporated into the Get ready ... Get it right! activities at the end of each A and B lesson.

For Teaching Tips on Speaking, see p18.

Reading and Writing

In the face2face Intermediate Student's Book, reading texts from a wide variety of genres are used both to present new language and to provide reading practice. Reading sub-skills, such as skimming and scanning, are also extensively practised. In addition there are a number of writing activities, which consolidate the language input of the lesson.

For classes that require more practice of reading and writing skills, there is the 24-page Reading and Writing Portfolio in the face2face Intermediate Workbook. This section contains 12 double-page stand-alone lessons, one for each unit of the Student's Book, which are designed for students to do at home or in class. The topics and content of these lessons are based closely on the CEF reading and writing competences for levels B1 and B2. At the end of this section there is a list of 'can do' statements that allows students to track their progress.

face2face Intermediate recognises the importance of vocabulary in successful communication. There is lexical input in almost every lesson, all of which is consolidated for student reference in the interactive Language Summaries in the back of the Student's Book. The areas of vocabulary include:

- lexical fields (concerned, annoyed, scared, glad, etc.)
- collocations (work overtime, meet deadlines, etc.)
- sentence stems (Whatever you do ..., Make sure you ..., etc.)
- fixed and semi-fixed phrases (Oh, how awful!, etc.)

When students meet a new vocabulary area, they are often asked to tick the words they know before doing a matching exercise or checking in the Language Summaries. This is usually followed by communicative practice of the new vocabulary. In addition, each unit in face2face Intermediate includes at least one Help with Vocabulary section, designed to guide students towards a better understanding of the lexical systems of English. Students study contextualised examples and answer guided discovery questions before checking in the Language Summaries.

For longer courses and/or more able students, this Teacher's Book also contains one Vocabulary Plus worksheet for each unit. These worksheets introduce and practise new vocabulary that is not included in the Student's Book.

For Teaching Tips on Vocabulary, see p18.

Grammar

Grammar is a central strand in the face2face Intermediate syllabus and new grammar structures are always introduced in context in a listening or a reading text. We believe students are more likely to understand and remember new language if they have actively tried to work out the rules for themselves. Therefore in the Help with Grammar sections students work out the meaning and form of the structure for themselves before checking in the Language Summaries. All new grammar forms are practised in regular recorded pronunciation drills and communicative speaking activities, and consolidated through written practice.

For Teaching Tips on Grammar, see p19.

Functional and Situational Language

face2face Intermediate places great emphasis on the functional and situational language students need to use immediately in their daily lives. Each unit has a double-page Real World lesson that introduces and practises this language in a variety of situations. Typical functions and situations include:

- functions: showing concern, giving warnings and advice.
- situations: at the doctor's, on the phone.

Pronunciation

Pronunciation is integrated throughout face2face Intermediate. Drills for every new grammar structure and all new Real World language are included on the Class Audio Cassettes/CDs and indicated in the Student's Book and Teacher's Book by the icon

 These drills focus on sentence stress, weak forms, intonation and other phonological features.

For Teaching Tips on Pronunciation, see p19.

Reviewing and Recycling

We believe that regular reviewing and recycling of language are essential and language is recycled in every lesson. Opportunities for review are also provided in the Quick Review sections at the beginning of every lesson, the comprehensive Review sections at the end of each unit, and the 12 photocopiable Progress Tests in this Teacher's Book.

For Teaching Tips on Reviewing and Recycling, see p20.

The Student's Book

Lessons A and B in each unit introduce and practise new vocabulary and grammar in realistic contexts.

Menu boxes list the language taught and reviewed in each lesson.

Help with Grammar sections encourage students to work out the rules of form and use for themselves before checking their answers in the interactive Language Summary for the unit.

[illegible]

Students can learn and check the meaning of new vocabulary in the interactive Language Summary for the unit in the back of the Student's Book.

There are practice activities immediately after the presentation of vocabulary to help consolidate the new language.

Get ready ... Get it right! sections are structured communicative speaking tasks that focus on both accuracy and fluency. The Get ready ... stage provides the opportunity for students to plan the language and content of what they are going to say before Getting it right! when they do the communicative stage of the activity.

Lesson C Vocabulary and Skills lessons develop students' range of receptive skills by providing opportunities to work with different types of semi-authentic text, then exploring and developing areas of lexical grammar.

Help with Vocabulary sections encourage students to work out the rules of form and use of new vocabulary themselves before checking in the interactive Language Summary for the unit.

[illegible]

Help with Listening sections focus on the areas that make spoken English so difficult to understand and teach students how to listen more effectively.

Students are often encouraged to refer to the Recording Scripts in the back of the Student's Book to help develop their ability in both listening and pronunciation.

Lesson D Real World lessons focus on the functional/situational language students need for day-to-day life.

The Pair and Group Work section in the back of the Student's Book provides numerous communicative speaking practice activities.

The Review sections at the end of every D lesson provide revision of key language from the unit. These activities can be done in class or for homework and will help students prepare for the Progress Test for the unit.

Real World sections help students to analyse the functional and situational language for themselves before checking in the interactive Language Summary for the unit.

The Songs section on Student's Book p100-p101 contains fun activities based on popular songs appropriate for Intermediate students.

The integrated pronunciation syllabus includes drills for all new Real World language.

Based on the requirements of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (see p13), the Progress Portfolios allow students to monitor their own language development by checking what they can remember from the unit. Students are then directed to the CD-ROM for further practice of areas they are unsure about.

The Common European Framework (CEF)

What is the Common European Framework? (CEF)

Since the early 1970s, a series of Council of Europe initiatives has developed a description of the language knowledge and skills that people need to live, work and survive in any European country. *Waystage 1990*¹, *Threshold 1990*² and *Vantage*³ detail the knowledge and skills required at different levels of ability.

In 2001, the contents of these documents were further developed into sets of 'can do' statements or 'competences' and officially launched as the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages: Learning, teaching, assessment (CEF)⁴. A related document, The European Language Portfolio, encourages learners to assess their progress by matching their competence against the 'can do' statements.

The face2face series has been developed to include comprehensive coverage of the requirements of the CEF. The table above right shows how face2face relates to the CEF and the examinations which can be taken at each level through University of Cambridge ESOL Examinations (Cambridge ESOL), which is a member of ALTE (The Association of Language Testers in Europe).

face2face Student's Book	CEF level	Related examinations	Council of Europe document
Elementary	A1		Breakthrough
	A2	KET Key English Test	Waystage
Pre-intermediate	B1	PET Preliminary English Test	Threshold
Intermediate	B2		Vantage
Upper Intermediate		FCE First Certificate in English

In the spirit of The European Language Portfolio developed from the CEF, face2face provides a Progress Portfolio at the end of every Student's Book unit. Students are encouraged to assess their ability to use the language they have learned so far and to review any aspects by using the CD-ROM/Audio CD. In the Workbook there is a 24-page Reading and Writing Portfolio section linked to the CEF and a comprehensive list of 'can do' statements in the Reading and Writing Progress Portfolio, which allows students to track their own progress.

face2face Intermediate and CEF levels B1 and B2

The table on the right describes the general degree of skill required at B1 of the CEF. Details of the language knowledge required for B1 are listed in Threshold 1990. The 'can do' statements for B1 are listed in the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages: Learning, teaching, assessment.

face2face Intermediate completes level B1, which students started in face2face Pre-intermediate. The Listening, Reading, Speaking and Writing tables on p14–p17 show where the required competences for level B1 are covered in face2face Intermediate.

face2face Intermediate also takes students into level B2, which students will complete in face2face Upper-intermediate. The 'can do' statements from B2 that are covered in face2face Intermediate are indicated on p14–p17 by an asterisk (*).

For more information about how face2face Intermediate covers the grammatical, lexical and other areas specified by Threshold 1990 and Vantage 1990 can be found on our website www.cambridge.org/elt/face2face.

UNDERSTANDING	Listening	I can understand the main points of clear standard speech on familiar matters regularly encountered in work, school, leisure, etc. I can understand the main point of many radio or TV programmes on current affairs or topics of personal or professional interest when the delivery is relatively slow and clear.
	Reading	I can understand texts that consist mainly of high frequency everyday or job-related language. I can understand the description of events, feelings and wishes in personal letters.
SPEAKING	Spoken Interaction	I can deal with most situations likely to arise whilst travelling in an area where the language is spoken. I can enter unprepared into conversation on topics that are familiar, of personal interest or pertinent to everyday life (e.g. family, hobbies, work, travel and current events).
	Spoken Production	I can connect phrases in a simple way in order to describe experiences and events, my dreams, hopes and ambitions. I can briefly give reasons and explanations for opinions and plans. I can narrate a story or relate the plot of a book or film and describe my reactions.
WRITING	Writing	I can write simple connected texts on topics which are familiar or of personal interest. I can write personal letters describing experiences and impressions.

Teaching Tips

Listening

- Make full use of the Help with Listening sections in the Student's Book, which are designed to help students understand natural spoken English and develop their ability to anticipate and understand what is being said.
- Before asking students to listen to a recording, establish the context, the characters and what information you want them to listen for.
- Give students time to read the comprehension questions in the Student's Book. Deal with any problems or new language in these questions before playing a recording.
- Be sensitive to the difficulties that students might be having and play a recording several times if necessary.
- If you use a cassette recorder in class, don't forget to set the counter to zero each time.
- When you play a recording for a second or third time, you can ask students to read the Recording Scripts at the back of the Student's Book while they listen. This helps them to 'tune in' to spoken English and connect what they hear with what they read.
- When students need to listen and write their answers, you can stop the recording after each answer in second and subsequent listenings to give them time to write.
- Use the activities for the Songs on Student's Book p100–p101 at the points suggested in the course.
- Encourage students to listen again to the classroom recordings on their CD-ROM/Audio CD on their computer at home. Note that students can only listen to these classroom recordings on a computer, not on a CD player.

Speaking

Pair and Group Work

- Make full use of all the communicative speaking activities in the Student's Book, particularly the Get ready ... Get it right! sections.
- Help students with the language they need to do speaking tasks by drawing their attention to the 'transactional language' in the speech bubbles. If necessary, drill this language with the class before they do the speaking activity in their pairs or groups.
- Try to ensure that students work with a number of different partners during a class. If it is difficult for students to swap places in class, you can ask them to work with students in front or behind them as well as on either side of them.
- It is often useful to provide a model of the tasks you expect students to do. For example, before asking students to talk about their family in pairs, you can talk about your family with the whole class to give students a model of what they are expected to do.
- Remember that students often find speaking activities much easier if they are personalised, as they don't need to think of ideas as well as language.

- Go around the class and monitor students while they are speaking in their pairs or groups. At this stage you can provide extra language or ideas and correct any language or pronunciation which is impeding communication.
- Avoid becoming too involved in speaking activities yourself unless you see students have misunderstood your instructions or you are asked for help. As soon as you join a group, students often stop talking to each other and talk to you instead.
- When giving feedback on speaking, remember to praise good communication as well as good English, and focus on the result of the task as well as the language used.

Correction

- When you hear a mistake, it is often useful to correct it immediately and ask the student to say the word or phrase again in the correct form. This is particularly effective if the mistake relates to the language you have been working on in the lesson.
- Alternatively, when you point out a mistake to a student you can encourage him/her to correct it himself/herself before giving him/her the correct version.
- Another approach to correction during a freer speaking activity is to note down any mistakes you hear, but not correct them immediately. At the end of the activity write the mistakes on the board. Students can then work in pairs and correct the mistakes. Alternatively, you can discuss the mistakes with the whole class.

Vocabulary

- Give students time to work through the exercises in the Help with Vocabulary sections on their own or in pairs rather than doing this with the whole class. This gives students the opportunity to try to work out the rules themselves before checking in the Language Summaries. You can then check students have understood the main points with the whole class.
- Point out the stress marks (") on all new words and phrases in the vocabulary boxes in the lessons and the Language Summaries. These show the main stress only on words and phrases.
- When you write a new vocabulary item on the board, make sure students know the stress and part of speech. Students then copy new vocabulary into their notebooks.
- Make sure students are aware of collocations in English (for example make an appointment, do the housework, go to exhibitions, work shifts) by pointing them out when they occur and encouraging students to record them as one phrase in their notebooks.
- Encourage students to notice patterns in new vocabulary, for example lose/keep/bel/get in touch with someone.
- Review and recycle vocabulary at every opportunity in class, using the Reviews, the Language Summaries, the Classroom Activities and Games and the Class Activities.

- Use the photocopiable Vocabulary Plus worksheets to introduce and practise extra vocabulary which is not included in the Student's Book. They can be used for self-study in class or as homework, or as the basis of a classroom lesson. There is one Vocabulary Plus worksheet for each unit in the Student's Book.
- Use the photocopiable Study Skills worksheets to help students understand other aspects of vocabulary, such as collocations.

Grammar

- Give students time to work through the exercises in the Help with Grammar sections on their own or in pairs. This gives students the opportunity to try to work out the grammar rules themselves before checking their answers in the Language Summaries. You can then check students have understood the main points with the whole class, as shown in the Teaching Notes for each lesson.
- Teach your students useful grammatical terms (for example past participle, etc.) when the opportunity arises. This helps students become more independent and allows them to use grammar reference books more effectively.
- Use different colour pens for different parts of speech when writing sentences on the board (for example Present Perfect Continuous questions). This helps students see patterns in grammar structures.
- If you know the students' first language, highlight grammatical differences between their language and English. This raises their awareness of potential problems if they try to translate. It is also useful to highlight grammatical similarities to show students when a structure in English is the same as in their own language.
- After teaching a grammatical item, use reading and listening texts as reinforcement by asking students to find examples of that grammatical item in the text. This helps students to see the language in a realistic context.

Pronunciation

- Make full use of the pronunciation drills on the Class Audio CDs/Class Audio Cassettes. These drills are marked with the pronunciation icon  in the Student's Book and give standard British native-speaker models of the language being taught.
- Point out the stress marks on all new vocabulary in the vocabulary boxes in the lessons and the Language Summaries. Note that only the main stress in each new word or phrase is shown. For example in the phrase go for a walk, the main stress on walk is shown, but the secondary stress on go is not. We feel this is the most effective way of encouraging students to stress words and phrases correctly.
- Also point out the example sentences in the Student's Book before using the pronunciation drills. Note that in the examples of sentences in Grammar or Real World drills, all stresses in the sentences are shown.

- When using the recordings of these drills, there are usually sufficient pauses for students to repeat chorally without stopping the recording. Alternatively, you can pause the recording and ask each student to repeat individually before continuing.
- For variety, model and drill the sentences yourself instead of using the recordings.
- Point out the stress, linking and weak forms marked in some of the Recording Scripts (Student's Book p142).
- Encourage students to listen to the audio component of the CD-ROM/Audio CD on their CD player. This contains Real World drills from each lesson D in the Student's Book.

Helping students with sounds

- Consider teaching your students the phonemic symbols (Student's Book p159). This allows students to look up the pronunciation of the words and record difficult pronunciation themselves in their notebooks. It is often easier to take a 'little and often' approach to teaching these symbols, rather than trying to teach them all in one lesson.
- Encourage students to use the phonemes section of the CD-ROM/Audio CD at home. This will help them to learn the symbols and allow them to practise the sounds.
- Highlight the phonemic transcriptions in the Language Summaries. Note that transcriptions are given only for vocabulary that is particularly problematic.
- Write the phonemic transcription for difficult words on the board and ask students to work out the pronunciation.
- For sounds students often have problems with (for example /θ/) you can demonstrate the shape of the mouth and the position of the tongue in front of the class (or draw this on the board). Often students can't say these sounds simply because they don't know the mouth position required.
- Draw students' attention to the English sounds which are the same in their own language(s) as well as highlighting the ones that are different.

Helping students with stress and intonation

- Drill all new words, phrases and sentences, and pay particular attention to words that sound different from how they are spelt.
- When you write words or sentences on the board, mark the stress in the correct place or ask the students to tell you which syllables or words are stressed.
- When you model sentences yourself it may be helpful to over-emphasise the stress pattern to help students hear the stress. You can also 'beat' the stress with your hand or fist.
- Emphasise that intonation is an important part of meaning in English and often shows how we feel. For example a falling intonation on the word please can sound very impolite to a native English speaker.
- Show the intonation pattern of model sentences by drawing arrows on the board or making hand gestures.
- Hum the sentences you are focusing on. It is sometimes easier for students to hear the stress or intonation pattern when there are no words.

Drilling

- Make sure students know the meaning of new language before drilling this with the class.
- When you model a phrase or sentence, make sure that you speak at normal speed with natural stress and contractions. Repeat the target language two or three times before asking the whole class to repeat after you in a 'choral drill'.
- After choral drilling it is usually helpful to do some individual drilling. Start with the strongest students and drill around the class in random order.
- As the aim of drilling is accuracy, you should correct students when they make a mistake. However, avoid making the students feel uncomfortable and don't spend too long with one student.
- Praise students for good/comprehensible pronunciation and acknowledge weak students' improvement, even if their pronunciation is not perfect.
- Use 'numble' drills. Ask students to say the phrase or sentence to themselves initially, then increase the volume each time until they are speaking at a normal volume. Shy students often appreciate the chance to say things quietly until they feel more confident.

Reviewing and Recycling

- Use the Quick Reviews at the beginning of each lesson. They are easy to set up and should take no more than five to ten minutes. They are a good way of getting the class to speak immediately as well as reviewing what students learned in previous lessons.
- Exploit the Review sections at the end of each unit. They can be done in class when students have finished the unit, or set for homework (see the Extra practice and homework boxes in the Teaching Notes). Alternatively, individual exercises can be used as quick fillers at the beginning or end of a lesson, as the Review exercises are organised in lesson order.
- After a mid-lesson break, ask students to write down in one minute all the words they can remember from the first part of the lesson. These quick What have we just learned? activities are very important for helping students transfer information from their short-term memory to their long-term memory.
- Start a class vocabulary box. You or the students write each new vocabulary item on a separate card and put the cards in the box. The cards can be used for various revision activities, for example Know, Might Know, Don't Know (see p21).
- Encourage students to use the face2face CD-ROM/Audio CD to review each lesson at home. Also encourage students to review new language by reading the Language Summary for the lesson.
- Set homework after every class. The face2face Intermediate Workbook has a section for each lesson in the Student's Book, which reviews all the key language taught in that lesson.

Teaching Intermediate Classes

Although most students at Intermediate level have reached a reasonable level of communicative competence, they often tend to be rather inaccurate, particularly in spontaneous conversation. Another problem with Intermediate classes is that students often don't feel that they are making progress quickly enough. This 'intermediate plateau' can sometimes be rather demotivating for students. If this is the case for your class, try some of the following suggestions:

- Give students time to prepare what they are going to say, as in the Get Ready ... Get it Right! sections of the Student's Book. This allows students to work out what language they are going to use before they do the communicative stage of the activity, which will help them retain the accuracy that has been built up during the lesson.
- Use every opportunity for correction during the class and praise students who use new language correctly.
- Focus particularly on 'fossilised errors' which have become part of the students' lexis or grammar (for example, leaving off the -s with he/she/it forms of the Present Simple).
- Encourage students to make a list of their own typical mistakes, or collect typical mistakes for the class yourself. You can collect together the 'top ten' mistakes of the class and make a poster of these for the classroom.
- Record or video your students during communicative activities, then use the recordings for error correction later in the class or in the next class.
- Encourage students to broaden their vocabulary whenever possible, for example by using brilliant or amazing instead of very good. Students at this level often like to stay in their linguistic 'comfort zone' and often need to be persuaded to use more advanced language.
- Increase the amount of speaking practice by using the Class Activities (p118) whenever possible.
- Use the Review section in the Student's Book and the Progress Tests in the Teacher's Book (p195). Keep a record of students' scores on the Progress Tests for end-of-term reports.
- Use the Vocabulary Plus worksheets (p173) to give classes extra input of new lexical items.
- Ask students to tick the things they can do in the Progress Portfolios at the end of each unit to help give them a sense of progress.
- Plan which students are going to work together in pair and group work. Mix stronger students with weaker ones when they can give help, for example in a vocabulary matching activity. On other occasions, for example in freer speaking activities, it is often a good idea to place stronger students in the same group. Weaker students may feel more confident speaking with other students at their own level.
- Have ideas for extra activities to give early finishers something to do while the slower ones are still working, for example an exercise from a Review section or the Workbook, or a Vocabulary Plus worksheet.
- Set weaker students extra homework from the Workbook or the CD-ROM/Audio CD to help them catch up with areas of language that the rest of the class is confident with.

Classroom Activities and Games

These Classroom Activities and Games can be used to practise a variety of different language areas in class. The Teaching Notes suggest when they can be used alongside the lessons in the Student's Book.

Hot Seats

This whole-class activity reviews vocabulary taught during the course through a lively, enjoyable team game.

- Place two chairs or 'hot seats' at the front of the class facing the students, one on each side of the room.
- Divide the class into two teams. Ask one confident student from each team to come and sit in the hot seats.
- Write a word/phrase that you want to review on the board. Alternatively, prepare cards before the class with the words/phrases written on them and hold one card up behind the two students. The students in the hot seats are not allowed to turn round and see the word/phrase.
- Each team tries to convey the meaning of the word/phrase in any way they can (definition, mime, synonym, etc.) without saying or spelling the word/phrase.
- The first student in the hot seats who says the correct word/phrase gets a point for his/her team. Note down each team's points on the board.
- After the students in the hot seats have tried to guess a few words/phrases, ask them to change places with two other students, one from each team. Continue the activity with several different students in the hot seats.
- The team with the most points in the time available wins.

Know, Might Know, Don't Know

This activity helps you to find out what vocabulary students already know. It is a good activity for mixed level classes, as stronger students can teach weaker students vocabulary that they don't know.

- Before the lesson, write a worksheet containing 15–20 words or phrases you want to teach or review.
- Photocopy one worksheet for each student.
- In class, give each student a copy of the worksheet. Tell students to divide the words into three groups: Know (I know this word/phrase and can give an example or definition), Might Know (I think I know this word/phrase but I'm not sure) and Don't Know (I don't know this word/phrase).
- Students work in pairs or groups and compare their answers. If one student knows a word, he/she should teach it to his/her partner or the other members of the group. Alternatively, students can move around the room and talk to various students.
- When they have finished, students say which word/phrases they still don't know. Encourage other groups to give definitions to help them, or give the meanings and examples yourself.
- Allow time for students to record any new vocabulary in their notebooks.

Dialogue Build

This activity focuses on grammatical accuracy as well as giving students confidence in speaking.

- Before the lesson, prepare a 6–8 line conversation based on language the students should know. Find a magazine picture of each person in the conversation (or draw two people on the board).
- In class, set the context, for example on the telephone. Put the two speakers' pictures on either side of the board.
-  Draw a speech bubble from the person who speaks first and insert a prompt, for example What/matter? Elicit the target sentence, for example What's the matter? Model and drill the target language with the whole class and then individually. Don't write the sentence on the board at this stage.
- Draw a reply speech bubble from the other person and insert a prompt, for example just/have/accident. Elicit the target sentence, for example I've just had an accident, and continue as above, establishing one line each time until the conversation is complete.
- Students practise the conversation in pairs. They then change roles and practise the conversation again.
-  Re-elicite the whole conversation, writing each line on the board by the appropriate prompt. Give students time to copy the conversation into their notebooks.

Running Dictation

This activity involves all four skills (reading, writing, speaking and listening) and is a good way to inject some energy into a class.

- Before the lesson, choose a short text. This text can be used to introduce a topic in a lesson, provide a context for new language, revise a language area already covered or simply provide extra reading practice.
- Photocopy one copy of the text for each student.
- In class, divide students into pairs, one reporter and one secretary. Secretaries sit near the back of the class with pen and paper.
- Put one copy of the text on the board. With larger classes, you can put other copies on the wall at the front of the class.
- When you say Go, the reporters go to the board, remember as much as they can of the text, then run back to their partners, who must write down the exact words they hear. When a reporter has told his/her secretary all he/she can remember, he/she goes back to the board and repeats the process.
- In the middle of the activity, clap your hands and tell students to change roles.
- The first pair to complete the text wins. Continue the activity until most or all of the students have finished.
- Give a copy of the text to each student. Students then check their version of the text against the original.

Words Connected to Me

This activity practises vocabulary in a personalised way and provides a springboard to freer speaking practice.

- Ask students to draw a two-column table on a piece of paper with the headings Words connected to me and Words not connected to me.
- Dictate a set of words/phrases that you have taught in a recent lesson. If a word/phrase (for example have insomnia) is connected to them in some way, they write the phrase in the Words connected to me column. If not, they write the phrase in the other column.
- Point out that the word/phrase can be connected to them in any way they like, for example it could relate to the students' lives now or in the past, people in their family, something they want to do in the future, etc.
- Students compare their lists in groups and discuss why they have written all the words/phrases in the Words connected to me column.

Grammar Auction

This is a fun grammar revision activity which involves the whole class.

- Before the class, prepare a worksheet with 10–12 sentences on it, based on the grammar areas you have covered with your class. Some of the sentences should be correct English and some should contain mistakes.
- Photocopy one worksheet for each student.
- In the lesson, divide the class into teams of four or five. Give one worksheet to each student. Students discuss in their groups which sentences are correct and which are incorrect. Students should speak quietly so that other teams can't hear them.
- Check that they know what an auction is and how to buy something. Tell the class each group has £20,000 to spend. Act as the auctioneer and sell the sentences one at a time.
- Students try to buy the correct sentences. They can also use tactics to persuade other teams to buy the incorrect ones, for example bidding for incorrect sentences to put doubt into the minds of the other students.
- When a group buys a sentence, they mark that sentence on their worksheet. Students must stop bidding when they have no more money.
- When all the sentences have been sold, check which are correct with the class. The team with the most correct sentences wins. In the case of a tie, the team with the most money left wins.
- At the end of the auction, students work in their groups and correct the incorrect sentences. Check answers with the class.

Pyramid Discussion

This activity encourages students to exchange ideas and opinions in a fun, student-centred way.

- Set a context (for example tell students they are going on a two-week jungle survival trip and that they need to decide what to take with them).
- Give each student a list of 10–15 items or write them on the board.
- Students work on their own and choose the five most useful items to take with them. Students should also think of a reason for choosing each one.
- Each student then shows their list of five items to a partner. Together they must agree on only five items from both their lists.
- Students work in groups of four and repeat the previous stage so that they end up with a new list of only five items. If you have a big class, you can then put students into groups of eight, and so on.
- Finally, bring the whole class together for students to share their ideas and try to agree on the best five items.

Consequences

This activity gives students freer practice of collaborative writing. It allows them to be creative while practising language taught in the lesson (for example narrative verb forms or connecting words).

- Give each student a clean piece of paper to write on (or ask each of them to take one page from their notebooks).
- Give students a series of instructions about what to write (for example a woman's name, a man's name, where and how they met, what they were doing when they met, what they said to each other, what they did next, when they saw each other again, what happened in the end). Check that students are writing full sentences.
- After each student has written their answer to each instruction, they fold their paper just enough to hide what they have written and pass it on to the student on their left.
- When students have finished the story, they fold the paper one more time and pass it to the person on their left. This student opens it and reads it. Ask students to read out any funny or interesting examples to the class.
- Display the stories around the class for everyone to read. Students decide which one is the best and why.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

- Quick Reviews begin each lesson in a fun, student-centred way. They are short activities which review previously taught language and are designed to last about five or ten minutes. For more information on Reviewing and Recycling, see p20.

This activity gives students the opportunity to meet each other. Students move around the room and talk to five other students, or to five students sitting near them. At the end of the activity, ask students to tell the class two things they found out about two people.

Vocabulary Weekend activities

- 1 a) Ask students to tell the class one or two things they did last weekend that they enjoyed. Then ask students to do the matching exercise on their own or in pairs.

Students check their answers in Language Summary 1

V1.1 SB (Student's Book) p114. Note that in face2face Intermediate only the meanings of new words/phrases are shown in the Language Summaries. These words/phrases are highlighted by an asterisk () and the meanings are given in a dictionary box. Also point out that only the main stress () in phrases is shown in vocabulary boxes and Language Summaries.

Check answers with the class. Highlight the difference between do some exercise (running, etc.) and do an exercise. Point out that we also use chat to mean 'talk to someone in a friendly and informal way': He's chatting with friends. Model and drill the phrases. Highlight the pronunciation of tidy /'tʃɔɪ/ and exhibition /ˌeksɪ'bɪʃən/. Point out the stress on lie-in.

go clubbing; have a lie-in; meet up with friends; do some gardening; have a quiet night in; tidy up the house/the flat; do some exercise; go to exhibitions; chat to people online; have people round for dinner; go for a walk/a run

- b) Students do the exercise on their own by referring back to the phrases in 1a). Students should also think of other things they do at the weekend and how often they do them.
- c) Use the speech bubbles to remind students of the phrase Yes, so do I to agree with a positive statement. Also remind them of the phrases No, neither do I and No, nor do I to agree with a negative statement.
- Students do the activity in pairs. Encourage them to ask follow-up questions if possible.
- Ask students to tell the class two things their partner does at the weekend.

Grammar question forms

Help with Listening questions with you

Reading

- 2 a) Focus students on the article. Pre-teach research. Avoid discussing what makes students happy at this stage, as they are asked to do this in 10 and 11.
- Students read the beginning of the article and find out how scientists made their list. Check the answer with the class.

Scientists reviewed hundreds of research studies from around the world.

- b) Focus students on the ten reasons for happiness. Pre-teach genes /dʒiːnz/ and religion /rɪ'lɪdʒən/. Drill these words with the class.
- Students do the exercise on their own.
- c) Students compare lists in pairs and explain their order.

EXTRA IDEA

- Ask the class to vote for what they think is the most important reason for happiness and write it on the board. Continue to ask for votes until you have a class list of ten reasons in order on the board. Students can then compare the class list to the list in the article after they have done 3.

- 3 Ask students to turn to SB p113.
- a) Students read the rest of the article and compare the list with their own from 2b).
- Find out which student's list is the closest to the article.
- b) Students discuss the questions in groups. Ask students to share interesting ideas and opinions with the class.

Listening and Grammar

- 4 a) Focus students on the photos of Sarah, Greg and Jenny on SB p5. Ask the class what they think makes each person happy and write their ideas on the board.
- b) R1.1 Play the recording (SB p142). Students listen and write two things that make each person happy. Check answers with the class and compare them with the students' ideas on the board from 4a).

SARAH watching her children when they're sleeping; going to museums and art galleries
GREG travelling and visiting new places; gardening
JENNY having a lie-in; dancing/going clubbing

c) Give students time to read questions 1–9, then play the recording again. Students listen and answer the questions, then check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

- 2 They're watching TV. 3 She went to an exhibition.
4 About 20. 5 South America. 6 Every weekend
(when he's in the UK). 7 Yes, she does. 8 Toast and coffee. 9 Doing some exercise.

EXTRA IDEA

- If students find the recording difficult, ask them to look at R1.1, SB p142. Play the recording again. Students listen, read and check their answers.

Help with Grammar Question 4

- Help with Grammar boxes help students to examine examples of language and discover the rules of meaning, form and use for themselves. Students should usually do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in the Language Summaries. You can then check the main points with the class as necessary. For more information on the face2face approach to Grammar, see p5.

5 a)–f) Focus students on the questions in 4c). Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in 6.1.1 SB p115.

While students are working, draw the table from 5b) on the board so that you are ready to check their answers. Check answers with the class.

- a) Present Perfect Simple question 4; Past Simple question 3; Present Continuous question 2
- b) Focus students on the table on the board. Elicit which words in questions 2–4 from 4c) go in each column and complete the table (see the table in 6.1.1 SB p115).
- Highlight the typical word order in questions: question word + auxiliary + subject + verb + ...
- c) We use the auxiliaries do and does to make questions in the Present Simple; have and has in the Present Perfect Simple; did in the Past Simple; am, is and are in the Present Continuous.
- Students will study all of these verb forms again in face2face Intermediate, so don't go into detail here.
- d) 1 In question 8 in 4c), the question word What is the object (she is the subject). In question 9, What is the subject. 2 Because we don't use auxiliaries do or does with Present Simple subject questions.
- Use question 9 to point out that the word order in subject questions is the same as positive sentences.
- Also point out that we don't use the auxiliary did in Past Simple subject questions: Who lived here?
- e) Questions 1 and 4 have prepositions at the end.
- Point out that we don't usually put prepositions at the beginning of questions: What are you talking about? not About what are you talking? Remind students that questions with prepositions at the end are very common.

6 Focus students on the example and tell students they have to fill in the gaps with the correct auxiliary, or no auxiliary (for subject questions). Use the example to teach Whereabouts (in which part of a town/city/country).

Students do the exercise on their own, then check in pairs. Check answers with the class. Point out that questions 4, 6 and 9 are subject questions and don't have an auxiliary.

2 have 3 do 4 – 5 are 6 – 7 Did 8 have 9 – 10 did

Help with Listening

- Help with Listening boxes are designed to help students understand natural spoken English. They often focus on phonological aspects of spoken English which make listening problematic for students. For more information on the face2face approach to Listening, see p5. This Help with listening section focuses on how we say auxiliaries and you in questions.

7 a) Students work in pairs and discuss how we usually say do you, have you, are you and did you in the questions in 6. Encourage students to say questions to each other at normal speed and notice how they say the auxiliary + you.

b) 6.1.2 Play the recording (SB p142). Students listen and notice how we say do you /dʒə/, have you /həv jə/, are you /ə jə/ and did you /dɪd jə/.

Use the questions to teach students the schwa /ə/. Point out that this is the most common sound in spoken English. Note that students study the schwa and weak forms in more detail in lessons 2C and 7C.

8 a) 6.1.2 P Play the recording again and ask students to repeat. Check their pronunciation of the auxiliary + you.

b) Students do the exercise in pairs.

c) Ask students to tell the class three things they found out about their partner.

9 Put students into pairs, student A and student B. Student A's turn to SB p102 and student B's turn to SB p107.

a) Focus students on the example and highlight the prepositions at the end of the question. Students then work on their own and make questions with the words. While they are working, monitor and check their questions for accuracy.

Student A 2 Who do you usually go on holiday with?
3 What do you like spending your money on? 4 Which radio station do you normally listen to? 5 What do you and your friends argue about?

Student B 2 What do you and your friends like talking about? 3 Which countries do you want to go to?
4 Who do you usually go to the cinema with? 5 Which town or city does your best friend come from?

b) Students work with their partner and take turns to ask and answer their questions. Encourage students to pronounce the auxiliary + you correctly and to ask follow-up questions.

Get ready ... Get it right!

- There is a Get ready ... Get it right! activity at the end of every A and B lesson. The Get ready ... stage helps students to collect their ideas and prepare the language they need to complete the task. The Get it right! stage gives students the opportunity to use the language they have learned in the lesson in a communicative (and often personalised) context. These two-stage activities help students to become more fluent without losing the accuracy they have built up during the controlled practice stages of the lesson. For more on the face2face approach to Speaking, see p5.

- 10 a) Focus students on the examples. Students do the exercise on their own.

- b) Put students into pairs and ask them to swap lists. Focus students on the example questions. Students write one question about each thing on their partner's list.

- 11 a) Students work in pairs and take turns to ask and answer their questions. Encourage students to ask follow-up questions about topics they are interested in.
- b) Finally, ask students to tell the class some of the things that make their partner happy.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews question forms. Put students into pairs, but don't let them talk to each other yet. Students write five questions to ask their partner. They then work in pairs and take turns to ask and answer their questions. Encourage students to continue the conversations if possible. Ask students to share interesting answers with the class.

Vocabulary Likes and dislikes

- 1 Focus students on meanings a)–c). Students do the exercise on their own or in pairs before checking in V1.2 SB p114. Check answers with the class (see V1.2 SB p114).

Check students understand that I can't stand ... and I can't bear ... mean the same as I really hate, and that I don't mind ... means 'it's not a problem for me'.

Highlight the prepositions in the phrases interested in and keen on, and check students understand that great, brilliant and wonderful all mean 'very good'.

You can point out that the phrases ... really get(s) on my nerves and ... drive(s) me crazy are informal.

Also highlight that we can use pronouns, nouns or verb+ing with the phrases for likes and dislikes: I enjoy it. I can't stand football. Waiting in queues drives me crazy.

Model and drill the phrases, using it to complete each phrase (I really love it, I really hate it, etc.). Highlight the pronunciation of nerves /nɜːvz/ and bear /beə/. Point out that only the main stress (•) in phrases is shown in vocabulary boxes and Language Summaries.

- 2 a) Check students understand the six phrases and highlight the verb+ing form at the beginning of each phrase. Students do the exercise on their own.

Vocabulary likes and dislikes

Grammar positive and negative verb forms, words and phrases

Help with Listening sentence stress (1)

Review question forms

- b) Students compare sentences in pairs, giving reasons why they feel like this. Ask each pair to tell the class one or two things they felt the same about.
- Students list other things they like and don't like in 11, so avoid personalising the activity further at this stage.

Reading and Grammar

- 3 Students discuss the questions in groups.
-  Elicit good things and bad things about mobile phones and write them on the board in two lists.
- 4 a) Focus students on the article and the photos of Amy and Jeremy. Ask students who they think likes mobile phones (Amy) and who hates them (Jeremy).

R1.3 Play the recording. Students listen and read the article. Ask students to say which things on their lists, or the list on the board, that Amy and Jeremy talked about.

- b) Students read the article again and answer the questions. They check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

1F 2F 3T 4F 5F

- c) Ask the class who they agree with, Amy or Jeremy. Encourage students to give reasons for their answers.

EXTRA IDEA

- Teach vocabulary related to mobile phones: text someone; send/get a text; a ring tone, etc.

Help with Grammar Positive and negative verbs and phrases

- 5 a)–e) Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in 61.2 SB p115.

- a) Present Simple 5 I don't have 7 we meet up Present Continuous 4 I'm trying 6 I'm not feeling Present Perfect Simple 2 I haven't taken 3 that's happened Past Simple 1 I didn't get 8 we went out
- Use the examples to point out that we make: Present Simple negatives with don't/doesn't + infinitive; Present Continuous negatives with 'm not/aren't/isn't + verb-ing; Present Perfect Simple negatives with haven't/hasn't + past participle; Past Simple negatives with didn't + infinitive.
- Note that these verb forms are dealt with in more detail in later units of face2face Intermediate.
- b) We usually make I think ... negative, not the main verb: I don't think I could live without one, not I think I couldn't live without one.
- c) We can use no to make negatives with there is/there are: There's no signal. = There isn't a signal. There are no taxis. = There aren't any taxis.
- Remind students that we can also use no to make negatives with have got/has got: I've got no money. = I haven't got any money.
- d) always – never; usually – hardly ever; everyone – no one; all – none; both – neither
- Point out that we can say don't always/usually/often, but not don't sometimes/hardly ever/never.
- Remind students that we can say no one or nobody. Nothing and nowhere also have a negative meaning.
- Also point out that we don't usually use double negatives. We say I didn't talk to anyone, not I didn't talk to no one.
- Highlight that we use plural verb forms with both (both of my brothers have got mobiles) and singular verb forms with neither (neither of them ever switches their phone off).

- 6 Focus students on the example before asking them to do the exercise on their own. Point out that there can sometimes be more than one possible answer. Students check answers in pairs.

- 7 R1.4 P Play the recording (SB p142). Students listen and check. Ask students if they have any alternative answers they would like to check.

Play the recording again and ask students to repeat.

- 2 No one in my family has a mobile. 3 Miranda hasn't sent me a text. 3 I don't think I'll buy a new phone.
4 There's no message for you./There isn't a message for you. 5 None of my friends have got mobiles. 6 Neither of my sisters likes texting.

- 8 a) Students do the exercise on their own. Tell students they can write true and false sentences about anything, not just mobile phones. Encourage them to use the verb forms and other words/phrases from 5 in their sentences.
b) Put students into pairs. Students take turns to tell each other their sentences and guess which are false.

Listening

- 9 a) Pre-teach customer service phone lines (you call these when you have a problem with a product or a service). Use the photos on SB p6 to remind students who Amy and Jeremy are.

R1.5 Play the recording (SB p142). Students listen and decide who is talking about topics 1–4 and whether they love them or hate them. Check answers with the class.

- 1 cooking (Jeremy loves it) 2 football on TV (Amy hates it) 3 flying (Amy loves it) 4 customer service phone lines (Jeremy hates them)

- b) Play the recording again. Students listen and find two reasons why Amy and Jeremy love or hate each topic. Check answers with the class.

Jeremy loves cooking because it helps him to stop thinking about work; he loves going to the local fruit and vegetable market; it's very satisfying to see friends enjoying the food he has prepared. Amy hates football on TV because it's on almost every evening; her husband watches it all the time; he always thinks it's more important than what she wants to watch; it's boring. Amy loves flying because it's much safer than driving; she loves sitting back and watching the clouds go by; she can stay up and watch films all night; the food. Jeremy hates customer service phone lines because you have to listen to terrible music while you're waiting; you have to wait a long time; when you finally speak to someone it's usually the wrong department.

Help with Listening Stress (1)

- This Help with Listening section introduces students to sentence stress and highlights that we stress the important words in spoken English.

- 10 a) R1.5 Focus students on the examples before playing the beginning of the recording again. Students listen and notice the stressed words.

- b) Students turn to R1.5, SB p142. Play the first half of the recording again. Students listen and notice the sentence stress. Note that students are asked to work out what parts of speech are usually stressed in lesson 1C.

Get ready ... Get it right!

- 11 Focus students on the phrases for likes and dislikes in 1. Remind them that we can use these phrases with verb-ing forms or nouns. Students do the exercise on their own.

- 12 a) Students move around the room saying their sentences, or say their sentences to people sitting near them. They must find one student in the class who agrees with each of their sentences. Encourage students to ask follow-up questions where possible, as shown in the speech bubbles. While students are working, monitor and help with any problems.

b) Finally, ask students to tell the class two things they have in common with other students.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews phrases for likes and dislikes. Students do the first part of the activity on their own. Put students into pairs. Students take turns to tell each other about the people on their list. Ask students to share interesting ideas with the class.

Listening

- 1 a) Focus students on the phrases in the box. Teach the new phrases have a massage and meditate. Point out the difference in pronunciation between massage /'mæsɑ:ʒ/ and message /'mesɪdʒ/ and check students can pronounce yoga /'jəʊgə/ correctly. Drill the new phrases with the class. Students do the exercise on their own.

b) Students compare answers in pairs. Ask students to share anything they have in common with their partners with the class.

- 2 a) Remind students of Jeremy from lesson 18. If necessary, ask them to look at his picture on SB p6. Tell students that he and his wife, Anne, have invited two friends, Mike and Sally, round for dinner. Ask students who they think did the cooking (Jeremy, because he loves cooking).

Ph Play the recording (SB p142). Students listen and write down what each person does to relax. Students check answers in pairs. Ph Check answers with the class and write them on the board.

Mike does yoga. Anne goes to a health club. Sally paints watercolours. Jeremy sits in front of the TV.

b) Play the recording again. Students listen and write down how often the four people do the things that help them relax. Check answers with the class.

MIKE Every morning when he gets up.

ANNE Two or three times a month.

SALLY Every Sunday.

JEREMY Six nights a week.

stress (2)

- This Help with Listening section develops students' understanding of sentence stress by focusing on what types of words are usually stressed or unstressed.
- 3 a) Ph Focus students on the examples, then play the recording again. Students listen, read and notice the sentence stress.

b) Check students know the parts of speech in the box. Students do the exercise on their own or in pairs. Check answers with the class. Point out that we always stress names (Jeremy, etc.), and we don't usually stress the verb be, even when it is the main verb.

main verbs (was), had, know, (were), (is), enjoyed, want. Usually stressed (except be).
adjectives wonderful, good, glad. Usually stressed.
positive auxiliaries do. Usually unstressed.
negative auxiliaries haven't, didn't. Usually stressed.
nouns meal, months, cook, coffee. Usually stressed.
pronouns I, you, it. Usually unstressed.

EXTRA IDEA

- Ph If your students don't know the words for parts of speech in English, write this sentence on the board: My brother has bought a new car, but his wife doesn't like it. Ask students to match the underlined words to the parts of speech in 3b). Check answers with the class.

main verb like; adjective new; positive auxiliary has; negative auxiliary doesn't; noun brother; pronoun it

c) Students turn to R1.6, SB p142. Play the recording again. Students listen and notice the sentence stress. Students work on their own or in pairs and find two more examples of the stressed parts of speech in 3b) in the recording. Check answers with the class.

nouns milk, sugar, etc.

Vocabulary and Reading

4 a) Students work on their own or in pairs and tick the words they know, then check in V1.3 SB p114.

Check students understand the meaning of any new words. Point out that many of the adjectives end in -ed as they describe how people feel.

Model and drill the words. Highlight the -ed endings of relaxed /rɪ'læksɪd/, embarrassed /ɪm'bærəst/, confused /kən'fju:zɪd/ and concerned /kən'sɜ:nd/. Point out that the -ed ending of frustrated /frʌ'streɪtɪd/ is pronounced /ɪd/ because of the final /t/ sound. Also point out that pleased, stressed, scared and shocked are one-syllable words.

b) Students check answers in pairs. Check with the class.

nervous; embarrassed; annoyed; fed up; disappointed; stressed; upset; scared; confused; shocked; frustrated; concerned

5 a) Students do the exercise on their own. You can ask them to make notes at this stage.

b) Focus students on the example, then put students into pairs. Students take turns to tell each other about the adjectives. Ask students to share interesting ideas with the class.

6 a) Focus students on the photo on SB p9. Ask the class where they people are and what they think they're doing. Discuss interesting answers with the class, but don't tell them whether their ideas are correct or not yet.

b) Be prepared with definitions, examples, etc. to pre-teach the vocabulary in the box, or bring in a set of dictionaries for students to check the meaning themselves. Note that the aim of these boxes is to highlight which words you need to pre-teach to help students understand the text that follows. The vocabulary in these boxes is not in the Language Summaries.

Tell students that reduce is a verb and that fake can be an adjective, a verb or a noun.

c) Students do the exercise on their own. Early finishers can check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

1c) 2e) 3b) 4d) 5a)

d) Students do the exercise on their own. Use the example to highlight that they can write one or two words only in the gaps before they begin.

Students check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

2 more (often) 3 over 1,300 4 healthy/relaxed 5 good 6 enjoyed/liked

e) Ask the students if they would like to go to a Laughter Club. Encourage students to give reasons for their answers.

Help with Vocabulary Prepositions with adjectives

• Help with Vocabulary boxes help students to explore and understand how vocabulary works, often focusing on aspects of lexical grammar. Students should usually do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in the Language Summaries. Check the main points with the class as necessary. For more information on the face2face approach to Vocabulary, see p5.

7 a)–c) Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in V1.4 SB p114. Check answers with the class.

- a) happy with; interested in; nervous about; keen on; worried about; surprised by; upset about; fed up with; pleased with
- b) bored with (by); frightened of (by); annoyed at (with, by); bad at; satisfied with (by); embarrassed by (about); concerned about (by); angry about (at) something; angry with (at) someone
- Point out that the prepositions in bold are the most common. Other prepositions we can use with these adjectives are in brackets. You could suggest that students only use the most common prepositions.
- Also highlight that after a preposition we use a noun, a pronoun or verb+ing: I'm not very keen on the idea. They're bored with it. He's worried about being late.

EXTRA IDEA

- Students work in pairs and take turns to test each other on the adjective-preposition collocations. One student says an adjective, for example good, and his/her partner says the whole collocation, for example good at.

8 a) Students do the exercise on their own. Make sure students write the adjectives and the names of the people.

b) If possible, put students in pairs with someone they haven't worked with in this lesson. Students take turns to tell their partner about the people on their list. While they are working, monitor and correct any mistakes you hear.

- 9 a) Organise the class into groups of three or four. Focus the students on the prompts and tell the class that each group is going to create a Happiness Club.

Point out to students that they can include anything in their clubs that they like, but everything they choose must create a feeling of happiness.

Tell students that they must all make notes on their Happiness Club, as they will each have to describe it to other students.

While they are working, move around the room and help students with language and ideas. Allow students about ten minutes for this stage.

- b) Reorganise the class so that students from different groups are working together. Students take turns to describe their Happiness Club.

Finally, ask each group to tell the class which club they thought was the best, and why.

Real World Question tags

- 3 a)–d) Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in RW1.1 SB p115. Check answers with the class.

- a) We usually use questions with question tags (isn't he?, aren't you?, etc.) to check information that we think is correct.
- b) We usually use the auxiliary in question tags: You work with Dave, don't you?
- We only use pronouns in question tags: Kate went to Bristol University, didn't she?
- If the main part of the question is positive, the question tag is usually negative: Jack's vegetarian, isn't he?
- If the main part of the question is negative, the question tag is usually positive: You haven't been to China, have you?
- If the main part of the question is in the Present Simple or Past Simple, we use don't/doesn't or didn't in the question tag: Jim lives in the USA, doesn't he? You lived in Australia, didn't you?
- Also point out that we say aren't I?, not amn't I?: I'm late, aren't I? and that we use commas before question tags.
- c) 1 Yes, I do.; Yes, she did.; No, I haven't. 2 No, he isn't, actually. 3 When the information isn't correct, we often use actually after the short answer to sound more polite, then give more information: A Jack's vegetarian, isn't he? B No, he isn't, actually. He just doesn't eat red meat.
- Point out that we often use short answers (Yes, she did., etc.) to reply to questions with question tags.

- 4 a) A1.9 Play the recording. Students listen and decide if the intonation on the question tag goes up or down (it goes down).

Note that intonation on question tags can also go up when we are asking a question we don't know the answer to. However, 'down' intonation is the most common pattern and therefore the most useful for students to learn.

- b) P Play the recording again. Students listen and repeat. Check they are copying the intonation of the question tags correctly.

- 5 a) Students do the exercise on their own, then check answers in pairs.

- b) Students do the exercise on their own or in pairs. Don't check answers with the class at this stage.

- c) A1.10 Play the recording (SB p143). Students listen and check their answers. Check answers with the class.

1 didn't she? 2 doesn't she? (Conversation B)
3 aren't you? 4 has he? (Conversation A)
5 don't you? 6 haven't you? (Conversation D)
7 didn't he? 8 is he? (Conversation C)

- d) Play the recording again. Students listen and tick the information in 5a) that is correct. Check answers with the class.

The information in 1, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 is correct.
The information in 2 and 8 isn't correct.

- 6 a) Focus students on the examples, then ask students to do the exercise on their own.

While they are working, monitor and check their questions for accuracy. Encourage students to think of follow-up questions. If students aren't able to move around the room, they should only write questions about the students that are sitting near them.

EXTRA IDEA

 If students need help with ideas for questions, write these prompts on the board before they do 6a): live, work, family, free time, things he/she loves/hates, how he/she relaxes, countries visited, etc.

- b) Students move around the room and ask their questions with question tags. If this isn't possible, students ask questions to people sitting near them. Encourage students to respond with a short answer. If the information is correct, students then ask their follow-up questions.

- c) Students do the activity in pairs. Finally, ask students to tell the class one or two things that they have found out.

- The Review section reviews the key language taught in the unit. It includes communicative and personalised speaking stages as well as controlled grammar, vocabulary and writing practice.
- This section is designed to be used in class after students have finished lesson D, but individual exercises can be used as 'fillers' if you have a few minutes left at the end of a lesson. The Extra practice and homework boxes list which exercises are relevant to each lesson.
- The icons refer to the relevant sections in the Language Summary. Students can refer to these if they need help when doing the exercises.
- For more information on the face2face approach to Reviewing and Recycling, see p5.

Progress Portfolio

- Progress Portfolio boxes encourage students to reflect on what they have learned and help them decide which areas they need to study again.
 - Note that the I can ... statements reflect communicative competences as set out in the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEF) for levels B1 and B2. For more information on the CEF see p13.
- a) Students work through the list of I can ... statements on their own and tick the things they feel they can do. They can refer to Language Summary 1 if they wish. Students can also work in pairs or groups and compare which statements they have ticked.
- b) Students work on their own or in pairs/groups and decide which areas they need to study again. Encourage students to use the CD-ROM/Audio CD, lessons 1A-D to help them improve in these areas. For more information on the CD-ROM/Audio CD, see p10. There is also further practice on all key language taught in the Student's Book in the face2face Intermediate Workbook.

2A Slow down!

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews questions with question tags. Put students into pairs, but don't let them talk to each other yet. Ask students to write four things they think they know about their partner. Students then work with their partner and take turns to ask questions with question tags to check the information they wrote is correct. At the end of the activity, ask students to share interesting ideas with the class.

Vocabulary Work collocations

- 1 a) Students do the exercise on their own or in pairs, then check in V2.1 SB p116. Check answers with the class. Check students understand the new words in the dictionary box in the Language Summary. Model and drill the phrases. Check students can hear the difference between work /wɜːk/ and walk /wɔːk/, and also highlight the pronunciation of pressure /ˈpreʃə/. Note that only the main stress in phrases is shown in vocabulary boxes and the Language Summaries.

2 have time to relax 3 work long hours 4 work overtime 5 be a workaholic 6 meet deadlines 7 take time off work 8 be under pressure at work 9 spend a lot of time at work 10 have good working conditions

- b) Students do the exercise on their own.

- c) Students do the exercise in pairs. Encourage students to say more about each person if possible (their relationship to the person, their jobs, where they work, etc.).

Each pair decides which of the people they talked about works the hardest. Ask students to tell the class about this person.

EXTRA IDEA

- Students work in pairs and take turns to test each other on the collocations. One student says a word/phrase, for example work home, and his/her partner says the whole collocation, for example take work home.

Listening and Grammar

- 2 a) Focus students on the photo and the cartoon, and use the title of the book to pre-teach praise /preɪz/ (when you say positive things about someone or something).

Discuss with the class what they think the book is about and what is happening in the cartoon. Don't tell the class the answers to these questions yet.

Vocabulary work collocations

Grammar modal verbs (1): be able to, be allowed to, be supposed to Review question tags

- b) Tell students they are going to listen to a radio programme where two journalists, Kim and Rob, are discussing Carl Honoré's book In Praise of Slow.

V2.1 Play the recording (SB p143). Students listen and check their answers to the questions in 2a. Check answers with the class.

In Praise of Slow tells us that we are living too fast and should all slow down. The cartoon on SB p12 shows one of the members of the group in Austria called The Society for the Deceleration of Time, which tries to stop people hurrying. If members of the society think a person is walking too fast without a good reason, that person has to walk behind a puppet tortoise for 50 metres.

- 3 a) Students do the exercise in pairs. Remind students that they must use one country twice.

- b) R2.2 Play the recording of the second part of the radio programme (SB p143). Students listen and check their answers to 3a.

Check answers with the class.

- 2 Germany
- 3 the UK
- 4 the UK
- 5 the USA
- 6 Japan

- 4 a) R2.2 Give students time to read sentences 1–9, then play the recording again. Students listen and fill in the gaps with one or two words.

Students check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

- 2 thirty-five
- 3 3 p.m.
- 4 our families
- 5 ideas
- 6 sleep
- 7 four
- 8 work home
- 9 travelling

- b) Students discuss Carl Honoré's ideas in groups or with the whole class. You can begin by asking students if they think they need to slow down or not, giving reasons for their answers.

Help with Grammar Modal verbs (1): be able to, be allowed to, be supposed to

- 5 a-d) Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in 62.1 SB p117. Check answers with the class.

- a) We use be supposed to to say a person is expected to do something: In the UK people are supposed to have a break every four hours.
- We use can and be able to to talk about ability or possibility: People can get their best ideas when they're doing nothing. We're able to continue working when we're travelling.
- We use must and have to to say something is necessary: I really must take more time off work. Lots of people have to take work home.
- We use should and ought to to give advice: No one should work more than 35 hours a week. We ought to spend more time relaxing with our families.
- We use be allowed to and can to say we have permission to do something: Some French employees are allowed to begin their weekend at 3 p.m. on Thursday. In some American companies, employees can sleep whenever they want.
- Highlight that can, must, have to, should and ought to are modal verbs.
- You can teach the students how to say ought to /'ɔ:tə/ at this stage.
- b) 1 We use the infinitive (he must take, etc.). 2 be allowed to, ought to, to be supposed to, have to, be able to. 3 and 4 See the table and bullet points in 62.1 SB p117.
- c) We use don't have to to say something isn't necessary: You don't have to wear a suit to work, but you can if you want to.
- We use mustn't to say something is not allowed: You mustn't send personal emails from the office. You can only send work emails.
- Remind students that must and have to are very similar in meaning in their positive forms.
- Check students understand all the TIPS! in 62.1 SB p117.

- 6 a) Remind students of Kim and Rob from the radio programme. Ask what jobs they do (they're journalists). Students do the exercise on their own, then check answers in pairs.

b) R2.3 Play the recording. Students listen and check their answers. Check answers with the class. Ask the class who has the best working conditions (Kim).

- 2 must 3 Are you able to 4 I'm supposed to 5 don't have to 6 Are you allowed to 7 can 8 have to 9 ought to 10 have to 11 mustn't

- c) R2.4 P Play the recording, pausing after each sentence. Students listen and repeat. Check students pronounce do you /dʒə/, have to /'hæftə/, ought to /'ɔ:tə/ and mustn't /'mʌsnt/ correctly.

Get ready ... Get it right!

- 7 Put students into groups of three or four. Tell each group that they run a company with good working conditions. Each group makes notes on the ideas listed. Tell students that they must all make notes on their company, as they will each have to describe it to other students. While students are working, monitor and help with ideas and language. Make sure students use the language from 5 in their discussions.

EXTRA IDEA

- If you think your students will have problems thinking of ideas, you can allocate each group a company, for example a fast food restaurant, a website design company, an organic café, a clothes shop, a travel agent's, a language school, a small hotel, etc.

- 8 a) Reorganise the class so that students from different groups are working together. Students take turns to describe their companies. Encourage students to ask questions to find out more information about each company.

Each group then decides which is the best company to work for.

b) Each group tells the class which company they think is the best to work for, giving reasons for their answers. Finally, ask the class to vote for the most popular company in the class.

EXTRA IDEA

- Ask each group to write a profile of their company, using the language from the lesson. Students can then read all the groups' profiles and decide which company they think is the best to work for.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews modal verbs and be supposed to. Students do the first part of the activity on their own. Put students into pairs. Students tell their partners about the things they have to do, ought to do, etc. next week and then decide who is going to have the busiest week. Ask students to share interesting ideas with the class.

Vocabulary In the kitchen

- 1 Check students understand main meal (your biggest meal of the day). Students discuss the questions in groups. Ask each group to tell the class about some of the things they discussed.
- 2 a) Focus students on groups 1–3 below the vocabulary box and check they understand the examples. Students do the exercise on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in V2.2 SB p116. Check answers with the class.
Point out that broccoli is an uncountable noun and that beans can also refer to green beans, which are long and thin. Highlight that we can say a microwave or a microwave oven. Also check students understand the difference between roast and bake, both of which you do in an oven, and point out that roast can also be an adjective (roast chicken, etc.). You can also teach students that you stir fry food in a wok. Model and drill the words. Highlight the pronunciation of broccoli /'brɒkəli/, lamb /læm/, oven /'ɒvən/, aubergine /'aʊbədʒi:n/, courgettes /kʊ:'ʒet/ and zucchini /zu:'ki:niz/.

EXTRA IDEAS

- Do this as a Know, Might Know, Don't Know activity (p21).
- To review this vocabulary after a break or at the beginning of the next class, organise the team activity Hot Seats (p21).

- b) Students do the exercise in pairs. Ask students to share any interesting or unusual answers with the class.

Present Simple

- 5 a)–d) Focus students on the verb forms in bold in the article and the cartoon.

Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check answers in 62.2 SB p118. Check answers with the class.

- a) Present Continuous a) 'm making b) 'm writing; 's doing c) is growing; 're becoming
- Present Simple a) cooks; spend b) live; buy c) believe; need
- Point out that we often use still with the Present Simple and Present Continuous to mean something that started in the past and continues to the present: My mother still cooks a full three-course meal every evening. I'm still waiting to hear about the job.
- b) Activities talk, spend, eat, learn, buy, cook, take. States seem, agree, taste, prefer, own, understand, want, remember, contain. We don't usually use state verbs in the Present Continuous (or other continuous verb forms).
- Focus students on the table of common state verbs in 62.2 SB p118. Check the meaning of any new words. Encourage students to learn the verbs in the table.

- Point out that we often use can with verbs that describe the senses to talk about what is happening now: I can hear a noise outside. I can't see anything.
- Also highlight that some verbs can be both activity verbs and state verbs: I'm having dinner at the moment (activity). They have two dogs (state). What are you thinking about? (activity). I think football is boring (state).
- c) Present Continuous We make positive and negative sentences with: subject + be + (not) + verb+ing. We make questions with: (question word) + am/are/is + subject + verb+ing.
- Present Simple For I/you/we/they, the positive is the same as the infinitive. For he/she/it, we add -s or -es to the infinitive: he lives; she goes; it works. We make the Present Simple negative with: subject + don't/doesn't + infinitive. We make Present Simple questions with: (question word) + do/does + subject + infinitive.

6 R2.5 P Play the recording (SB p143). Students listen and practise. Check students are copying the sentence stress correctly.

7 a) Give students one minute to read paragraphs 1 and 2. Students decide who is speaking in each paragraph. Check answers with the class.

8 a) Pre-teach organic food (food grown or produced without chemical fertilisers or pesticides).

Students do the exercise on their own.

When they find a student who answers yes, they write the person's name next to the question. Students then ask two follow-up questions to find out more information. Students should try and find a different person who answers yes for each question.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews food and ways of cooking. Students work on their own and make a list of six food items. Focus students on the examples, then put students into pairs. Students take turns to describe their food items and the ways of cooking. Their partner guesses what the food items are.

1 Students work on their own and tick the words/phrases they know, then check any new words/phrases in V2.3 SB p116.

Vocabulary sleep; gradable and strong adjectives; adverbs

Skills Listening: A sleep scientist; Reading: I just can't sleep!

Review Present Simple and Present Continuous

Check any new words with the class. Point out that dream can be a noun and a verb. Compare sleep, which can also be a noun or verb, with the adjective asleep. Highlight the collocations be fast asleep, be wide awake and be a light/heavy sleeper. Also tell students that we can wake up or wake someone up: Can you wake me up at eight?

Model and drill the words/phrases.

- 2 a) Students do the exercise on their own.

b) Students do the activity in groups, asking follow-up questions where appropriate. Ask each group to tell the class one or two interesting things they have found out.

EXTRA IDEA

- Do 2 as a Words Connected to Me activity (p22).

- 3 a) Focus students on the cartoons and ask which man has sleep problems (the man in the first cartoon). Use the cartoons to teach an alarm clock and go off: My alarm clock goes off at half past seven every morning. Students do the exercise in pairs. Don't check answers at this stage.

b) R2.6 Tell students they are going to listen to an interview with a sleep scientist. Play the recording (SB p144). Students listen and check their answers to 3a). Students check their answers in the same pairs. Check answers with the class.

1 more 2 30% 3 one and a half hours 4 more
5 the same amount of 6 a few hours

c) Give students time to read questions 1–5, then play the recording again. Students listen and answer the questions before checking answers in pairs.

Check answers with the class. Ask students if they were surprised by any of the information in the interview.

1 10%. 2 People went to sleep when it got dark and got up when it got light. 3 Older people. 4 They organise information they've collected during the day. 5 A place where you can go for a quick nap during the day.

Help with Listening — R forms (1)

- This Help with Listening section focuses on common weak forms and highlights the relationship between weak forms and sentence stress.

- 4 a) Focus students on the introductory bullet point and remind students of the schwa /ə/ sound.

R2.7 Play the recording. Students listen and notice the difference between the strong and weak forms of these words. Ask students if we usually say these words in their strong or weak forms (their weak forms). Also highlight the schwa sound in the weak forms.

You can point out that we usually use these words in their strong forms when they are at the end of a sentence or question: Yes, I do /du:/, What are you looking for /fɔ:/? I don't think I can /kæn/, etc.

b) Students do the activity on their own before checking answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

c) Focus students on the sentences from the beginning of the interview. Students work on their own or in pairs and circle the words they think they will hear as weak forms. Highlight the examples before they begin.

While students are working, write the sentences on the board.

d) R2.6 Play the beginning of the recording again. Students listen and check their answers. Elicit students' answers and circle the weak forms on the board. Ask students if weak forms are ever stressed (they aren't).

Do people (you) know have problems sleeping (at) night? Or maybe (you) just can't get (to) sleep yourself. (For) many people, insomnia is a way (of) life (and) not being able (to) get (to) sleep isn't just annoying – it (can) also be very dangerous.

e) Students turn to R2.6, SB p144. Play the whole recording again. Students listen and notice the weak forms and sentence stress.

EXTRA IDEA

- Before they do 4e), ask students to decide which words in the sentences on the board are stressed. Students can check their answers in R2.6, SB p144.

Reading and Vocabulary

- 5 a) Students do the activity in groups. Ask each group to tell the class their most unusual method of getting to sleep.

b) Focus students on the article and photo on SB p17. Ask students what Emma's problem is (she has insomnia). Pre-teach hypnosis /hɪp'nɒstɪs/, sleeping pills and become addicted to something, and check students remember meditation.

Students read the article and answer the questions. Check answers with the class.

She has insomnia because she worries about work all the time. To try and get a good night's sleep she has tried herbal teas, yoga, meditation and going to the gym.

- 6 a) Students do the exercise on their own, then check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

1 Two hours (from 11 p.m. to 1 a.m.). 2 She sleeps for a short time, then wakes up and can't get back to sleep. 3 She works really long hours and has to do a lot of travelling. 4 She borrowed a lot of money when she was a student and still owes £15,000. 4 Hypnosis, because it's very expensive; sleeping pills, because she is terrified of becoming addicted to them.

b) Students discuss their advice for Emma in pairs. Remind students of the ways of giving advice from lesson 2A, She should ... and She ought to ..., before they begin. Ask students to share some of their advice for Emma with the class.

Help with Vocabulary

Gradable and strong adjectives, adverbs

- 7 a-e) Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in V2.4 SB p117.

Check answers with the class.

Alternatively, students can do each exercise in turn and check answers with you after each exercise.

- a) tired → shattered; bad → terrible, awful; good → fantastic; big → huge; difficult → impossible; frightened → terrified; surprised → amazed
- Check students understand that strong adjectives already include the idea of very, for example exhausted means very tired.
- Model and drill the words, paying particular attention to the pronunciation of exhausted /ɪɡ'zɔ:stɪd/, awful /'ɔ:fəl/ and huge /hju:dʒ/.
- b) small → tiny; cold → freezing; hot → boiling; beautiful → gorgeous; big → enormous; interested → fascinated; angry → furious; happy → delighted; dirty → filthy
- Model and drill the words, paying particular attention to the pronunciation of delicious /dɪ'ljʃəs/, tiny /taɪni:/, gorgeous /'gɔ:dʒəs/, furious /'fjuəriəs/ and filthy /'fɪli:/.
- Point out that huge and enormous both mean 'very big'.
- c) We use very, incredibly, extremely and fairly with gradable adjectives. We use absolutely with strong adjectives. We use really with both types of adjective.
- Point out that incredibly and extremely are stronger than very. Fairly and rather are less strong than very.
- Remind students that we can also use quite with gradable adjectives: It was quite good.
- d) These strong adjectives all mean 'very good': amazing, brilliant, excellent, fabulous, fantastic, incredible, marvellous, superb, terrific, wonderful.
- Drill these words with the class, highlighting the stress.
- Also point out the difference between terrible (very bad), terrified (very frightened) and terrific (very good).

EXTRA IDEA

- Students work in pairs and take turns to test each other on the gradable and strong adjectives. One student says the gradable adjective, for example small, and his/her partner says the strong adjective, for example tiny.

- 8 a) Students do the exercise on their own. Encourage students to use different adverbs from 7c) in each sentence if possible. While they are working, monitor and check their sentences for accuracy.

- b) Put students into new pairs. Students take turns to say their sentences. Encourage students to ask questions about each sentence if possible.

Ask students to share interesting sentences with the class.

- 9 a) Put students into groups of four and give each group a letter (A, B, etc.). Each group writes questions for a sleep survey, as in the example. Encourage students to use the words/phrases in 1 in their questions. Each group should write at least six questions.

Make sure all the students write the questions as they will be working separately in 9b).

While students are working, monitor and check their questions for accuracy.

EXTRA IDEA

- Write the following prompts on the board to help students think of questions for their sleep surveys: How often do you ... ?; What time do/did you ... ?; When did you last ... ?; Do you usually/ever ... ?; Are you a ... ?; Is it easy/difficult for you to ... ?; Does anyone in your family ... ?

- b) Reorganise the class so that students are sitting with students from other groups. Students take turns to ask and answer their questions. Make sure all the students write the answers.

Alternatively, students can move around the room and ask each other questions. Students should check if the other person has answered his/her group's sleep survey by saying the letter of his/her group before asking their questions.

- c) Students work in the same groups as in 9a). Students compare their answers and produce a set of results for their survey.

- d) Finally, ask students to tell the class some of the things they found out about other students.

EXTRA IDEA

- For homework, students write a report about their class based on the results of their sleep survey. These reports can be displayed around the room for other students to read.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews gradable and strong adjectives. Students work on their own and write all the strong adjectives they know. Set a time limit of two minutes. Students compare lists in pairs, then decide what the gradable adjective is for each strong adjective on their lists. Students think of one person, place or thing for each strong adjective. Ask each pair to share one or two of their ideas with the class.

- 1 Check students understand advice column (part of a magazine where someone gives advice to people who write in). Also remind students that advice is an uncountable noun: we say some advice not an advice. You can also teach students that when we want to say 'one advice', we say a piece of advice: Let me give you a piece of advice. Students discuss the questions in pairs. Ask students to share interesting answers with the class.

- 2 a) Focus students on photos A–C. Discuss what students think the people are talking about in each photo with the class. Don't tell students if they are right or wrong at this stage.

b) R2.8 Tell students they are going to hear three conversations. Play the recording (SB p144). Students listen and match conversations 1–3 to photos A–C. Check answers with the class.

You can ask who is in each picture (A: Lorna; B: Lorna and her friend, Diane; C: Andy and his colleague, Robin).

- 3 a) Students do the exercise in pairs. Don't check the answers yet.
b) R2.8 Play the recording again. Students listen and check their answers to 3a). Students can then check answers with their partner. Check answers with the class.

Real World Showing concern, giving and responding to advice

- 4 a)–d) Check students understand showing concern (you show concern when you are worried about someone or something). Students do the exercises on their own, then check their answers in RW2.1 SB p118. Check answers with the class.

Real World showing concern, giving and responding to advice

Help with Listening intonation (1): showing concern
Review gradable and strong adjectives; Present Simple; Present Continuous

- a) a) showing concern b) giving advice c) responding to advice
- Check students understand when to use What a shame (when something bad has happened and we want to be sympathetic). Teach What a pity as an alternative.
- Point out that I'd take her out ... = I would take her out ...
- b) After Have you tried ... we use verb+ing: Have you tried talking to him about it?
- After should ..., Why don't you ..., I'd (= I would) ... and ought to ... we use the infinitive: Well, maybe you should talk to him again.
- c) 1 What should I do? 2 What do you think I should do?
- Point out that we use these sentences to ask for advice and highlight the word order of should and I in each sentence.
- Note that students study indirect questions with do you think in lesson 7D.

EXTRA IDEA

- R2.8 Ask students to turn to R2.8, SB p144. Play the recording again. Students listen, read and underline all the phrases for showing concern, giving and responding to advice.

Help with Listening Intonation (1): showing concern

- This Help with Listening section focuses on the natural intonation patterns we use when we show concern.
- 5 R2.9 Play the recording (SB p144). Students listen and circle the sentence which shows concern. Play the recording again if necessary. Check answers with the class. Use the examples on the recording to point out that we often use a large voice range when we are showing concern. If our voices are flat, people might think we're bored.

2a) 3b) 4b) 5a) 6a)

- 6 R2.10 P Play the recording. Students listen and repeat. Check they are copying the polite intonation and sentence stress correctly. Students can look at the phrases in RW2.1 SB p118 while they practise.

- 7 a) Student do the exercise on their own.

- A I've got a bit of a problem.
 B Oh, dear. What's the matter?
 A My girlfriend won't talk to me. What should I do?
 B Maybe you ought to write her a letter.
 A Well, it's worth a try, I guess.
 B And I'd send her some flowers.
 A Yes, that's a good idea. Thanks a lot.

- A Look at this plant. It's dying, isn't it?
 B Yes, I see what you mean.
 A What do you think I should do?
 B Have you tried giving it more water?
 A Yes, I've tried that, but it didn't work.
 B Well, why don't you put it in a bigger pot?
 A Yes, I might try that. Thanks.

- c) Students practise the conversations in pairs. Encourage students to memorise the conversations and then practise them without looking at their books. Ask a few pairs to practise the conversations for the whole class.

EXTRA IDEA

- Do this activity as a Dialogic Build (p21).

- 8 Put students into groups of three, student A, student B and student C. Student As turn to SB p102, student Bs turn to SB p107 and student Cs turn to p112. If you have one or two extra students, ask them to work in pairs with student Bs.

- a) Students do the exercise on their own.
b) Focus students on the speech bubbles to show how to start the conversation. Students work in their groups and take turns to explain their problems. Their partners show concern and give advice. Students decide which piece of advice is the best.

While they are working, monitor and correct any mistakes you hear. Encourage students to use natural intonation when showing concern.

- c) Finally, students tell the class the best piece of advice they received for each problem.

Ask students to turn to p100 and look at You Can't Hurry Love. This song was first recorded by the American group The Supremes in 1966. The song was also recorded by Phil Collins in 1982.

- 1 a) Students do the activity on their own. If you think your students will have difficulty with this, make a list of ten famous love songs and ask students to decide which they like, which they don't like and why.

- b) Students compare songs in groups, then decide which they think is the best and worst song. Compare answers with the class. You can ask the class to vote on the best (and worst!) love song.

- 2 a) R2.11 Give students time to read the song, then play the recording. Students listen and choose the correct words/phrases. Play the recording again if necessary.

- b) Students check answers in pairs. Play the recording again, pausing after each line for students to check answers. Check answers with the class.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews ways of giving advice. Students write three problems on their own. Put students into pairs. Students take turns to tell their partners the problems and give advice. Encourage students to show concern when hearing about their partner's problems. You can ask students to share one or two problems with the class.

Vocabulary Phrasal verbs (1): travel

- 1 a) Check students remember souvenirs /su:ˈvɒn'ɪz/. Students do the exercise in pairs. Encourage students to guess the meaning of all the phrasal verbs in bold before they check in V3.1 SB p119.

Check students understand the meaning of the phrasal verbs by asking questions using each verb, for example What's the best way to get around this city?, etc.

Point out that we can also say check in and check out to mean check into/out of a hotel. Highlight that we say get back home, not get (back) to/from home and that we often use a verb+ing form after look forward to: I'm looking forward to seeing you. Note that the grammar of phrasal verbs is taught in lesson 10C. We suggest you don't begin teaching the position of objects in phrasal verbs at this stage.

Model and drill the phrasal verbs. Note that only the main stress in words/phrases is shown in vocabulary boxes and the Language Summaries.

- b) Use the speech bubbles to remind students of short answers and follow-up questions. Students do the activity in new pairs. Ask students to share interesting information with the class.

Listening and Grammar

- 2 a) Focus students on the photos. Use Sam's photo to teach rainforest guide. Check students know Costa Rica is a country in Central America and Cornwall is a county in the UK that is very popular with tourists. Ask students which of these jobs they would prefer to do and why. Pre-teach idiot and guy (informal for man).

R3.1 Give students time to read questions 1 and 2, then play the recording (SB p144). Students listen and answer the questions. Check answers with the class.

1 Sam likes his job, but Marcia doesn't. 2 Sam has to deal with some very difficult people and has to put up with some idiots. Marcia thinks managing a hotel is quite stressful and doesn't like people complaining all the time. She can't stand it when people steal things. Also either she or her husband has to be at the hotel and it's very hard to get a holiday together.

Help with Grammar

Present Perfect Simple

- 3 a)–f) Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in R3.1 SB p120. Check answers with the class.

Alternatively, students can do each exercise in turn and check answers with you after each one.

- a) We use the Present Perfect Simple to talk about experiences in our life up to now, but we don't say when they happened. To give more information about an experience we use the Past Simple, as shown in sentences a) and b) in 2b.
- We use the Past Simple to say when something happened, as shown in sentences c) and d).
- We use the Present Perfect Simple for something that started in the past and continues in the present, as shown in sentences e) and f).
- We use the Present Perfect Simple for something that happened a short time ago, but we don't say exactly when, as shown in sentences g) and h).
- b) We make the Present Perfect Simple positive and negative with:
I/you/we/they + 've (= have)/haven't + past participle he/she/it + 's (= has)/hasn't + past participle.
- We make Present Perfect Simple questions with: (question word) + have/has + subject + past participle: How long have I/you/we/they lived here?
Has he/she/it been there before?
- c) We use for with a period of time (how long):
I've lived in this country for three years.

- We use since with a point in time (when something started): My husband and I have had this place since 2001.
- Go has two past participles, been and gone. We use been to mean 'go and come back': I've just been to San Isidro to pick up a guest (he's back at the place he started from now). We use gone to mean 'go, but not come back yet': My husband's gone to see some friends off (he's not back yet).
- Point out that we don't use during with the Present Perfect Simple: I've been here for six months. not I've been here during six months.
- d) We can use these words/phrases with the Present Perfect Simple: never, ever, recently, lately, before, this week, just, yet, already.
- We must use the Past Simple with phrases that say a definite time (ago, in 1997, last week, at 10 o'clock, etc.).
- Point out that we often use the Present Perfect Simple with just to say something happened a short time ago: I've just been to San Isidro.
- For more information on these adverbs and time phrases, see 63.1 SB p120.
- e) We use the Present Perfect Simple after this is the first time, this is the second time, etc., not the Present Simple: This is the first time we've been here. not This is the first time we are here.
- Point out that we also use the Present Perfect Simple with this morning, afternoon, etc. if it is still that time of day and that we use the Present Perfect Simple with this week/month/year.

- 4 R3.2 P Play the recording (SB p145). Students listen and practise. Encourage students to copy the sentence stress and the contractions (I've, We've, etc.). Play the recording again if necessary.

Help with Listening Present Perfect Simple e. Past Simple

- This Help with Listening section focuses on how we say the Present Perfect Simple and the Past Simple, and helps students to hear the difference between these two verb forms.

- 5 a) R3.3 Play the recording. Students listen and notice the difference between the pairs of phrases. Highlight the extra sound of the auxiliary ('ve and 's) in each Present Perfect Simple phrase.
- b) R3.4 Play the recording (SB p145). Students listen and decide if the verbs are in the Present Perfect Simple or the Past Simple. Play the recording again, pausing after each sentence to check students' answers.

- 1 Past Simple 2 Present Perfect Simple
3 Present Perfect Simple 4 Past Simple
5 Present Perfect Simple 6 Past Simple

- 6 a) Focus students on the photo of Kara and Brian and their restaurant. Tell students they are British, but they run a restaurant in Greece.
Students do the exercise on their own.

b) Students compare answers in pairs and discuss why they have chosen each answer.

c) R3.5 Play the recording. Students listen and check. Play the recording again if necessary, pausing where appropriate to check answers with the class.

2 decided (we know when this happened) 3 've/have lived (started in the past and continues in the present)
4 've/have just opened (happened a short time ago)
5 've/have been (experience) 6 was (we know when this happened) 7 haven't had (started in the past and continues in the present) 8 've/have visited (it is still the same year) 9 's/has just gone (happened a short time ago)

- 7 Put students into pairs, student A and student B. Student A turn to SB p102 and student B turn to SB p107.

a) Focus students on the example and highlight that all the questions have you as the subject. Students do the exercise on their own.

If necessary, check the verb forms only (not the questions) with the class.

Student A 2 Have you spoken 3 Did you rent 4 Have you decided 5 have you known 6 Did you go away 7 Have you ... had 8 you've studied

Student B 2 Have you seen 3 Have you been on 4 Did you do 5 have you had 6 Did you get 7 Have you looked 8 you've studied

b) Students work with their partner and take turns to ask and answer the questions. Student A asks the first question. Encourage students to ask follow-up questions if possible.

While students are working, monitor and correct any mistakes you hear.

Ask students to share any interesting or surprising answers with the class.

Get ready ... Get it right!

- 8 Students do the activity on their own. Tell students to write short answers (Andrea, a CD player, Rome, etc.), not whole sentences. Make sure students don't write the answers in the same order as the prompts.

- 9 a) Students work in pairs and swap papers. Students take turns to ask questions about the information on their partner's papers (Have you known Andrea for most of your life? Did you get a CD player for your last birthday? Have you been to Rome this year?, etc.).

Encourage students to ask follow-up questions and continue each conversation for 30 seconds.

- b) Finally, ask students to tell the class two interesting things they found out about their partner.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews Present Perfect Simple questions with Have you ever ... ?. Students do the activity in pairs.

-  If you think your students will have trouble thinking of questions, write these prompts on the board: go, do, eat, try, meet, study, see, visit, play, win. Ask students to share interesting answers with the class.

Vocabulary Phrases with travel, get and go on

- 1 Focus students on groups 1–3 below the vocabulary box and check students understand that we use on your own with the verb travel, etc.

Students do the activity in pairs, then check their answers in V3.2 SB p119. Check answers with the class (see V3.2 SB p119).

Check students understand all the new phrases with travel, get and go on. Point out that a journey refers to travelling in one direction (for example from London to Paris), while a trip includes the return journey (you go to Paris and then come back to London).

Check students remember that travel is usually a verb. When we want to use a noun, we usually use a trip or a journey. How was your trip/journey?

Point out that we get into/out of a car or a taxi, and get on/off public transport (buses, planes, trains, boats, etc.) and bikes/motorbikes. Highlight that we say get a taxi home not get a taxi to home. Also check students understand by in get here by 10.30 (= 10.30 or earlier).

Model and drill the phrases. Pay particular attention to the pronunciation of tour /tʊə/, journey /ˈdʒɜːni/, cruise /kruːz/, separately /ˈseprətli/ and package /ˈpækɪdʒ/. Point out the stress on independently.

Students work on their own and read about Polly's job.

b) Students work with a partner from the same group and make questions with How long ... ? or How many ... ? to complete the text. Focus students on the example before they start.

- 8 a) Focus the students on the prompts. Draw your own timeline on the board and write a few years or dates when some of these things happened on the line. Alternatively, focus students on the timeline in the Student's Book.

Students work on their own and draw their own timeline. They write a year, month or date on the line for each prompt.

While they are working, monitor and check they are doing the activity correctly.

- b) Focus students on the timeline on the board (or in the Student's Book) again. Elicit sentences for each year, month or date on the timeline using the Present Perfect Continuous or the Present Perfect Simple: I've known Kathy since 1997; I've been living in my flat since 2003/ for ... years. I've had this job since March., etc.

Students work on their own and plan what they are going to say about their timeline, using the Present Perfect Continuous or the Present Perfect Simple with for or since.

- 9 a) Put students into pairs. Students take turns to tell their partner about their timeline using the language they have prepared in 8b). Encourage students to ask follow-up questions when they want more information.

- 2 Focus students on the TOP TV article. Ask students what the name of the programme is (Call that a holiday?) and when it is on (Tuesday at 6.45 p.m.).

Review Present Perfect Simple and Present Perfect Continuous; Past Simple

Alan is going on the South African cosmetic surgery and safari holiday. He chose this because he wants a facelift/thinks he needs to do something about his face. Emily is going to work on an organic farm in Australia. She chose this because she's bored with going on package holidays every year, wants a different kind of holiday and is interested in organic farming.

- b) Give students time to read questions 1–8, then play the recording again. Students listen, tick the true sentences and correct the false ones.
- c) Students check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

1T 2F He's been working in advertising for more than thirty years. 3F He's going on a safari after the operation. 4T 5T 6F She's flying to Australia tomorrow morning. 7F 8T

Help with Listening Linking (1): consonant-vowel links

- This Help with Listening section focuses on consonant-vowel linking and shows students that we often link words together in natural spoken English.

4 a) R3.7 Play the beginning of the recording again. Students listen and notice the consonant-vowel links that are marked on the example sentences. Use these examples to show that we usually link words that end in a consonant sound with words that start with a vowel sound.

b) Ask students to turn to R3.7, SB p145. Play the whole recording again. Students listen, read and notice the linking.

Reading and Vocabulary

5 Tell students that Alan and Emily have now been to South Africa and Australia, and they have written reviews of their holidays for the TV programme's website.

Divide the class into two groups, group A and group B. Ask students in group A to cover Emily's review and students in group B to cover Alan's review.

Students in group A read about Alan's holiday and answer questions 1–6. Students in group B read about Emily's holiday and answer the same questions.

Early finishers can check their answers with a student from the same group. Students shouldn't read the other review at this stage.

6 a) Reorganise the class so that each student from group A is working with a student from group B.

Students take turns to ask and answer the questions in 5. Don't check the answers at this stage.

b) R3.8 Play the recording. Students listen and read the two reviews, checking their partner's answers to the questions in 5 as they do so.

If necessary, check answers with the class.

ALAN 1 Three weeks. 2 The medical centre had a swimming pool. The jungle guest house was extremely comfortable. 3 First week: he had his operation. Second week: he relaxed by the pool. Third week: he went on safari. 4 The safari. 5 Spending five days inside after his operation. 6 Yes, he would.

EMILY 1 Two weeks. 2 She stayed in a fairly basic farmhouse, which was OK. 3 She worked five hours a day, six days a week and spent all her spare time at the beach. 4 The people she met and eating organic food every day. 5 Doing what the couple who ran the farm asked her to do because she wasn't very strong. 6 Yes, she would.

Help with Vocabulary Word formation (1): suffixes for nouns and adjectives

7 a)–c) Ask students to do exercises a)–c) on their own or in pairs. While they are working, draw the table from 7b) on the board so that you are ready to check their answers. Make each line of the table big enough for three words. Check answers with the class.

- a) adjectives/nouns patient/patience; kind/kindness; popular/popularity
- b) nouns/adjectives danger/dangerous; comfort/comfortable; nature/natural; health/healthy
- b) Check answers with the class by pointing to each space in the table on the board and eliciting the correct word (see the table in V3.3 SB p120).
- c) Drill the words with the class. Point out the different stress in pôpular and populârity. Highlight that comfortable is three syllables, not four.
- c) Point out that we can often tell whether a word is a noun or an adjective by looking at the suffix. Also highlight that both nouns and adjectives can end in -y (difficulty, healthy, etc.).
- c) Difficult, kind, popular, danger, comfort and health only add the suffix. Patient → patience and nature → natural have extra changes in spelling. Use these examples to show that we sometimes have to change the spelling if the word ends in -t or -e.

d)–f) Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in V3.3 SB p120. Check answers with the class.

- d) Check answers by asking students where each of the words in 7d) goes in the table on the board (see the table in V3.3 SB p120).
- e) Be prepared to teach the meanings of any words students might not know (for example modesty). Point out that we describe places with lots of tourists as touristy, not touristie.
- e) Elicit the matching nouns and adjectives for the words in 7d) and write them in the table on the board (see the table in V3.3 SB p120).
- e) Drill the words with the class. Highlight the pronunciation of knowledge /'nɒlɪdʒ/ and knowledgeable /'nɒlɪdʒəbəl/, and the different stress in possible/possibility and active/activity.
- e) Point out that words ending in -y (lazy → laziness, etc.) often change their spelling.

8 Put students into pairs. Students take turns to test each other on the nouns and adjectives in 7, as shown in the speech bubbles.

- 9 a) Put students into new pairs. Students make a list of five things that they think make a good holiday (a nice beach, a quiet hotel, etc.).
- b) Reorganise the class so that students are working together in groups of four.
Students compare lists and decide on the five best things from both lists.
- c) Either put the class in larger groups or finish the discussion with the whole class. Students agree on the five best things that make a good holiday.
Ask students to choose the best thing from their final list.

EXTRA A

- For homework, students write a description of the last holiday they had. Collect the descriptions next class and display them around the room.

QUICK REVIEW ...

This activity reviews suffixes for nouns and adjectives. Put students into pairs. Student As write six adjectives that they can remember from lesson 3C (patient, kind, etc.). Student Bs write six nouns they can remember from the same lesson (comfort, sadness, etc.). Students work with their partner and take turns to say their words. Their partner should give the corresponding noun or adjective, as in the example.

- 1 Focus students on the photo. Tell students that this is a street called Chandhi Chowk in Delhi, India, with the Red Fort in the distance. Ask students if they would like to visit this city. Encourage students to give reasons for their answers.

EXTRA IDEAS

- Before focusing on the photo of Delhi, ask students to list the top three cities in the world they would like to visit. Students work in groups and compare cities, giving reasons for their choices. Students can then share some of their ideas with the class.
- Alternatively, start the class by asking students to work in pairs and write down six things they know about India. Ask students to share their ideas with the class.

- 2 a) Tell students that Michael is going to Delhi and is asking his friend Ellen for recommendations.

83.5 Give students time to read the topics, then play the recording (SB p145). Students listen and tick the topics Michael and Ellen talk about.

Check answers by asking the class which two topics Michael and Ellen don't talk about (the best time to visit; changing money).

- b) Point out the Red Fort in the photo. Ask students if they know which Indian city the Taj Mahal is in (Agra). Tell students that Connaught /'kɒnɒt/ Place is an important commercial and shopping centre in Delhi. Also pre-teach rickshaw.

Give students time to read sentences 1–6, then play the recording again. Students listen, tick the correct sentences and change the incorrect ones.

- 1T 2F It's better to travel to other cities by train.
3F He shouldn't visit the museums in Delhi. 4T

- b) 1 After It's (well/not) worth ... we use verb+ing:
That's well worth seeing. 2 After Don't bother ...
we use verb+ing: Don't bother going to the museums.
3 After I'd/I wouldn't ... we use the infinitive: I'd recommend the trains.

- 4 R3.10 P Play the recording. Students listen and practise. Encourage students to copy the sentence stress correctly. Play the recording again if necessary.

- 5 a) Students work in pairs and write conversations from the prompts. Check the conversations with the class.

- 1
A Do you know any good places to eat?
B You should definitely go to Henry's in the centre.
A What about places near the hotel?
B I'd recommend the Rose restaurant.
A Thanks, that's really useful.
- 2
A Where's the best place to stay?
B It's probably best to stay in the Station Hotel.
A Have you got any other tips?
B I wouldn't carry too much money at night.
A That's good to know.
- 3
A What are the best places to visit?
B You really must go to the City Art Gallery. It's amazing.
A Is there anything else worth seeing? What about the museums?
B Well, I wouldn't bother going to the National Museum. It isn't worth visiting.
A Yes, I've heard that before.

- b) Student practise the conversations with their partners. Encourage students to memorise the conversations and practise them without looking at the Student's Book. Ask each pair to role-play one conversation for the class.

- 6 a) Put students into new pairs. If possible, put students from different countries in the same pairs. Students choose a town, city or country that they know well, but their partner doesn't know and hasn't been to.

- b) Students work on their own and think of the recommendations they can give to their partner about the places they have chosen. They can make recommendations based on the topics in 2a) or their own ideas. Encourage students to make notes (time to visit: Sept to Dec; see: museums, opera house; not see: art gallery, etc.) but not write complete sentences.

- c) Students work in pairs with their partner from 6a). Ask students to imagine they are going to visit their partner's town, city or country. Students take turns to ask for and give recommendations about each place.

- d) Each pair decides which is the most interesting of the two places they talked about. Finally, ask students to tell the class about the place they thought was the most interesting.

EXTRA IDEA

- If all your students are from the same town, city or country, put students into pairs and ask them to think of recommendations they would make to someone visiting this place. Students can compare their ideas in groups of four, or with the whole class.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews ways of asking for and giving recommendations. Students work on their own and think of two holiday places they have been to. Put students into pairs. Students take turns to ask for and give recommendations about their places. Students can start each conversation by asking: Have you ever been to ... ? Ask each pair to tell the class what the most interesting place they discussed was.

Vocabulary Music collocations

- 1 Students do the exercise on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in V.1 SB p122.

Check answers with the class. Point out that a gig is an informal word for any kind of concert except a classical concert. Highlight that we can also use tour as a verb (My favourite band are touring at the moment.) and that we use live to talk about TV programmes or events we can see at the same time as they are happening (The World Cup Final is shown live in over 160 countries.). You can also teach a venue /ˈvenjuː/ to talk about a place where bands or singers play concerts: There are lots of great venues in London.

Model and drill the phrases. Pay particular attention to the pronunciation of tour /tuː/ and live /laɪv/. Note that only the main stress in words/phrases is shown in vocabulary boxes and the Language Summaries.

appear on TV; release a new album/CD; go to a concert/a gig/a festival; have a hit single; be/go on tour; have an album/a CD in the charts; see someone play live; be/go onstage

- 2 a) Students do the exercise on their own. Ask students to think of at least two phrases from 1 that they can use to talk about each band, musician or singer they have chosen. Point out that we can say a band or a group.

b) Students do the activity in pairs. Encourage students to ask questions about the bands, musicians or singers their partner has chosen if possible.

Students share their ideas with the class. Note that students talk about concerts they have been to in 10, so don't go into too much detail about specific concerts here.

EXTRA IDEA

- Use mime to teach students some vocabulary for musical instruments, for example guitar, drums, bass guitar, violin, piano, etc. Ask students what the words for the people who play these instruments are (a guitarist, a drummer, a bass guitarist, a violinist, a pianist, etc.).

Jennifer Lopez is an American singer and actress.
Elton John is a British singer, songwriter and musician.
Luciano Pavarotti is an Italian opera singer. Prince is an American singer, songwriter and musician. The Rolling Stones are a British rock band. Foreigner were an American rock band. Britney Spears is an American pop singer.

b) Focus students on the article and ask them to read the first paragraph only. Check students understand promoter (a person who organises rock tours and concerts) and riders (requests for things that musicians want which are written in their contract with the promoter). Pre-teach snooker table, dressing room, clear plastic and pie.

Students read the rest of the article and fill in the gaps with the names of the people or bands in the photos. Early finishers can check answers in pairs. Don't check answers at this stage.

c) B.1 Play the recording. Students listen, read and check their answers to 3b). Check answers with the class. Ask students which rider in the article they thought was the most surprising.

- a) Past Simple a) went b) said c) wanted Past Continuous a) were touring b) were having
- We can also use the Past Continuous when the longer action is interrupted: While we were having a picnic, it started to rain (so we stopped having the picnic).

- We can also use the Past Continuous to talk about an activity in progress at a point of time in the past: At four o'clock I was driving home (I started driving home before four o'clock and continued driving after four o'clock).
- Also point out that we don't usually use the Past Continuous with state verbs: I loved my old car, not I was loving my old car.
- Remind students that we can use when or while with the Past Continuous: He called me when/while I was waiting for the train. We don't usually use while with the Past Simple: ~~While he called me, I was waiting for a train.~~
- b) 1 was staying 2 asked 3 staying in the hotel 4 Yes, he did.
- c) If necessary, draw the timeline in 6.4.1 SB p123 on the board and use this to highlight the relationship between the Past Continuous (the longer action) and the Past Simple (the shorter action).
- c) We make the Past Simple positive of regular verbs by adding -ed or -d to the infinitive: work → worked, live → lived, etc. Remind students that there are no rules for irregular verbs and point out that there's an Irregular Verb List on SB p159.
- We make the Past Simple negative with: subject + didn't + infinitive. We make Past Simple questions with: (question word) + did + subject + infinitive.
- We make the Past Continuous positive and negative with: subject + was/were + (not) + verb+ing. We make Past Continuous questions with: (question word) + was/were + subject + verb+ing.

Help with Grammar used to

- 7 a)–c) Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in 6.4.2 SB p124. Check answers with the class.

- a) Sentences a) and b). 2 We can use used to in sentence b) because it's a repeated action in the past: He always used to say what size sofa he wanted. We can't use used to in sentence c) because the sentence talks about one action in the past.
- 3 The infinitive.
- Point out that we can only use used to to talk about the past. When we want to talk about habits or repeated actions in the present, we use usually + Present Simple: I used to work at the weekend (but I don't work at the weekend now). I usually work at the weekend (I work at the weekend now).
- Remind students that we can also use the Past Simple to talk about a repeated action or habit in the past, as shown in 4a.
- b) We make positive and negative sentences with used to with: subject + used to/didn't use to + infinitive. We make questions with used to with: (question word) + did + subject + use to + infinitive.
- Point out that used to is the same for all subjects.
- Remind students that the short answers to yes/no questions with used to are: Yes, I did./No, I didn't.; Yes, he did./No, he didn't., etc.
- Also point out the spelling of use to in negatives and questions, and that in the negative we can use didn't use to or never used to.

- 5 R4.2 P Play the recording (SB p145). Students listen and practise. Encourage students to copy the rhythm and sentence stress. Play the recording again if necessary.

- 6 a) Focus students on the photo of Van Halen and ask students what they know about the band. (Van Halen is an American heavy rock band who have been together since the 1970s.)

If necessary, pre-teach bow, technician, equipment and damage /dæmɪdʒ/.

Students read the text and find out why the rider was important. Check answers with the class.

Van Halen put the M&M rider in their contract because they wanted to check if the promoters read the contract properly.

- b) Students do the exercise on their own.
c) Students check their answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

2 included 3 found 4 were getting 5 happened 6 were doing 7 were putting 8 crashed 9 cost 10 forgot

- 8 R4.3 P Play the recording (SB p146). Students listen and practise. Check they are saying used to /'juːstə/ correctly. Play the recording again if necessary.

- 9 a) Students do the exercise on their own. Tell students to use a form of used to in their questions if possible. Check questions with the class. Point out that we use used to (without did) in question 1 because it is a subject question. Note that all the questions would also be correct in the Past Simple.

- 1 Who used to be your best friend when you were 12?
2 When did you first meet him or her? 3 Did you use to like the same music? 4 Did you use to go to gigs together? 5 Did you use to play the same sports?
6 Did you use to like the same TV programmes?
7 When did you last see him or her?

- b) Give students a minute or two to think of their answers to the questions in 9a.

Put students into pairs. Students take turns to ask and answer the questions. Encourage students to ask follow-up questions if possible.

Ask students to share interesting information with the class.

- 10 Ask students to look at SB p112. Check they are looking at the correct exercise.

a) Pre-teach orchestra /'ɔ:kɪstrə/ and audience /'ɔ:diəns/. Give students time to think of a concert they have been to that they really enjoyed.

Students work on their own and make notes on the concert based on the prompts.

Make sure students write notes, not complete sentences.

While students are working, monitor and help with language and ideas.

- b) Put students into groups of three or four. Students take turns to talk about their concert. Encourage other students to ask questions to find out more information, as shown in the speech bubbles.
- c) Each group decides which concert was the best. Finally, ask each group to tell the class about the concert.

Check that students understand the difference between sensible and sensitive by asking: What does a sensible person do the day before an exam? (revise, go to bed early, etc.). Ask students which two adjectives have a negative meaning (stubborn and mean). Model and drill the words. Highlight the pronunciation of sensible /'sensɪbl/, determined /dɪ'tɜ:mɪnd/, stubborn /'stʌbən/, ambitious /æm'bɪʃəs/ and responsible /rɪ'spɒnsəbl/, and the stress on independent and organised.

b) Students do the exercise on their own. Encourage students to choose at least two adjectives for each person.

c) Students work in pairs and take turns to tell their partner about the people they thought of in 1b). Encourage students to ask questions about each person. - b) When there is more than one action in the past, we often use the Past Perfect for the action that happened first. The Past Perfect is often referred to as 'past-in-the-past'.
Also highlight that if the order of past events is clear, we don't usually use the Past Perfect: We had dinner, watched TV and then went to bed.
Similarly, we don't always use the Past Perfect with before and after because the order of events is clear: David went home after the meeting (had) finished.
- c) In the first sentence, I turned on the TV, then the programme started almost immediately. In the second sentence, first the programme started, then I turned on the TV.
- d) We make the Past Perfect positive with: subject + had/d + past participle. We make the Past Perfect negative with: subject + hadn't + past participle.
Highlight that we usually use 'd after pronouns (I'd seen, she'd arrived, etc.) and had after names and nouns (Harriet had flown, the boat had sunk, etc.).
- Tell students that the Past Perfect is the same for all subjects, and that the short answers to Past Perfect yes/no questions are: Yes, I had./No, I hadn't, etc.
- You can also point out that we make Past Perfect questions with: (question word) + had + subject + past participle (What had he done before you met him?), but these questions are not very common.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews the Past Perfect. Students work on their own and make a list of things they had done, or had learned to do, by the time they were 5, 10 and 15 years old. Put students into pairs. Students share their ideas and find out how many of the things they had done, or had learned to do, are the same. Ask students to share these ideas with the class, as in the example.

Reading and Vocabulary

- 1 Students discuss the questions in groups. Ask students to share interesting ideas with the class. Encourage students to give reasons why they think natural medicines are/aren't as good as normal medicines.

- 2 a) Focus students on the article and pictures A-F. Note that foxgloves, lavender and willow trees are all common in the UK.

Check students understand health problems 1-6 and pre-teach pain, burns and fever if necessary. Students read the article and match the pictures to the health problems.

b) Students check their answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

- 3 a)-b) Discuss the importance of being able to guess meaning from context with the class. Point out that you can sometimes guess the meaning of a word by deciding which part of speech it is, understanding the rest of the sentence and the general meaning of the story, or by recognising a similar word in your language or another language you know.

Remind students to be careful of words/phrases that are 'false friends' in their language when guessing meaning from context. For example sensible in Spanish means sensitive and fast in German means almost, not quickly.

Focus the students on the words in pink in the article. Students do exercises a) and b) on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in V4.3 SB p122. Check answers with the class.

- a)–b) 1 noun, a) 2 noun, a) 3 verb, b) 4 noun (plural), b) 5 verb a) 6 noun, b) 7 adjective, a)
- Point out that the singular of leaves is a leaf, and that batle and scar are also verbs.

c)–d) Put students into pairs and focus them on the words in blue in the article. Students decide what parts of speech the words are and guess what the words mean from the context.

Students check their answers in V4.3 SB p123. Check the meanings of the words with the class.

- c) See V4.3 SB p123 for definitions of the words in blue in the article.
- Point out that cure and beat are also nouns.

Listening

4 a) Focus the students on the map and the photos. Check students know what part of the world Borneo is in (Southeast Asia). Note that Borneo is an island and is shared by three countries: Malaysia, Singapore and Brunei. Ask students what they think the connection between the map and the photos is, and to guess the name of the plant (a banana tree). Don't tell them the answers at this stage.

b) Tell students they are going to listen to the beginning of an interview with Monica and Kaz.

R4.9 Give students time to read questions 1–3, then play the recording (SB p146). Students listen and answer the questions. Check answers with the class.

- 1 Because Monica was studying how the Pa'Dalih people grow rice. 2 Molly was about 18 months old. 3 She was badly burned./A teapot full of boiling water fell on her.

5 a) Students discuss the questions in pairs.

 Elicit students' ideas for answers to questions 1 and 2 on the board in two columns. Don't tell them the answers at this stage.

b) R4.10 Play the recording (SB p146). Students listen and check their answers to the questions in 5a).

Focus students on the answers on the board and ask if any of them were correct. Play the recording again if necessary.

- 1 They took off Molly's clothes and then they took her to a doctor in the next village. 2 They put sap from the flowers from the banana trees on Molly's burns.

8 a) Students work in the same pairs and read the summary. Students find five mistakes and correct them. Early finishers can check their ideas with another pair.

b) R4.10 Play the recording again. Students listen and check their answers. Check answers with the class.

... burns on her body ... sap from banana flowers ... the nearest doctor 20 miles away ... they didn't take Molly to hospital ... The Pa'Dalih people thought ...

7 a) Pre-teach treatment and recover. Students work in the same pairs and guess the answers to questions 1–3.

b) R4.11 Play the recording (SB p146). Students listen and check. Check answers with the class.

Ask students if they think Monica and Kaz did the right thing, giving reasons for their answers.

- 1 They put sap from banana flowers on Monica every two hours. 2 For about ten days. 3 Yes, she did.

Help with Listening Linking (2)

• This Help with Listening section introduces extra linking sounds that we often use to link words together in natural spoken English.

8 a) Go through the introductory bullet point with the class. Point out that we use the extra sounds /w/, /j/ and /r/ to link words that end with a vowel sound with words that begin with a vowel sound. Focus students on the table to show which sounds at the end of a word produce each linking sound.

Note that students don't need to learn this table, but they can look at the Phonemic Symbols on SB p159 to check the sounds if necessary.

R4.12 Play the recording. Students listen and read the sentences from the interview and notice the linking sounds.

Play the recording again, pausing after each sentence to highlight the three linking sounds in each sentence.

Note that in British English the final /r/ sound in words is not usually pronounced, unless it is followed by a vowel sound, as in the third example sentence. In American English the final /r/ sound is usually pronounced in all cases. Note that students study British and American accents in lesson 9C.

b) R4.11 Ask students to turn to R4.11, SB p146. Play the recording again. Students listen and notice the linking sounds.

Note that students study linking again in lesson 8C.

9 a) Give students a minute or two to think of an interesting story about when they were children, using the ideas in the box or their own ideas.

b) Students work on their own and make notes about their story.

While they are working, monitor and help students with vocabulary.

c) Students work in pairs and take turns to tell their stories. Students can ask questions at any point to clarify anything they don't understand or to find out more information. While they are working, monitor and help students with language problems.

EXTRA IDEA

- Students can make up a story using Consequences (p22).

10 a) Students work on their own and write their story. You can set a time limit of 15 minutes.

b) Ask students to pass their stories around the class for other students to read. If possible, allow each student time to read at least three of the other stories. Alternatively, display students' stories around the classroom and then ask them to read all the stories.

Finally, ask students to say which story they like the most, giving reasons for their answers.

EXTRA:

- Students do (or finish) 10a) for homework, then do 10b) next class.
- Instead of asking students to read each other's stories in 10b), students can take turns to read out their stories to the class.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews adjectives to describe people's character. Students make a list of these words on their own. Set a time limit of three minutes. Students compare their lists in pairs. Find out which pair has the most words and write them on the board. Ask if other pairs have any different words and add them to the list. Students then use the adjectives from their lists or the list on the board to describe people in their family.

1 Pre-teach support a football team, football match and fight. Students discuss the questions in groups. Ask students to share interesting ideas with the class.

2 a) Students do the exercise on their own or in pairs, then check new words in V4.4 SB p123.

Check any problematic meanings with the class by asking what a violent, arrogant, etc. person would do or say in certain situations. Highlight that spoilt is usually used for children. Also tell students that we often use offensive to talk about what people say: I thought what he said was very offensive. Point out that all these adjectives describe people's behaviour and ask students what the verb is for the noun (behave /bɪ'heɪv/).

Model and drill the words, focusing on stress. Pay particular attention to the pronunciation of violent /vaɪələnt/ and enthusiastic /ɪnθjuːzɪ'æstɪk/.

b) Students answer the questions in pairs. Check answers with the class.

- 1 Negative meaning violent; arrogant; rude; noisy; loud; selfish; aggressive; stupid; lazy; spoilt; offensive; bad-tempered. Positive meaning polite; hard-working; loyal; enthusiastic; considerate; patient; helpful; well-behaved. 2 Students' answers

3 a) Tell students they are going to listen to a conversation between Ewan /'juːwən/ and Michelle about football fans.

R4.13 Give students time to read sentences 1–5, then play the recording (SB p147). Students listen and circle the correct words/phrases in each sentence. Students can check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

- 1 night
- 2 most
- 3 most
- 4 some of the things
- 5 doesn't change

b) Focus students on the vocabulary box in 2a), then play the recording again. Students listen and tick the adjectives they hear. Check answers with the class.

stupid; rude; noisy; loud; aggressive; violent; loyal; enthusiastic; spoilt; offensive

Real World softening opinions and making generalisations

4 a)–d) Focus students on the introductory bullet point. Check students understand what we mean by softening opinions and making generalisations.

Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check answers in W4.1 SB p124.

- a) 2d) 3e) 4f) 5b) 6a)
- Point out that the phrases in bold are ways to soften opinions and make generalisations. These phrases can be quantifiers (Some of them, not very, most, a bit), adverbs (quite, rather), fixed phrases (at times, Generally speaking, On the whole) or verbs (can, tend to).
- Check students understand the meaning of tend to (= usually behave in a particular way).
- Point out that we often use a lot of with rather: They tend to make rather a lot of noise.
- b) After tend to we use the infinitive: He tends to be a bit aggressive.
- Rather, quite, not very and a bit usually come before an adjective: They can get quite/rather/a bit noisy at times.
- We often put generally speaking and on the whole at the beginning of a sentence: Generally speaking/ On the whole, most football fans aren't violent at all. Also highlight that we use a comma after these phrases.
- Also point out that we usually put at times at the end of a sentence: Some of them can be quite rude at times.
- c) 1 They're not very intelligent. 2 A positive adjective.
- Check students understand that we often use 'not very + positive adjective' to criticise someone or something politely: He wasn't very polite. (= He was rude.)

- 5 RA.14 P Play the recording. Students listen and practise. Check students are copying the sentence stress correctly. Play the recording again if necessary.

You can ask students to turn to RA.14 SB p124 and follow the sentence stress while they listen and repeat.

- 6 a) Tell students that sentences 1–7 are all about children. Students do the exercise on their own. Early finishers can check their answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

- 2 They tend to be a bit spoilt. 3 They can be quite rude to their teachers at times. 4 Some of them aren't very healthy. 5 On the whole, they tend to watch quite a lot of TV. 6 Generally speaking, they're not very patient. 7 Some of them can be rather selfish.

- b) Students work in pairs and discuss whether they agree with their sentences. Encourage students to give reasons. Ask students to share any interesting differences of opinion with the class.

EXTRA IDEA

- Before doing 6b), review ways to agree and disagree with the class. Write these ways of agreeing and disagreeing on the board: Yes, definitely. Yes, I tend to agree (with that). Yes, I think that's right. I'm not sure about that. Maybe, but ... I'm not sure I agree with that. For one thing, ... Drill the phrases.

- 7 a) Students work on their own and think of reasons why they tend to agree or disagree with these sentences.

- b) Students discuss the sentences in 7a) in groups. Encourage students to use the language from 4a) in their conversations. Students should try to continue each conversation for at least 30 seconds. Finally, ask students to share any interesting opinions with the class.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews adjectives to describe character and behaviour. Students do the first part of the activity on their own. Put students into groups. If possible, include different nationalities in each group. Students take turns to say their sentences. The other students in the group say whether they agree or disagree, giving reasons for their ideas. Ask students to share interesting ideas with the class.

Vocabulary Homes

- 1 Focus students on groups 1–3 below the vocabulary box. Check they understand location and go through the examples with the class.

Students work in pairs and put the rest of words/phrases into groups 1–3. Students can then check their answers and the meaning of any new words in (VS.1) SB p125. Check answers with the class (see (VS.1) SB p125).

Check students understand the difference between the types of home. Point out that a cottage is usually in the country, and that we say a three-storey house but we live on the first floor, not the first-storey.

Tell students that in the UK the suburbs of a town/city often have a lot of detached houses and are usually quite expensive places to live. Point out that British people often say part of town to mean neighbourhood: Which part of town are you living in now?

Check students understand the difference between a basement (where people can live) and a cellar (where you put things).

Model and drill the words/phrases. Pay particular attention to the pronunciation of terraced /'terɪst/, detached /dɪ'tætʃt/, cottage /'kɒtɪdʒ/, garage /'gærɑːʒ/, suburbs /'sʌbɜːbz/, cellar /'selə/, rough /rʌf/, neighbourhood /'neɪbəhʊd/ and en-suite /ɒn'swiːt/.

Note that only the main stress in words/phrases is shown in vocabulary boxes and the Language Summaries.

- 2 a) Students do the exercise on their own. Focus students on the examples before they begin.
- b) Students compare their lists in pairs. Students choose the five most important things from both lists.
- c) Put the students in groups of four or six, or conclude the activity with the whole class. Students agree on a final list of five things in their groups or with the whole class. If you have done this stage in groups, ask each group to tell the class their top five things.
- Avoid discussing students' own homes at this stage, as they do this in 9 and 10.

Reading, Listening and Grammar

- 3 a) Focus students on the advertisement. Tell students that the places are in Manchester, in the north of England.

Pre-teach the new vocabulary in the advertisement: luxury, overlooking and spacious /'spetʃəs/.

Give students a minute or two to read the advertisement and look at the photos. Students work in groups or with the whole class and discuss which house or flat they like best, giving reasons for their answers.

b) Tell students that Ian and Liz are looking for a new place to live, and have just been to look at the three places in the advertisement. They are now back home discussing what they thought of them.

(RS.1) Play the recording (SB p147). Students listen and decide which place Ian and Liz both like. Check the answer with the class (they both like the flat in Salford).

- 4 a) Students do the exercise in pairs. Tell students not to worry about the words/phrases in colour at this stage.

b) (RS.1) Play the recording again. Students listen and check their answers to 4a). Check answers with the class. Ask students which house/flat they would prefer to live in now, giving reasons for their answers.

- 5 a)–d) Students do the exercises in pairs, then check answers in (GS.1) SB p126. Check answers with the class.

- a) 1 bigger, noisier, smaller, more spacious; further, less expensive 2 least expensive, oldest, most amazing; worst 3 We use -er and -est to make comparatives and superlatives of one-syllable adjectives (old → older, oldest, etc.), and 2-syllable adjectives ending in -y (noisy → noisier, noisiest, etc.). 4 We use more and most to make comparatives and superlatives of other 2-syllable adjectives (spacious → more spacious, most spacious, etc.), and long adjectives (amazing → more amazing, most amazing, etc.). 5 The irregular adjectives are bad → worse, worst and far → further, furthest. 6 The opposite of more is less. The opposite of most is least.

- Use sentences 2, 4 and 10 in 4a) to show that we use than after a comparative when we are comparing two things in the same sentence.
- Use sentence 3 in 4a) to highlight the common structure one of the + superlative.
- Check students remember the spelling rules in the TIPS! in 5.1 SB p126.
- Point out that we can also say far → farther, farthest and that good is also irregular (good → better, best).
- Remind students that we use the, possessive s or a possessive adjective before a superlative: It had the most amazing view. He's Peter's best friend. This is their biggest room. 'the + superlative' is the most common form.
- Also point out that we can use more or most with nouns: It's got more rooms than the last house.
- b) We use much, far or a lot before a comparative to say there's a big difference. We use slightly /'slantli/, a little or a bit before a comparative to say there's a small difference.
- Point out the difference between far as an adjective (I live far away from here) and far to say there is a big difference (It's far bigger than I thought).
- c) 1 a) the same ... as; as ... as b) similar to c) not as ... as; different from 2 With (not) as ... as we use the adjective, not its comparative form.
- Point out that we can say different from or different to. Different from is more common.

b) Give students a few moments to choose a woman/girl they know well (for example a friend or a family member). Students look at the sentences in 8a) and their rewritten versions, and choose sentences from each pair that are true for them and the woman/girl they have chosen.

c) Students work in pairs and take turns to tell their partner about the woman/girl, using the sentences they have chosen. Students should first tell their partner how they know the woman/girl before saying their sentences. Encourage students to ask follow-up questions if possible. Ask a few students to tell the class about the woman/girl they have chosen.

EXTRA IDEA

- Ask students to repeat 8b) and 8c) by talking about a man/boy they know well with a different partner.

Get ready ... Get it right!

- 9 Give students a minute or two to choose two houses/flats that their friends or family live in. They should choose places that they know well.

Focus students on the prompts and the examples, then allow students to do the exercise on their own.

Encourage students to use language from 5 that is new to them, not just simple comparatives and superlatives. While students are working, monitor and correct any mistakes you see.

- 10 a) Put students into different pairs from 8c). Students take turns to tell their partners about the two houses/flats they chose and their own home. Encourage students to ask follow-up questions and give more information where possible. While students are working, monitor and correct any mistakes you hear.

b) Each pair decides which they think is the best home of the ones they have discussed and why.

Finally, ask students to tell the class which of the homes they discussed they think is the best, giving reasons for their answers.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews ways of making comparisons. Students work on their own and write the names of five people in their family. Give students a minute or two to think how they can compare these people to themselves and other people in their family. Put students into pairs. Students take turns to tell each other about the people in their families.

Vocabulary Phrasal verbs (2)

1 a) Be prepared with definitions, examples, etc. to pre-teach the vocabulary in the box, or bring in dictionaries for students to check the meanings themselves. Point out that get rid of and keep are opposites, and that we use stuff to refer to things in general and junk to talk about things we think are useless. Point out that stuff and junk are both uncountable nouns, and are informal. Model and drill the words. Pay particular attention to the pronunciation of drawer /draʊə/ and cupboard /ˈkʌpbɔːd/.

b) Focus students on the title of the article and ask them what they think the article is about.

Students read the article, tick the true sentences and correct the false ones. Students check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

1T 2F You need at least two hours for each room.

3T 4F You put things you can't decide about in a junk drawer. 5T

c) Students discuss what they think of the advice in the article in groups or with the whole class. Find out how many students think they need to do this in their home and ask them what kind of things they need to throw out.

2 Focus students on the phrasal verbs in hold in the article. Students work in pairs and guess the meanings of these verbs. Students check their answers in V5.2 SB p125. Check answers with the class (see V5.2 SB p125).

Point out that throw away and throw out are synonyms, and that we can tidy up (I've been tidying up this morning) or tidy something up (I've tidied up the study). Model and drill the phrasal verbs. Note that the grammar of phrasal verbs is taught in lesson 10C. We suggest you don't begin teaching the rules governing the position of objects in phrasal verbs at this stage of the course.

3 Put students into pairs, student A and student B. Student A turn to SB p103 and student B turn to SB p108.

a) Students do the exercise on their own.

If necessary, check the answers with the class. Only check the words they need to fill in the gaps, so that the other group doesn't hear the questions they are about to be asked.

- b) We use be going to when we already have a plan or an intention to do something: I'm going to sort out the rest of them at the weekend.
- c) We use the Present Continuous when we have an arrangement with another person: She's picking them up tomorrow evening after work.
- Point out that the arrangement doesn't have to be in the 'near future'. The important thing is how certain we are about them: We're flying to Rio in May (we've decided on the dates and booked the flights).
- b) d) We use be going to for a prediction that is based on present evidence (we predict the future because of something we can see in the present): It's going to break the first time he uses it!
- e) We use will for a prediction that is not based on present evidence: But you'll never listen to them again.
- c) We make the positive and negative forms of will with: subject + ll (= will)/won't + infinitive. We make questions with will with: (question word) + will + subject + infinitive.

- b) Play sentence 1 and 2 again and ask students how each person says going to. Point out that in the first sentence the speaker says /gəʊɪŋtə/ and in the second the speaker says /gəʊnə/. Tell students that both ways are correct.

- c) Focus students on the sentences from 7a) on the board. Students do the exercise on their own, then check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

1b) 2d) 3c) 4a) 5e) 6c)

- 8 R5.5 P Play the recording. Students listen and practise. Check they copy the pronunciation of going to, the contractions and the weak forms correctly.

- 9 a) Focus students on the picture again and ask students what Ian and Liz are doing (sorting things out). Students do the exercise on their own.

They're going to give away the guitar. They're going to throw away the dress. They're going to keep the running shoes and the mirror.

- b) Students do the exercise on their own, then check answers in pairs.

- c) R5.6 Play the recording (SB p147). Students listen and check their answers. Check answers with the class.

1 It's going to fit 2 I'll throw 3 He's coming 4 I'll put 5 I'm going to start 6 It'll look 7 we're meeting 8 I'll finish
When Ian leaves, Liz throws out the records, the running shoes and the tennis racket, and keeps her old letters.

- 10 a) Students do the exercise on their own.

- b) Students work in groups and take turns to compare their lists. Each group then decides who is going to have the busiest or the most interesting four weeks.

Get ready ... Get it right!

- 11 Students do the exercise on their own. Make sure each student writes a list of eight things.

- 12 a) Students move around the room and try to sell or give away the things on their lists to other students. Point out that they all have £50 to spend, but remind them that they can also give items away if they choose. Tell students to try and get rid of as many items as possible. Point out the use of will in the example conversation in the speech bubbles before they start.

- b) Students work in groups and tell each other what they have sold and given away. Finally, ask each group to tell the class who made the most money and who got rid of all the items on their list.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews be going to for future plans. Focus students on the examples. Students do the activity in pairs. Ask each pair to share interesting ideas with the class.

Reading and Vocabulary

- 1 a) Focus students on the photos on SB p40. Point out that IKEA is pronounced /ai'kiə/ and use the photos to teach flatpack furniture (furniture that the customers build themselves). Students answer the questions in pairs. Ask students to share their answers with the class.

b) Students do the exercise on their own. You can set a time limit of three minutes to encourage students to read for gist. Check answers with the class.

4a) 1b) 2c) 3d)

- 2 a) Students read the article again to find out what it says about the numbers and people a)–i).
- b) Students work in pairs and take turns to tell each other about the words and numbers in 2a). Before putting students into pairs ask them to cover the article. This will encourage students to summarise the information in their own words. Students may refer to the article if they need to. Check answers with the class.

a) IKEA opened its first store in 1943. b) IKEA has over 365 million customers worldwide. c) IKEA's customers spend over £8 billion a year. d) Gillis Lundgren invented flatpack furniture. e) Russell Crowe attacked some flatpack furniture with a knife because he couldn't put it together. f) There are over 200 IKEA stores in over 30 countries. g) 6,000 people were waiting outside a new IKEA store in London when it opened for business at midnight. h) The new London store was only open for 40 minutes that night. i) The new store sold all 500 sofas that were on special offer.

- c) Discuss students' ideas with the class. Ask if they would like to shop at IKEA. Elicit reasons for their answers.

Help with Vocabulary verb patterns (1)

- 3 a) Remind students that when we use two verbs together, the form of the second verb usually depends on the first verb.
- Focus the students on the table. Ask students to find the five verbs in the left-hand column of the table (keep, need, would, pay and make) in the article and underline the verb form that follows. Use these to check students understand the five verb forms in the right-hand column.

Vocabulary verb patterns (1)

Skills Reading: A furniture empire; Listening: Shopping at IKEA

Help with Listening fillers and false starts

Review Past Simple and Past Continuous

Students work on their own and put the other verbs in bold in the article in the correct place in the table. Tell students there are two more verbs in bold for each verb pattern. Remind students to write the infinitive form.

While students are working, copy the table on the board so that you are ready to check their answers. Check answers with the class.

- a) Focus students on the table on the board. Elicit which verbs in bold go in each row and fill in the table (see the verbs in bold in the table in VS.3 SB p126).
- Tell students that in this context keep = continue, and that let someone do something = allow someone to do something.

- b)–c) Students do the exercise in pairs. Point out that some verbs can go in more than one place. Students check answers in VS.3 SB p126. Check answers with the class.

- b) Focus students on the table on the board. Elicit which verbs go in each row and complete the table (see the table in VS.3 SB p126).
- Point out that some verbs (shown in blue in VS.3) have more than one verb pattern. Both verb patterns have the same meaning.
- Also highlight that we usually say like/love/hate + verb+ing in British English (I like watching sport on TV) and like/love/hate + infinitive with to in American English (I live to watch sport on TV).

- 4 a) Students do the exercise on their own. Early finishers can check in pairs. Check answers with the class.

2 to buy 3 to get 4 to buy
5 helping/to help; choose/to choose
6 buy 7 wear 8 going/to go; do

- b) Students work in pairs and take turns to ask and answer the questions. Encourage students to ask follow-up questions if possible. Ask students to share interesting things they have found out about their partner with the class.

Listening

- 5 a) Focus students on the photo of Gillian and Sue. Ask students where the two women are (outside an IKEA store).

R5.7 Play the recording (SB p147). Students listen and answer the questions.

Check answers with the class.

Gillian doesn't like shopping at IKEA, but Sue does. They agree that things are very cheap there.

- b) Give students time to read the bullet points, then play the recording again. Students listen and make notes on each of the topics.

Students check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

GILLIAN

- She loves the things they sell. They're good quality and well designed.
- She'd prefer to have more personal service. She can never find anyone to help her.
- On Saturdays the queues are enormous.
- Putting the furniture together drives her crazy. There are always bits missing, which is very frustrating.

SUE

- There aren't many shop assistants. She doesn't like shop assistants who ask you if you want help all the time.
- She always seems to buy things she didn't plan to buy, like candles, glasses and plants.
- She furnished an empty flat in Paris with things she bought during one trip to IKEA.
- She was able to put the furniture together quite easily.

Help with Listening Fillers and false starts

- This Help with Listening section focuses on ways we give ourselves time to think when we are speaking.

- 6 a) Focus students on the introductory bullet and highlight the examples of fillers and false starts. Students do the exercise on their own, then check in pairs. Check answers with the class. Point out that fillers have no meaning and we use them to give us 'thinking time' when we're deciding what to say next.

Note that students often confuse fillers such as like, kind of, sort of, etc. with other uses of these words: What is he like?, What kind of place is it?, What sort of music do you like?, etc.

1 fillers er, er, let me think 2 fillers I mean, well, like; false start Everything's ... 3 fillers you know, um, kind of; false start You can never ... 4 fillers You see, um, sort of; false start I haven't ...

- b) R5.7 Ask students to turn to R5.7, SB p147.

Play Gillian's section of the recording and ask students to listen and notice all the fillers and false starts. (The fillers and false starts are underlined in the recording script.)

Then play Sue's section of the recording. Students listen and underline all the fillers and false starts.

Check answers with the class by playing Sue's section of the recording again and pausing after each sentence to elicit students' answers.

Er, well, IKEA's more like a supermarket than a department store. I mean at IKEA you get your trolley or, um, your big blue bag and away you go. You see, there isn't ... there aren't many assistants so no one's like asking you if you want any help all the time. I hate that, I just kind of want people to let me walk around on my own. But I, um, ... I always seem to buy lots of little things, candles and, er, glasses and plants, you know, stuff that I didn't actually plan to buy. But you can furnish an entire house in a day; in fact we did, er ... when we lived in Paris. Well, it wasn't a house actually. We got, um, we rented an unfurnished flat and there was nothing in it, obviously. So, um, we went to IKEA and bought loads of things and you know, just took them home in the back of the car. We were, um, ... we were able to put all the furniture together quite easily, and by the evening, we had a furnished flat. And everything was like really cheap. I mean, what more do you want from a store?

- 7 a) Tell students that they are going to make a shopping survey for the class. Focus students on question 1 and point out the three possible answers.

Students work in pairs and write three possible answers for questions 2–5.

Each pair then writes two more questions of their own, each with three possible answers.

While students are working, monitor and check they are doing the activity correctly.

Also check students' own questions for accuracy.

- b) Students move around the room and interview five other students.

Students should interview the five students on their own, not in their pairs. Remind students to make notes on their answers.

If your students aren't able to move around the room, ask one student in each pair to swap places with someone else in a different area of the classroom. They can then interview five students that are sitting near them.

While students are working, monitor and correct any mistakes you hear.

c) Students work with their partner from 7a). Students compare their results and work out the number of a), b) and c) answers they have for each question in their survey. Ask each pair to tell the class the two most interesting things they found out.

8 a) Students work in the same pairs and write a short report on the results of their survey.

EXTRA IDEA

- Write these phrases on the board to help students with their report: Most people ... ; Almost everyone ... ; Six out of ten students ... ; Hardly anyone in the class ... ; No one in the class ... ; About half the class ...

b) Students swap reports with other students. Students read the reports and decide if they agree with them or not. Finally, ask students to tell the class if they agree with their classmates' reports, giving reasons for their answers.

QUICK REVIEW

This activity reviews verb patterns. Students write five sentences about themselves, using the prompts. If they need to check any verb patterns, they can look at V5.3 SB p126. Put students into pairs. Students take turns to say their sentences and ask follow-up questions. Ask students to share any interesting information with the class.

1 a) Students work on their own and tick the words they know. Students then do the exercise in V5.4 SB p126. Check answers with the class. Model and drill the words.

V5.4 2e) 3g) 4a) 5l) 6d) 7i) 8j) 9b) 10k) 11h) 12f)

b) Students do the exercise in pairs. While they are working, monitor and help with any vocabulary. Also make sure that they are writing the things in random order, not in the order of the vocabulary box in 1a).

c) Students swap papers with another pair and write the correct materials next to the things on the paper.

d) Students check their answers to 1c) with the pair who wrote the list.

2 a) Focus students on the photo of Lars and ask students who he's talking to (a shop assistant). Tell students that Lars needs to buy some things for his new house.

R5.6 Play the recording (SB p148). Students listen to four conversations that Lars has with different shop assistants and tick the things in photos A-G that he buys.

Check answers with the class by asking students to tell you the letter for each picture only. Don't tell them the words for the things he bought at this stage.

Lars buys items E, B, G and C.

b) Students do the exercise in pairs.

Review verb patterns

c) Play the recording again. Students listen and check that they have identified the things Lars bought correctly. Check answers with the class.

Model and drill the new vocabulary, focusing on stress.

E = a corkscrew; B = stain remover; G = drawing pins;
C = a charger

Real World Explaining what you need

3 a)-c) Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in RW5.1 SB p127. Check answers with the class.

- a) a) saying you don't know the name of something
b) describing what something is used for
c) describing what something looks like
d) checking something is the right thing
- b) We often use stuff to talk about uncountable nouns we don't know the name of: It's stuff for getting marks off your clothes.
- After It's a thing for ... and It's stuff for ... we use verb+ing: It's a thing for opening bottles of wine.
- After You use it/them ... we use the infinitive with to: You use them to put posters up on the wall.
- Also remind students that we also use stuff to talk about things in general, as in lesson 5B: Is your home full of stuff that you never use?
- Point out that we often say Excuse me? to get people's attention in shops.

4 R5.9 P Play the recording. Students listen and practise. Check students copy the sentence stress correctly.

- 5 a) Pre-teach mend, hole and perfume. Students do the exercise on their own.

- b) Students check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

L I'm looking for something to mend my clothes.

SA Do you mean cotton? This stuff?

L No, they're made of metal. They've got a hole/holes in the end.

SA Oh, you mean needles.

L It's a thing for boiling water. I'm sorry, I don't know the word for it.

SA Do you mean one of these?

L Yes, that's it. What's it called in English?

SA A kettle.

L It's stuff for making things smell nice. I've forgotten what it's called.

SA Do you mean perfume? Like this?

L No, you use it when you want to make the house smell better.

SA Oh, you mean air freshener.

needles = A; a kettle = F; air freshener = D

- c) Students practise the conversations in 5a) with their partner. Encourage students to memorise the conversations.

Ask a few pairs to role-play the conversations for the class.

EXTRA IDEA

- Do these conversations using a Dialogue Build (p21).

- 6 Put students into new pairs, student A and student B. Student As turn to SB p104 and student Bs turn to SB p109.

- a) Focus students on the pictures. Tell students that they want to buy these things, but don't know the English words for them. Students work on their own and decide how they can explain them to a shop assistant. Encourage students to make notes on what they're going to say. Tell them not to write the whole conversation.

- b) Students work with their partners. Student A is the customer and student B is the shop assistant.

Student A buys the things in a) from his/her partner's shop, using the language he/she has prepared. When student B understands what student A is describing, he/she tells him/her the English word. Student A writes the word in the correct place in his/her book. Students are not allowed to look at their partner's book. Note that the shop assistants have four things in their shop that the customers don't want to buy.

- c) Students swap roles, so that student A is the shop assistant and student B is the customer.

- d) Students work in pairs and check their answers.

Ask how many students bought all four things they wanted.

Finally, model and drill the new words and the words for the other things in the shops that students didn't buy.

Ask students to turn to SB p100 and look at Our House. This song was written and recorded by the English band Madness in 1982.

Students discuss the questions in groups. Ask students to share interesting childhood memories with the class.

2

- a) EX. 10 Students read the song. Play the recording. Students listen and put the lines of the song in order.

- b) Students check answers in pairs.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews materials and ways of describing things. Students work on their own and write a list of six things in their house. Put students into pairs. Students take turns to describe the things and guess what their partner's things are, as in the example. Students must not say the word for the thing itself.

Vocabulary make and do

- 1 a) Students do the exercise on their own or in pairs. Students check their answers in V6.1 SB p128. Check answers with the class (see V6.1 SB p128). Point out these patterns:
- We often use make for 'food' words: make lunch, etc.
 - We often use do for 'study' words: do homework, etc.
 - We usually use do for jobs connected with the house: do the cleaning, etc.

Highlight that we use do with nothing, something and anything: I'm not doing anything this weekend. Check students understand the difference between do exercise (go for a run, etc.) and do an exercise (in the Workbook, etc.). Point out that we say do the washing-up in British English and do the dishes in American English, and that make a decision and make up your mind are synonyms. Highlight that we use make an appointment with a doctor, etc., not with friends. We usually use arrange to meet with friends: I've arranged to meet a friend after work.

Model and drill the phrases with make and do. Note that only the main stress in words/phrases is shown in vocabulary boxes and the Language Summaries.

- b) Students work in pairs and take turn to test each other on the phrases in 1a, as shown in the speech bubbles.

- 2 a) Students do the exercise on their own. Check answers with the class.

2 done 3 making 4 does 5 doing 6 make 7 doing
8 made 9 do 10 make

- b) Focus students on the example questions. Students work on their own and make yes/no questions for the other sentences in 2a. Check answers with the class.

Are you good at making people laugh?
Do you usually do the washing-up every day?
Do you like doing nothing at the weekend?
Do you usually have to make dinner for other people?
Are you doing another course at the moment?
Have you made some new friends this year?
Are you going to do some shopping after class?
Do you often have to make excuses for being late?

Review question forms

- c) Students move around the room and ask other students their questions, or ask as many people as they can sitting near them. When they find a student who answers yes, they write the person's name next to the question. Students then ask one or two follow-up questions to find out more information. Students should try and find a different person who answers yes for each question.

Ask students to tell the class a few things they found out about their classmates.

Listening and Grammar

- 3 a) Students discuss the questions in groups. Ask students to share interesting ideas with the class.

- b) Focus students on the photos and tell the class that Kate and Steve are sister and brother. Give students time to read questions 1–3.

Divide the class into pairs, student A and student B. Tell student As to answer the questions about Kate and student Bs to answer the questions about Steve.

BB.1 Play the recording (SB p148). Students listen and answer the questions about Kate or Steve.

- c) Students work in their pairs and tell their partner their answers. Students then discuss what they think Kate and Steve should do.

Check answers with the class. Ask students what their advice is for Kate and Steve.

KATE

1 No, she doesn't. 2 She has to decide if she should go back to work as a French teacher, or go to university to do Business Studies. 3 She advises Steve to work part-time and write on his days off.

STEVE

1 Yes, he does. He's a doctor. 2 He's trying to decide if he should leave his job and become a writer. 3 He advises Kate to ask their parents to lend her some money, and also to do what will make her happiest.

- 4 a) Students do the exercise in the same pairs. Don't check answers with the class at this stage.

- b) BB.1 Play the recording again. Students listen and check their answers to 4a. Check answers with the class.

1 Kate 2 Steve 3 Steve 4 Kate 5 Kate 6 Kate 7 Steve 8 Steve 9 Kate

Help with Grammar First conditional and future time clauses

- 5 a)–d) Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in 66.1 SB p129. Check answers with the class.

- a) The main clause is I'll be exhausted after a year. The if clause is If I start teaching again.
- b) a) First conditional sentences talk about the result of a possible event or situation in the future.
b) The if clause talks about things that are possible, but not certain (maybe I will start teaching again). The main clause says what we think the result will be in this situation (I'm sure I will be exhausted after a year).
- c) We make the first conditional with: if + Present Simple, will/won't + infinitive.
- d) The if clause can be first or second in the sentence.
- e) We often use might to mean 'will perhaps'.
- Point out that when the if clause is first in the sentence, we use a comma after this clause: If I see him, I'll ask him to call you. When the main clause is first in the sentence, we don't use a comma: I'll ask him to call you if I see him.
- c) a) We often use unless to mean 'if not' in first conditional sentences. b) But if I don't do it now, I'll be too old.

- 6 a)–b) Students do 6a) on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in 66.2 SB p129. Check answers with the class.

- a) a) These sentences with before, as soon as, after, until and when also talk about the future.
- b) In these sentences we use will/won't + infinitive in the main clause: I'll believe it when I see it!
- c) We use the Present Simple in the clauses beginning with before, as soon as, after, until and when: I won't tell them until I decide what to do.
- Point out that we use when to say we are certain that something will happen: I'll tell Sally when I see her (I'm certain I will see Sally). I'll tell Sally if I see her (maybe I will see Sally).
- We use as soon as to say that something will happen immediately after something else: As soon as I make up my mind, I'll let you know.
- As with first conditional sentences, the future time clause with before, when, etc. can come first or second in the sentence.

- 7 R6.2 P Play the recording (SB p148). Students listen and practise. Check students copy the contraction I'll /'aɪəl/ and the sentence stress correctly. You can also ask students to turn to R6.2, SB p148. They can then follow the sentence stress as they listen and practise.

- 8 Focus students on the example. Students do the exercise on their own, then check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

2 I'll come out tonight unless I have to work.
3 He might call you if he gets home in time. 4 I'll have to move house if I don't find a job soon. 5 Unless Tony arrives soon, we'll go without him. 6 I might go away this weekend if my friends don't come to visit.

- 9 Students do the exercise on their own before checking in pairs. Check answers with the class.

2 I'll make; do 3 I'll do 4 do; I'll do 5 make 6 I'll do 7 make; do 8 I'll make 9 I'll do; make

EXTRA IDEA

- Before doing 9, ask students to close their books. Then give students two minutes to write down all the phrases with make and do that they can remember. Students can check their answers in pairs or groups.

- 10 a) Students complete the sentences for themselves.

b) Students work in pairs and take turns to say their sentences. Encourage students to ask follow-up questions. Students tick any of their sentences that are the same. Pairs tell the class any sentences that are the same.

Get ready ... Get it right!

- 11 Put students into groups of three, student A, student B and student C. Student As turn to SB p103, student Bs turn to SB p108 and student Cs turn to SB p112.

a) Tell students they have a problem. Students read about their problem and think of three ways they can deal with it. They decide what will happen if they choose each of the options. Focus students on the example.

b) Students work with the other members of their group. Students take turns to tell the group about their problem (in their own words, if possible), and their three options. Students discuss what will happen if they choose each option. Other students can suggest other options. Encourage students to use first conditionals and sentences with future time clauses in their conversations.

c) Students decide what to do to solve their problems. The rest of the group decides if they think the solution is the correct one or not.

Finally, ask students to tell the class how they are planning to solve their problems.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews expressions with make and do. Give students a minute or two to write their six phrases with make and do that are connected to their lives, or the lives of people they know. Students work in pairs and take turns to tell their partner why they chose these phrases, as in the example. Students ask one or two follow-up questions for each phrase. Ask students to share ideas with the class.

Reading and Grammar

1 Focus students on the title of the lesson and pre-teach protective. Ask students whether either of the two photos reminds them of their own childhood.

Check students understand the difference between things that parents make children do (things that children don't want to do) and things that parents let them do (things children want to do).

Students discuss the questions in groups. Ask each group to share interesting ideas with the class. If you have students with children, ask them how their children spend their free time and how they feel about their children's choice of activities.

— EXTRA IDEA —

- To review make and let in more detail, write these ideas on the board before doing 1: 1 go to bed early 2 go to bed late 3 tidy your room 4 play computer games 5 watch as much TV as you want 6 wash your hands before meals 7 sleep at a friend's house 8 do jobs around the house 9 eat all your vegetables 10 put posters up in your room. Ask students to decide which things parents make children do (1, 3, 6, 8, 9) and which things parents let children do (2, 4, 5, 7, 10). Students can then use these phrases as a basis for discussion in 1.

2 a) Be prepared with definitions, examples, etc. to pre-teach the vocabulary in the box, or bring in dictionaries for students to check the meanings themselves.

Note that the aim of these boxes is to highlight which words you need to pre-teach to help students understand the text that follows. The vocabulary in these boxes is not in the Language Summaries in the Student's Book.

b) Focus students on the article. Students read the article and choose a sentence that describes the article best. You can set a time limit of two minutes to encourage students to read for gist.

Check the answer with the class (sentence 2).

3 Students do the exercise on their own, then check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

Ask students for their opinion on the content of the article. Ask students to give reasons for their answers.

4 a)–d) Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in 60.3 SB p129. Check answers with the class.

- a) Zero conditionals talk about things that are always true: If you have children, you worry about them all the time.
- In zero conditionals both verbs are in the Present Simple: If children stay indoors all the time, they become unfit.
- Point out that if and when have the same meaning in zero conditionals: If/When I'm worried, I don't sleep very well.
- Focus students on the 'Zero or first conditional' section in 60.3 SB p129 to clarify the difference between these two conditional forms.
- b) a) sentences 3 and 4 b) sentence 5 c) the Present Simple
- Use the example sentences in the article to highlight that we can use modal verbs (should, can, etc.) and imperatives (give, don't tell, etc.) in the main clause of conditionals. As with first conditionals, we use the Present Simple in the if clause in these types of conditionals.
- Point out that we can use other modal verbs (must, have to, might, etc.) in these types of conditionals: If you don't understand, you must tell me immediately.
- c) We use in case to say that we are prepared for something that might happen.
- In case and if have different meanings.
- To highlight the difference between in case and if, write on the board: A I'll buy some water in case I get thirsty. B I'll buy some water if I get thirsty. Person A is definitely going to buy some water, so that he/she is prepared for a time in the future when he/she might get thirsty. Person B might buy some water, but only if he/she gets thirsty in the future.

- 5 R6.3 P Play the recording (SB p148). Students listen and practise. Check students copy the sentence stress correctly. Play the recording again if necessary. You can ask students to turn to R6.3, SB p148 and to follow the sentence stress as they listen and practise.

- 6 a) Pre-teach urgently /'ɜːdʒəntli/ and check students remember thirsty /'θɜːsti/. Students do the exercise on their own before checking in pairs. Check answers with the class.

1 if; don't get 2 have; in case; get 3 if; need; call
4 should start; in case; lose 5 can't work; if; is playing

- b) Students do the exercise on their own.

- c) Students work in pairs and find out how many sentences they have both ticked.

Ask students to share these sentences with the class.

Help with Listening

first conditional

- This Help with Listening section helps students to hear the difference between zero conditionals and first conditionals.

- 7 a) Focus students on the example sentences and ask students which is a zero conditional (the first sentence) and which is a first conditional (the second sentence).

R6.4 Play the recording. Students listen and notice the difference between the sentences. Highlight the contracted form they'll in the first conditional sentence.

- b) R6.5 Play the recording (SB p148).

Students listen and write the sentences they hear. Play the recording again if necessary.

Students check answers in pairs and decide which are zero conditionals and which are first conditionals.

Play the recording again, pausing after each sentence.

E Elicit each sentence and write it on the board. Ask students if each sentence is a zero conditional or a first conditional.

1 If I don't know where my children are, I worry a lot. (zero)
2 If they don't do more exercise, they'll get fat. (first)
3 We'll pick up the kids if we have time. (first)
4 If it's a nice day, I take them to the park. (zero)
5 If they can't sleep, I'll read them a story. (first)
6 They play computer games all day if they can. (zero)

reflexive pronouns

- 8 a)–c) Focus students on sentences 1–3 from the article and tell the class that themselves is called a reflexive pronoun.

Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in V6.2 SB p128. Check answers with the class.

- a) In sentence 1, They and themselves are the same people.
- In sentence 2, by themselves means alone.
- In sentence 3, themselves emphasises that children do this instead of someone else.
- b) myself, yourself, himself, herself, itself, ourselves, yourselves, themselves. Model and drill these words with the class. Point out that the stress is always on the second syllable.
- If appropriate, point out that some verbs that are reflexive in other languages aren't reflexive in English, for example meet, relax and feel.
- Highlight that we usually say have a wash/shave, not wash/shave myself, and get dressed not dress myself.
- Also highlight that we often use reflexive pronouns with the verb enjoy: I really enjoyed myself last night.
- Teach students that we can say on my own, on your own, etc. instead of by myself, by yourself, etc.: I enjoy living by myself/on my own.
- Use the pictures in V6.2 SB p128 to highlight the difference between themselves and each other.

- 9 Students do the exercise on their own before checking answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

2 himself 3 ourselves 4 herself 5 myself 6 themselves
7 myself

EXTRA IDEA

- Students think of three things they like doing by themselves and three things they don't, for example I (don't) like going to the cinema by myself. Students compare sentences in groups.

Get ready ... Get it right!

- 10 Focus students on the examples. Students work in pairs and write their top ten tips for parents. Students should make sentences using zero conditionals, conditionals with modal verbs and imperatives, and in case.

- 11 a) Students work in groups of four with another pair. Students take turns to tell each other their tips. Then the group decides on the best ten tips.

b) Either organise the class into larger groups, or conclude the activity with the whole class. Students decide which they think are the best ten tips. If students have done this stage in groups, ask each group to tell the class their top ten tips.

Finally, ask students to choose the best tip for parents.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews zero conditionals. Students work on their own and think about what they usually do in these situations. Put students into groups of three or four. Students take turns to tell each other their ideas, as in the example. Ask each group to share interesting ideas with the class.

Vocabulary and Listening

- 1 a) Tell the class that the lesson is about luck and superstition. Focus students on photos A–H. Students do the exercise on their own or in pairs. Check answers with the class. Note that these words are not in Language Summary 6.

Model and drill the words/phrases.

A a black cat B salt C a shooting star D a ladder
E wood F a mirror G an umbrella H a lucky charm

- b) Pre-teach make a wish and spill.

Focus students on the common British superstitions 1–7. Students do the exercise on their own, then check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

2 a ladder; an umbrella 3 a mirror 4 a lucky charm
5 a shooting star 6 wood 7 salt

- 2 Students discuss the questions in groups. Include students from different countries in each group if possible. Ask students to share interesting ideas and superstitions with the class. Find out which is the most popular superstition.

- 3 a) Be prepared with definitions, examples, etc. to pre-teach the vocabulary in the box, or bring in dictionaries for students to check the meanings themselves. Model and drill the words/phrases with the class, focusing on stress.

- b) Tell students that they are going to listen to two friends, Edward and Charlotte, talking about superstitions.

R6.6 Focus students on sentences 1–7 in 1b, then play the recording (SB p149). Students listen and tick the superstitions that Edward and Charlotte talk about. Check answers with the class.

Edward and Charlotte talk about: 1 (black cats); 3 (breaking mirrors); 4 (lucky charms/a rabbit's foot); 6 (touching wood); 7 (spilling salt)

- c) Give students time to read sentences 1–5 before playing the recording again. Students listen and complete the sentences. Students check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

Help with Listening

- This Help with Listening section reviews and extends students' understanding of sentence stress, which they studied in lessons 1B and 1C.

- 4 a) Students do the exercise on their own. Check answers with the class. If necessary, check that students know all the parts of speech by eliciting a few examples of each one.

We usually stress nouns, verbs, adjectives and negative auxiliaries.

We don't usually stress pronouns, prepositions, connecting words and positive auxiliaries.

- b) Focus students on the beginning of the conversation between Edward and Charlotte. Students work in pairs and decide which words are stressed. Early finishers can check their answers with another pair.

✎ While students are working, copy the beginning of the conversation onto the board ready for checking.

- c) R6.6 Play the recording again. Students listen to the beginning of the conversation and check their answers.

✎ Check answers with the class by playing each sentence, then pausing and eliciting which words are stressed. Mark the stressed words on the board.

Ask students if question words (Why, etc.) and adverbs (very, absolutely, etc.) are usually stressed (they are).

EDWARD Charlotte, are you very superstitious?

CHARLOTTE No, not really. Why do you ask?

EDWARD I'm reading this absolutely fascinating book about the history of superstitions. Did you know that in the UK, people think that seeing a black cat is good luck, but in nearly every other country it's bad luck? Don't you think that's strange?

- d) Ask students to turn to R6.6, SB p149. Play the rest of the recording. Students listen and notice the sentence stress.

Reading and Vocabulary

- 5 a) Student discuss the questions in groups. Ask each group to tell the class about things they have won and their reasons why they think people are or aren't born lucky.
- b) Be prepared with definitions, examples, etc. to pre-teach the vocabulary in the box, or bring in dictionaries for students to check the meanings themselves. You can also teach a pessimist as the opposite of an optimist, and point out that volunteer is also a verb. Model and drill the words with the class.
- 6 a) Focus students on the article. Students read the article and choose the correct answers. Check answers with the class.
- 1 studies luck 2 doesn't think 3 can
- b) Students read the article again and answer the questions. Early finishers can check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.
- Ask students if they agree with Dr Wiseman's ideas, giving reasons for their answers.
- 1 No, she didn't. 2 For ten years. 3 Yes, they do.
4 To teach unlucky people to be lucky. 5 80% (320).

Synonyms

- 7 a) Tell students that we often use synonyms (words that mean the same, or almost the same) when we are speaking or writing so that we don't repeat words. Focus students on the words in pink in the article. Check students know the meanings of all the words. Be prepared to teach any of these words if necessary.
- b) Focus students on the words in blue in the article. Students work on their own and match them to the synonyms in the table. Remind students to write the infinitive forms of the verbs.
-  While students are working, copy the table onto the board ready for checking. Check answers with the class. Model and drill the words. Pay particular attention to the pronunciation of fortunate /'fɔ:tənət/. Point out that the stress on content is on the second syllable, not the first.
- satisfied → content; lucky → fortunate; behave → act; notice → spot; by chance → accidentally; attitude → approach; sure → certain; deal with → cope with;
show → reveal
- c)-d) Students do the exercise on their own or in pairs, then check answers in V6.3 SB p128. Note that most of these words/phrases have appeared earlier in the Student's Book.
- Check answers with the class. Model and drill the words/phrases, focusing on sentence stress.

Note that try + infinitive with to means 'attempt to do' or 'make an effort to do': I'm trying to get a job with a TV company. Try + verb+ing means 'do something as an experiment to see if it works': Have you tried talking to him about it? This meaning was introduced in lesson 2D.

frightened → scared; make a decision → make up your mind; try to do → have a go at doing; talk to someone → chat to someone; nice → pleasant; enormous → huge; pleased → glad; wonderful → brilliant; terrible → awful

- 9 Students do the exercise in pairs. One student says a word, for example choose, and his/her partner says the synonym, for example pick. You can ask the student who is being tested to close his/her book.
- 9 Put students into two groups, group A and group B. Students in group A turn to SB p103 and students in group B turn to SB p108.
- a) Students work in pairs with someone from the same group and write the synonyms for the words in bold. Students can check words in V6.3 SB p128.
- If necessary, check answers with the class. Only check the synonyms, so that the other group doesn't hear the questions they are about to be asked.
- Group A 2 satisfied 3 make up your mind 4 chat 10 5 scared 6 lucky
- Group B 2 by chance 3 attitude 4 concerned
5 coping with 6 had a go at doing
- b) Students work in pairs with someone from the other group. Students take turns to ask and answer their questions. Make sure students say the questions with the synonym they have just written, as well as all three possible answers. Students circle the answers that their partner chooses.
- c) Students work out their partner's score on their own.
- d) Students tell their partner his/her score before looking at SB p141 to find out what their score means. Students then decide who is luckier.
- Ask students to tell the class their scores to find out who is the luckiest student in the class!
- Finally, ask students if they think the summary of how lucky they are is correct or not, giving reasons for their answers.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews synonyms. Students work on their own and write all the pairs of synonyms they know, as in the example. Students work in pairs and take turns to say one of their words/phrases. Their partner guesses the synonym.

- 1 Students discuss the questions in groups.
Ask students to share any interesting experiences of music festivals with the class. Also check students' answers to questions 2–4.

- 2 a) Focus students on the picture and tell students that the people are at a local village meeting in the UK.
Go through the bullet points with the class and teach chairperson, local resident and farmer.
Students work on their own or in pairs and match the people listed in the bullet points to the people in the picture. Don't check answers at this stage.

- b) R6.7 Play the recording (SB p149). Students listen to the beginning of the meeting and check their answers to 2a).

Check answers with the class. Also ask students what the meeting is about.

Sarah Clark: the chairperson
Sergeant Jim Matthews: a police officer
Terry Gibson: the festival organiser Felicity Richards: a local resident
Paul Davidson: a local farmer

The meeting is about an application for a music festival on Mr Davidson's farm.

- 3 a) R6.8 Play the recording (SB p149). Students listen to the next part of the meeting and find out who is for and who is against the festival. Check answers with the class.

For the festival: Terry Gibson, Paul Davidson.
Against the festival: Sergeant Jim Matthews, Felicity Richards.
Neither for nor against the festival: Sarah Clark.

- b) Give students time to read sentences 1–6, then play the recording again. Students listen, tick the true sentences and correct the false ones. Students check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

1T 2F There will be 30,000 people at the festival. 3T
4F Most people going to the festival won't pass through the village because it's over four miles away. 5F The live music will stop at midnight. 6F Sergeant Matthews is most worried about the traffic.

EXTRA IDEA

- Students decide if sentences 1–6 are true or false before they listen again to check their answers.

- c) Students work in groups of three or four and discuss whether Sarah Clark should give permission for the festival. Encourage students to give reasons for their answers.

Ask each group to tell the class if they think the festival should go ahead or not, giving reasons for their answers. You can then have a class vote on whether to allow the festival to go ahead.

Real World discussion language

- 4 a)–b) Students do 4a) on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in RW6.1 SB p129. Check answers with the class.

- 2 opinion 3 think 4 true 5 absolutely 6 with 7 not 8 sure 9 agree 10 interrupt 11 say 12 point 13 ahead 14 course 15 just 16 making
- Point out that we often use I'm not sure about that as a polite way of disagreeing.

EXTRA IDEA

- R6.8 Ask students to look at R6.8, SB p149. Play the recording again. Students listen and underline all the discussion language from 4a) that they hear.

- 5 R6.9 P Play the recording (SB p149). Students listen and practise. Check students copy the sentence stress and polite intonation correctly. Play the recording again if necessary.

You can also ask students to turn to R6.9, SB p149. They can then follow the sentence stress as they listen and practise.

- 6 a) Students work on their own and think of reasons why they agree or disagree with sentences 1–6. Encourage students to make brief notes on their ideas.

- b) Put students into groups of four. Students discuss each topic for at least a minute. Encourage students to use the phrases from 4a) in their discussions. Focus students on the language in the speech bubbles before they start. While they are working, monitor and help students with appropriate language.

6D and 6 Review

When they have finished, ask each group which topic generated the most discussion and what the different points of view were.

EXTRA IDEAS

- To encourage students to use a wide range of discussion language, tell them to tick each phrase in 4a on SB p50 when they use it. Students should try to use all the phrases in their discussions.
- To avoid students interrupting each other too often, tell the class that each student can only interrupt twice during the whole activity.

- 7 Put students into four groups. Students in group A turn to SB p104, students in group B turn to SB p109, students in group C turn to SB p112 and students in group D turn to SB p113. Check they are all looking at the correct exercise. Include an equal number of students in each group. If you have extra students, put them in groups A, B and C.

a) Give students a minute or two to read the information and check they understand the situation. Note that money from the National Lottery in the UK is often spent on community projects.

Students work in pairs with a student from the same group. If you have extra students, have some groups of three. Students follow the instructions.

While they are working, monitor and help students with language and ideas. Allow about 5 or 10 minutes for this stage.

b) Give students a few moments to read their instructions. Check that student Ds understand how to run their meetings and remind them that they are in control of who speaks during the meeting.

Reorganise the class into groups of four, with a student from groups A, B, C and D in each group. If you have extra students, have some groups of five or six. Ask student Ds to start the meeting.

While students are discussing their ideas, monitor and help with language as necessary.

Allow at least 10 or 15 minutes for this stage of the activity. Warn students when time is running out so that they have time to vote on which idea they want to choose.

c) Finally, ask each chairperson to tell the class which idea their group chose, giving reasons for their decision.

EXTRA IDEA

- While students are working, note down any mistakes and examples of good language you hear.  Write them on the board. After discussing the outcome of the meetings, focus students on the language on the board and invite them to correct the mistakes in pairs or with the whole class. Also highlight the examples of good language that you heard.

Point out that we can say the Net or the Web instead of the Internet: I found a cheap flight on the Net.

Highlight that we say broadband in British English and ADSL in American English.

- b) Students compare their answers to the questionnaire in pairs to find out how many are the same.
- c) Ask students to turn to SB p141. Students check their answers and then read what their score means. Students share their scores with the class. Ask students if they agree with the questionnaire's assessment.

- a) Things you can do now: manage, 'm quite good at; can; find this quite easy; know how; 'm able to. Things you can't do now: 'm ... useless at; haven't got a clue how; have no idea how; find it difficult, 'm no good at. Ability in the past: was able to; could.
 - We can also use the other phrases to talk about ability in the past: I managed to do this, etc.
 - b) 1 Yes, he/she did. 2 It was difficult.
 - c) 2 verb+ing 3 infinitive 4–8 infinitive with to
 - Point out that we can also use find something easy/difficult without 'infinitive with to: I find using a computer really difficult.
 - Highlight that we can also use a noun or a pronoun after be good at, be useless at, etc.: Mark's really useless at football, but Chris is brilliant at it.
 - d) We can also use: be brilliant/great/excellent/not bad at to say people are good at something and be hopeless/bad/terrible/awful/rubbish at to say people are bad at something.
 - Point out that it is often more polite to say: I'm not bad at something when we're very good at it.

- 5 R7.1 P Play the recording (SB p149). Students listen and practise. Check students copy the sentence stress and the weak forms of /to/ and /at/.

EXTRA IDEA

- Ask students to think about the computer skills their parents and grandparents have. Students can swap information in pairs or groups.

- 7 a) Pre-teach fix (= repair). You can also teach touch-type (type without looking at the keyboard). Students work on their own and write sentences for each of the prompts, as in the example. Encourage students to use a different phrase from 4c) for each idea.

b) Students compare sentences in pairs to find out what they can do that their partner can't. Ask students to share this information with the class.

Get ready ... Get it right!

- 8 Students do the exercise on their own. Students should write sentences about their abilities in general, not about computers. Encourage them to use phrases from 4c) and point out that some of their sentences can be about the past.

While students are working, monitor and correct any mistakes you see.

EXTRA IDEA

- If you think your students might have problems thinking of ideas in 8, write some prompts on the board, for example musical instruments, machines in the home, mobile phones, mornings, cooking, cars, languages, saving money, abilities as a child, choosing presents for people, doing exams, jobs around the house, singing, dancing, sports.

- 9 a) Put students into pairs. Students take turns to say one of their sentences from 8. Their partner can ask two questions only about each sentence before guessing if it is true or false. The student who gets most guesses right wins.

b) Ask students who got the most guesses right in each pair.

Finally, students tell the class two things that their partner can or can't do.

Tell students that we sometimes use brand names to talk about hand-held computers (Palm®, BlackBerry®, etc.) and other types of digital music players (an iPod®, etc.). Point out that we can say a GPS (global positioning system) or sat nav (satellite navigation). They are often installed in cars and tell us where we are and how to get to places. Also point out that we can say a hands-free phone or a hands-free set.

Explain that we use central heating to talk about the heating system in a house, flat or building: Has your house got central heating? You can teach students that the machine that heats the water is called a boiler, which sends hot water through the pipes to the radiators in each room. Similarly, we use air conditioning to talk about the cooling system in a house, flat or building: Our office has got air conditioning. An individual machine is called an air conditioner or an air conditioning unit.

Model and drill the words/phrases, focusing on stress. Pay particular attention to the pronunciation of straighteners /'streɪtənəz/.

b) Students do the exercise on their own.

c) Students compare answers in groups. Ask each group which things all the students in the group have or want.

2 a) Students work in pairs and put the things in order, starting with the most useful (1).

b) Students compare answers with another pair, giving reasons for their choices.

Ask each pair to tell the class what they think the top three most useful things are. Encourage students to explain why they chose these things.

Listening and Grammar

3 a) Focus students on the people in the photos and tell students that they are going to listen to them talk about things from 1a). Students guess which of the things in 1a) the three people talk about.

b) R7.3 Play the recording (SB p150). Students listen and check their answers. Check answers with the class.

Don talks about air conditioning. Holly talks about hair straighteners. Kathy talks about a GPS.

c) Pre-teach clown. Students do the exercise on their own or in pairs.

d) Play the recording again. Students listen and check their answers to 3c). Check answers with the class and ask if the people have the things they talk about.

1 Holly 2 Kathy 3 Don 4 Kathy 5 Don 6 Holly
Don and Holly have the things they talk about, but Kathy doesn't.

Help with Grammar

the second conditional

4 a)–e) Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in 67.2 SB p131. Check answers with the class.

- a) We use the second conditional to talk about imaginary situations. We often use it to talk about the opposite of what is true or real: If my car had a GPS, life would be so much easier (but my car doesn't have a GPS).
- The second conditional talks about the present or the future.
- The if clause can be first or second in the sentence.
- b) 1 the second sentence 2 the first sentence
- c) We make the second conditional with: if + subject + Past Simple, subject + 'd (= would) / wouldn't + infinitive.
- Point out that we can say If I/he/she/it was ... or If I/he/she/it were ... in the second conditional: If I was/were rich, I'd buy a big house.
- Tell students that we can use could + infinitive in the main clause of the second conditional to talk about ability: If I had a lot of money, I could buy a new car (= I would be able to buy a new car).
- Highlight that we can also use might + infinitive in the main clause of second conditionals to mean 'would perhaps': If I bought a GPS, I might not get lost all the time.
- d) 1 What would you do if you didn't have one?
2 If you didn't have one, would you get lost?
- Use sentences 1 and 2 to highlight that we often make questions in the second conditional with What would you do ...? and that this phrase can come at the beginning or the end of the sentence.
- Also highlight that we can make yes/no questions in the second conditional: If you didn't have one, would you get lost?
- The short answers to second conditional yes/no questions are Yes, I would. and No, I wouldn't. We can also say Yes, I might.

5 R7.4 P Play the recording (SB p150). Students listen and practise. Encourage students to copy the rhythm and sentence stress correctly.

You can also ask students to turn to R7.4, SB p150. They can then follow the sentence stress as they listen and practise.

6 a) Students do the exercise on their own. Tell students that they can complete the sentences in any way they like. Check the answers to the verb forms only with the class.

1 won; 'd go 2 didn't live; 'd like 3 could; 'd choose 4 was/were; 'd like 5 lived; 'd miss 6 could; 'd talk

b) Put students into pairs. Students take turns to say their sentences from 6a). Encourage students to continue the conversation if possible, as shown in the speech bubbles. Ask students to share interesting sentences with the class.

- 7 Put students into pairs, student A and student B. Student A turn to SB p105 and student B turn to SB p110.

a) Check students remember a karaoke /,kæri'əʊki/ bar and a personal diary (a diary in which you write your personal thoughts, feelings and experiences).

Students fill in the gaps in the questions on their own. If necessary, check the answers with the class. Only check the words they need to fill in the gaps, so that the other group doesn't hear the questions they are about to be asked.

Student A 1 would ... do; became 2 didn't study; would ... like 3 had to; would ... sing 4 would ... be; lived 5 could; would ... choose

Student B a) weren't; would ... be b) would ... do; found c) had to; would ... take d) would ... change; became e) found; would ... do

- b) Focus students on the speech bubbles and use them to highlight that we don't usually repeat the if clause when answering questions in the second conditional.

Students work with their partner and take turns to ask their questions. Encourage students to continue the conversation if possible. While they are working, monitor and correct any mistakes you hear.

Ask students to share interesting answers with the class.

Help with Listening First or second

- This Help with Listening section helps students to hear the difference between first and second conditionals.

- 8 a) Focus students on the example sentences and ask which is a first conditional (the first sentence) and which is a second conditional (the second sentence).

R7.5 Play the recording. Students listen and notice the difference between the verb forms. Play the recording again, highlighting the difference between have and had, and the contractions I'll and I'd.

- b) R7.6 Play the recording (SB p150). Students listen to the six pairs of sentences and decide whether they hear the first conditional or the second conditional first. Play the recording again if necessary. Check answers with the class.

- 1 first conditional
- 2 second conditional
- 3 second conditional
- 4 first conditional
- 5 second conditional
- 6 first conditional

EXTRA IDEA

- Play the recording again and ask students to write the sentences. Students can check their answers in pairs or in R7.6, SB p150.

- 9 a) Remind students who Don and Kathy are by focusing on their photos.

Students do the exercise on their own, then check their answers in pairs.

Don't check answers at this stage.

- b) R7.7 Play the recording. Students listen and check their answers.

Check answers with the class.

You can ask students to explain why the speaker uses the first or the second conditional in each case.

- 1 I'd 2 didn't 3 see 4 I'll 5 wouldn't 6 knew 7 didn't 8 I'd 9 write 10 I'll

Get ready Get it right!

- 10 a) Students do the exercise on their own. Encourage them to write the six things in random order, not in two groups of three. Students can use words/phrases from 1a) or their own ideas.

- b) Students think how their lives would be different with or without the things they wrote in 10a), using second conditionals.

Focus students on the examples and then ask students to write at least one sentence about each thing.

While students are working, monitor and correct any mistakes you see.

- 11 a) Students work in pairs and swap papers. Students ask questions about the things on their partner's paper, as shown in the speech bubbles. Students should include the reasons why their lives would be different from 10b) in their conversations.

While students are working, monitor and help with any language problems.

- b) Finally, students tell the class two things that they have found out about their partner.

EXTRA IDEA

- Demonstrate 10 by writing some things you have and haven't got on the board in random order and think of reasons why your life would be different with or without these things. Before students do 11, they ask you questions about the things you have written on the board.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews the second conditional. Students work on their own and decide what they would do in these situations. Students compare their ideas in groups and find out if anyone has the same ideas. Ask students to share interesting ideas with the class.

Listening

- 1 Check students understand a computer virus. Model and drill virus /'vaɪrəs/ with the class. Students discuss the questions in groups.

Ask students to tell the class about any experiences they have had with computer viruses.

- 2 a) Be prepared with definitions, examples, etc. to pre-teach the vocabulary in the box, or bring in dictionaries for students to check the meanings themselves.

Note that the aim of these boxes is to highlight which words you need to pre-teach in order to help students understand the text that follows. The vocabulary in these boxes isn't in the Language Summaries.

- b) Tell students they are going to listen to the beginning of a lecture about computer viruses.

Give students time to read the information in boxes A and B.

1b) 2f) 3a) 4d) 5e) 6c)

EXTRA IDEA

- Students can try and match the names in A to the facts in B before they listen. They can then listen to the recording and check their answers.

- c) Give students time to read questions 1–6 before playing the recording again. Students check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class. Ask students if they have ever heard of the viruses mentioned in the recording.

1 They travel from computer to computer in the same way as flu viruses travel from person to person. 2 So that they could find out how many people were stealing their software. 3 No, it wasn't. 4 In his bedroom. 5 Because it could infect any computer online. 6 Your passwords and credit card details.

Help with Listening

- This Help with Listening section reviews and extends students' knowledge of weak forms, which they first studied in lesson 2C.

Vocabulary use of articles: a, an, the, no article

Skills Listening: Computer viruses; Reading: Virus writers

Help with Listening weak forms (2)

Review second conditional; computers

- 3 a) Focus students on the introductory bullet and check students remember what a weak form is. Point out that many weak forms contain the schwa /ə/ sound.

Students work in pairs and decide how we say the strong and weak forms of the words in the box. If students are having difficulty, you can refer them back to 4a), SB p16.

Check answers with the class.

	strong	weak		strong	weak
do	/duː/	/də/	of	/ɒv/	/əv/
you	/juː/	/jə/	and	/ænd/	/ən/
at	/æt/	/ət/	to	/tuː/	/tə/
for	/fɔː/	/fə/	can	/kæn/	/kən/

EXTRA IDEA

- 82.7 Check answers to 3a) by asking students to look back at 4a), SB p16 and playing the recording.

- b) 87.9 Focus students on the tables, then play the recording. Students listen and notice the difference between the strong and the weak forms of the words. Highlight the schwa in the weak forms.

- c) Focus students on the sentences from the beginning of the lecture and on the two circled examples of weak forms. Students work on their own or in pairs and circle the words they think they will hear as weak forms.

While students are working, copy the sentences onto the board ready for checking.

- d) Ask students which words they think they will hear as weak forms and circle these words on the board.

87.8 Play the recording again. Students listen and check their answers. Check the text on the board and make any changes necessary. Play the recording again if necessary.

Ask students if weak forms are ever stressed (they aren't).

These days, computer viruses are a part of everyday life. But as early as 1940, a man called John von Neumann predicted that computer programmes would be able to make copies of themselves – and he was right. This ability has meant that people have been able to create viruses which can travel from computer to computer.

EXTRA IDEA

- Ask students to predict which words in the sentences on the board are stressed.  Elicit their answers and mark the stress on the board. Students can check their answers when they look at R7.8, SB p150 in 3e).

e) Ask students to turn to R7.8, SB p150. Play the recording again. Students listen and notice the sentence stress and weak forms. Note that only the weak forms that students have studied so far in the course are marked in the recording scripts.

Reading and Vocabulary

4 Divide the class into two groups, group A and group B. Ask students from group A to read the text about David L. Smith on SB p57. Ask students from group B to read the text about Onel de Guzman on the same page. Tell students to cover the text they aren't going to read. Students read their text and answer questions 1–6. Early finishers can check answers with someone from the same group.

5 a) Reorganise the class so that a student from group A is working with a student from group B. Students take turns to ask and answer the questions from 4.

b)  Ask students to uncover the text that they haven't read yet. Play the recording. Students read and listen to both articles, and check that their partner's answers are correct. If necessary, check answers with the class.

Ask students which facts from the articles they think are the most surprising.

David L. Smith 1 The USA. 2 The Melissa virus. 3 David L. Smith named it after a dancer he knew while he was living in Miami, Florida. 4 As soon as it infected a computer, it forwarded itself to the first 50 email addresses in the computer's address book. 5 More than $80 million in North America alone. 6 Yes, he was sent to prison for 20 months.

Onel de Guzman 1 The Philippines. 2 The Love Bug virus. 3 Because the virus came as an email attachment which said "I love you". 4 When people opened the attachment, it sent itself to everyone in their address book. 5 Over $10 billion. 6 No, because at that time there were no laws in the Philippines for computer crime.

Help with Vocabulary

- a) b) a dancer c) a computer d) the computer e) the Melissa virus f) the USA g) the worst h) Miami i) email systems j) prison
- Point out that we use the with public places (school, hospital, university, college, prison, church, etc.) when we talk about the building. Compare these two sentences: His mother's in hospital (she's ill: we are thinking of hospital as a general idea). He's gone to the hospital to visit his mother (to the building: we're thinking of a specific hospital).
- Remind students that we use the in some fixed phrases: in the morning/afternoon, at the weekend, go to the cinema/the theatre/the bank/the shops, the news, etc.

7 a) Focus students on the words/phrases in bold in the article about Onel de Guzman. Students work on their own or in pairs and match them to the rules a)–j) in 6a). Point out that there is one word/phrase for each rule.

b) Students compare answers in pairs, giving reasons for their choices. Check answers with the class.

8 Put students into pairs, student A and student B. Student A's turn to SB p105 and student B's turn to SB p110. Check they are all looking at the correct exercise.

a) Students fill in the gaps on their own. While they are working, monitor and correct any mistakes you see. If necessary, check answers with the class. Only check the gaps, so that the other group doesn't hear the questions they are about to be asked.

Student A 1 a 2 a; the 3 the; the 4 the; – 5 –; – 6 – 7 an; a Student B 1 a b) an; a; the c) – d) –; the e) the; the f) –; – g) a; an; a

b) Students work with their partner and take turns to ask and answer their questions. Encourage students to ask follow-up questions if possible.

Ask students to share interesting answers with the class.

9 a) Put students into groups of three or four. If you have students of similar ages, backgrounds or nationalities, or with similar hobbies and interests, put them in the same group.

Tell the class that each group is going to start its own website. Give students a few moments to read the ideas in the box. Check they understand a fan site (a website set up by fans of a particular film star, etc. where they can discuss the star's latest film, swap news stories, etc.).

Students work in groups and decide what their website is going to be about. They can choose from the topics in the box or use their own ideas.

EXTRA IDEA

- Before doing 9a), ask students to write down their three favourite websites. Students can work in groups or with the whole class and explain why they like them.

- b) Pre-teach home page (the first page you see when you go to the website).

Students work in their groups and discuss what is going to be on their website. They can use the ideas from the prompts or their own. Make sure that each student makes notes on the decisions the group makes about their website, as they will have to describe the website to other students in a different group. While students are working, monitor and help with language and ideas.

- 10 a) Reorganise the class so that students from different groups are working together. Students take turns to describe their websites.

When all the students in the group have described their websites, they decide which they think is the best.

- b) Students from each group tell the class which website is the best, giving reasons for their choice. Finally, ask students to choose which is the best website in the class.

EXTRA IDEA

- For homework, students design the home page for their website. These can be collected in next class and displayed around the room for other students to read.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews computer collocations. Students work on their own and make their lists. Set a time limit of three minutes. Students work in pairs and compare lists to find out who has the most words. Students then decide which words on both lists they can use together, as in the example. Ask students to share some of their collocations with the class.

- 1 a) Focus students on the photos. Discuss with the class where the people are and what problems they might have.

- b) Tell students they are going to listen to Carol talking to people at work and then to her husband, Ben, later the same day (as shown in the photos).

7.11 Give students time to read sentences a)–h), then play the recording (SB p150). Students listen, tick the true sentences and correct the false ones. Students check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

- a)T b)F They have changed the email system in the office. c)T d)F He will be back around 3 p.m. e)F He's gone to the cinema. f)T g)T h)F She forgot to call/didn't call him earlier in the day.

- 2 7.11 Give students time to read questions a)–j). Play the recording again. Students listen and put the questions in the order they hear them.

EXTRA IDEA

- If students are finding the recording difficult, ask them to look at R7.11, SB p150. Play the recording again. Students listen, read and underline the questions from 2a) when they hear them.

Real World

- 3 a)–d) Tell students that questions a)–e) in 2a) are called indirect questions and questions f)–j) are called direct questions. Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check in 7.11 SB p131.

7.11 While students are working, draw the table from 7.11 SB p131 on the board ready to check their answers. Check answers with the class.

- a) In more formal situations we often use indirect questions because they sound more polite. For example Could you tell me whether he'll be back soon? sounds more polite than Will he be back soon?
- b) Focus students on the table on the board and ask them which part of questions a)–d) in 2a) goes in each column. Write students' answers in the table (see 7.11 SB p131).
- Use the table to highlight the phrases we use to introduce indirect questions: Could you tell me ... ?; Do you know ... ?; Have you got any idea ... ?; Can you tell me ... ?.

- We use if or whether in indirect questions when there isn't a question word.
- In indirect questions, if and whether are the same: Do you know if/whether we asked Alex Ross to come?
- We don't use if or whether with Do you think ... ?: Do you think he's changed his password? not Do you think if/whether he's changed his password?
- c) In indirect questions, the main verb is in the positive form. We say: Do you know if we asked Alex Ross to come? not Do you know if did we ask Alex to come?
- Focus students on the other phrases in pink in questions a)–e) in 2a) to show that we use the positive verb form, not the question form.

Help with Listening

- This Help with Listening section introduces students to polite intonation patterns for asking indirect questions.
 - 4 Focus students on the introductory bullet point. Highlight the importance of using polite intonation when asking indirect questions. Many students have problems achieving the required voice movement, so it is worth stressing that if their voices are flat, they often sound rude or impatient to native English speakers.
 - h7.12 Play the recording (SB p151). Students listen and decide which sentences sound polite. Check answers with the class by playing the recording again and pausing after each pair of sentences to elicit students' answers. Point out that in the polite versions the speaker's voices start at a higher pitch and move up and down more.
- 2a) 3a) 4b) 5b)

- 5 h7.13 P Play the recording (SB p151). Students listen and practise. Check students copy the polite intonation and sentence stress. Play the recording again if necessary.
- 6 Students do the exercise on their own, then check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.
- 1 Do you know how this ticket machine works?
2 Have you any idea what Jim wants for his birthday?
3 Can you tell me whether this is room D? 4 Do you think Ruth will be at the meeting? 5 Could you tell me how often the trains run?
- 7 a) Check students understand give someone a tip. Students do the exercise on their own, then check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.
- 1 Do you know if/whether there's a bookshop near here?
2 Could you tell me how I get to the station? 3 Do you think I should give taxi drivers a tip? 4 Have you any idea what time the banks close? 5 Can you tell me where the nearest post office is?

- b) Students do the exercise on their own. While students are working, monitor and check their questions are correct.
- c) Put students into pairs. Students take turns to ask their questions from 7a) and 7b). Students should answer with the correct information if they know it. Encourage students to continue the conversation if appropriate and to thank the person for their help at the end. While they are working, monitor and correct any mistakes that you hear. Finally, ask a few pairs to role-play their conversations for the class.

8A Changing weather

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews indirect questions. Students do the first part of the activity on their own.  If students are having problems thinking of ideas, write the following prompts on the board: time open/close, weekends, name of teacher/director of studies, teachers' room/computer room/library, how many levels, exam courses, number of students, nearest café. Put students into pairs. Students take turns to ask and answer their questions. Ask students to ask you any questions that their partner didn't know the answer to.

Vocabulary Weather

- 1 a) Point out that all the words in the box talk about bad weather conditions. Students work in pairs and tick the words they know. Don't help students with words they don't know at this stage.
- b) Students continue working in pairs and put the words in order, starting with the coldest.
- c) Ask students to check any new words in 1a) and their answers to 1b) in V8.1 SB p132. Check answers with the class (see V8.1 SB p132).

Tell students that the adjective for storm is stormy and the adjective for fog is foggy.

Highlight that thunder, lightning and fog are uncountable nouns, and that we say thunder and lightning not lightning and thunder.

Point out that humid is an adjective (the noun is humidity), and that flood can be a noun and a verb. You can also tell students that heat wave is sometimes written as one word (heatwave).

Also point out that boiling and freezing are strong adjectives, so we can say absolutely boiling/freezing, but not very-boiling/freezing.

Model and drill the words. Pay particular attention to the pronunciation of humid /'hju:mid/, flood /flʌd/ and tornado /tɔ:'neɪdɔʊ/. Note that only the main stress in words/phrases is shown in vocabulary boxes and the Language Summaries.

EXTRA IDEA

- Begin the lesson with a discussion of any stories about bad weather that have been in the news recently.

- 2 Students discuss the questions in groups. If possible, include students of different nationalities in the same group. Ask students to share interesting answers with the class.

Vocabulary weather

Grammar the passive

Review indirect questions; verb forms

Reading and Grammar

- 3 a) Be prepared with definitions, examples, etc. to pre-teach the vocabulary in the box, or bring in dictionaries for students to check the meanings themselves.

Note that the aim of these boxes is to highlight which words you need to pre-teach in order to help students understand the text that follows. The vocabulary in these boxes is not in the Language Summaries.

Model and drill the words/phrases. Pay particular attention to the pronunciation of atmosphere /'ætməsfɪə/ and climate /'klaɪmət/.

EXTRA IDEA

- Put the students into pairs, student A and student B. Student A checks the meaning of the first row of words in the box, and student B checks the meaning of the words in the second row. Students work in pairs and teach their partner the words. Check students have understood all the words before continuing.

- b) Focus students on the web page of FAQs (Frequently Asked Questions) about global warming and climate change. Students read the web page quickly and match questions a)–d) to paragraphs 1–4. Set a time limit of two minutes to encourage students to read for gist. Check answers with the class.

1c) 2a) 3d) 4b)

- 4 a) Students do the exercise on their own, then check answers in pairs. Remind students that they can only fill in each gap with one word. Check answers with the class.

- colder
- climate/weather
- hot
- rising
- energy/electricity

- b) Students discuss the questions in groups. Ask students to share their ideas with the class.

Note that students discuss their attitudes to global warming and climate change in 9, so don't let this discussion go on too long.

Help with Grammar

- 5 a)–e) Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in 68.1 SB p133.

4 While students are working, draw the table from 5c) on the board so that you are ready to check their answers. Check answers with the class.

- a) The subject of the active sentence is A huge hurricane. The subject of the passive sentence is New Orleans. The object of the active sentence is New Orleans.
- b) The object of the active sentence becomes the subject of the passive sentence.
- We often use the passive when we are more interested in what happens to someone or something than in who or what does the action.
- In passive sentences we can use 'by + the agent' to say who or what does the action: New Orleans was hit by a huge hurricane.
- Point out that we only use 'by + the agent' when it is important or unusual information. We don't use it when the agent is clear from the context: Twelve people were arrested by the police.
- Also highlight that we often use the passive when we don't know who or what the agent is: A lot has been written about what governments and businesses should do.
- c) We make the passive with: subject + be + past participle.
- Focus students on the table on the board. Elicit which words from the phrases in bold in the article go in each column and complete the table (see the table in 68.1 SB p133).
- Point out that we can also use other modal verbs (could, must, should, might, etc.) in passive verb forms: Many people could be made homeless. These pills must be taken four times a day.
- d) We make negative passive sentences by making the verb form of be negative: it isn't held, they aren't being kept, it hasn't been caused, it wasn't hit, etc.

- 6 88.1 P Play the recording (SB p151). Students listen and practise. Check they copy the sentence stress correctly. Play the recording again if necessary.

- 7 a) Students read the text about Roy Sullivan and find out what happened to him. Note that students don't choose the correct answers at this stage.
Check the answer with the class (he was hit by lightning seven times in his lifetime).

- b) Pre-teach park ranger /'reɪndʒə/, toenail, eyebrow and lightning strike.
Students do the exercise on their own. Early finishers can check answers in pairs.

- c) 88.2 Play the recording. Students listen and check their answers. Check answers with the class.

1 is hit 2 will be hit 3 spend 4 was hit 5 lost
6 happened 7 was taken

- 8 a) Focus students on the photo. Ask students which city it is (Venice, in Italy) and what problems the city has (it is often flooded).

- b) Students do the exercise on their own before checking their answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

2 will be flooded/is going to be flooded 3 has already been collected 4 have now been repaired/are now being repaired 5 be found 6 be saved 7 isn't done
8 will be lost/are going to be lost

Get ready ... Get it right!

- 9 Put students into two groups, group A and group B. Students in group A turn to SB p106 and students in group B turn to SB p111.

- a) Check that students understand take something seriously enough, solve a problem and the environment /ɪn'vaɪrənmənt/.

Students work in pairs with someone from the same group. Students put the verbs in brackets in the correct active or passive form. Point out that there can sometimes be more than one possible answer.

If necessary, check answers with the class. Only check the words they need to fill in the gaps.

Student A 1 take/are taking 2 do 3 are taught/are being taught 4 be made 5 will happen/is going to happen

Student B a) is taken/is being taken b) has been done c) have been damaged d) do e) be solved

- b) Reorganise the class so that a pair of students from group A works with a pair of students from group B. Students take turns to ask and answer their questions. Encourage students to give reasons for their answers where possible.

- c) Ask each group to tell the class some of the things they have discussed.

Finally, ask students what they think the future of the planet is and what they can do to help reduce global warming.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews weather vocabulary. Students work on their own and write five weather words that are connected to them. Put students into pairs. Students compare words and tell their partner why they have chosen these words, as in the example. Ask students to share interesting answers with the class.

Vocabulary Containers

- 1 a) Students do the exercise on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in V8.2 SB p132.

Check answers with the class (see V8.2 SB p132). Note that some products may come in different containers in some countries.

Point out that we usually use a tin for food (a tin of tomatoes) and a can for drink (a can of cola). Also point out that marmalade is made from citrus fruit (oranges, lemons, etc.) and jam is made from soft fruit (strawberries, blackberries, etc.).

Highlight that in the UK crisps (US: chips) are thin, cold fried potatoes that are often sold in bags. In the UK chips (US: French fries) are hot, fried potatoes that are often eaten with meals. Point out that we say a box of chocolates but a bar of chocolate, and that we say sweets in British English and candy in American English.

Model and drill the complete phrases (a bottle of milk, a bag of crisps, etc.). Pay particular attention to the pronunciation of jar /dʒɑː/, honey /ˈhʌni/, biscuits /ˈbɪskɪts/, marmalade /ˈmɑːməleɪd/, chocolates /ˈtʃɒkləts/ and crisps /krɪspz/. Point out that we say the weak form of /əv/ in these phrases. Also highlight that the stress on carton is on the first syllable, not the second.

b) Students do the exercise in pairs. You can ask students to close their books while they are being tested.

c) Students do the exercise in new pairs. Ask students to think of at least one more thing for each container. Check answers with the class.

Possible answers: a bottle of wine; a bag of rice; a tin of sardines; a box of matches; a can of cola; a carton of tomato juice; a jar of olives; a packet of pasta

Listening and Grammar

- 2 Pre-teach recycle /riˈsaɪkl/ and recycling /riˈsaɪklɪŋ/, and check students remember a law /lə/. Drill these words with the class.

Students discuss the questions in groups. If possible, include students of different nationalities in the same group. Ask students to share answers with the class.

Grammar quantifiers: a bit of, too much/many, (not) enough, plenty of, etc.

Help with Listening quantifiers

Review weather; food

- 3 a) Focus students on the picture. Ask students to cover the vocabulary boxes in 1a. Students work on their own or in pairs and write down all the containers and products they can see in the picture, for example a bottle of lemonade. Set a time limit of two minutes.

Check answers with the class and find out which student or pair has the most phrases.

a bottle of tomato ketchup; a bottle of olive oil;
a bottle of lemonade; a bag of sweets; a bag of potatoes;
a tin of tuna; a tin of cat food; a tin of beans; a box of chocolates; a carton of orange juice; a jar of honey;
a jar of jam; a packet of biscuits; a packet of soup;
a packet of crisps

b) Focus students on the picture again. Tell students that Val and her boyfriend, Pete, are visiting Val's brother, James.

V8.3 Give students time to read sentences 1–6, then play the recording (SB p151). Students listen and choose the correct answers. Students check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

1 don't have anything 2 doesn't recycle any 3 15%
4 90% 5 tins 6 is

- 4 a) Pre-teach a recycling bin (a large container in the street where you can recycle bottles, cans, etc.) and a recycling box (a small container in your house in which you put things that can be recycled).

V8.4 Give students time to read sentences 1–12. Play the recording again. Students listen and write who says each sentence.

EXTRA IDEA

Ask students to work in pairs and decide who says sentences 1–12 before they listen again. Students can then listen and check their answers.

b) Students check their answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

2 Val 3 Pete 4 James 5 Val 6 Pete 7 Val 8 Val 9 Pete
10 Val 11 James 12 Val

Students look at the picture again and decide which things James can recycle.

Help with Grammar

- 5 a)–d) Students do the exercises in pairs, then check their answers in 68.2 SB p133.

 While students are working, draw the table from 5b) on the board so that you are ready to check their answers. Check answers with the class.

- a) Countable nouns: tins; recycling bins; plastic bottles; people; friends
- Uncountable nouns: pasta; sugar; milk; rubbish; stuff; paper; information; progress
- b) Focus students on the table on the board. Elicit which words in blue in 4a) go in each column and complete the table (see the table in 68.2 SB p133).
- Remind students that we can say There aren't any biscuits. or There are no biscuits. and There isn't any milk. or There's no milk.
- Point out that not many, hardly any and not much have a negative meaning. Several, a few, a bit of and a little have a positive meaning. Several is usually more items than a few.
- Also highlight that loads of is more informal than a lot of and lots of.
- Highlight the word order with not enough and enough:
not + enough + noun: There aren't enough places.
not + adjective + enough: It isn't big enough.
enough + noun: There's enough milk.
adjective + enough: That's hot enough.
- c) We usually use some in positive sentences: I've found some coffee.
- We usually use any in negative sentences and questions: There isn't any sugar. Is there any milk?
- We don't usually use much or many in positive sentences: There's a lot of stuff here. not There's much stuff here. I've got lots of cups not I've got many cups.
- Check students remember that we use some and any with plural countable nouns (biscuits, beans, etc.) and uncountable nouns (pasta, milk, etc.).
- Remind students that we often use some in questions with Would you like ... ?: Would you like some coffee?

Help with Listening

- This Help with Listening section focuses on how we say quantifiers and reviews sentence stress, linking and weak forms.
- 8 a) R8.4 Play the recording (SB p151). Students listen and write the sentences. Point out that they will hear each sentence twice before they start.
- b) Students do the exercise on their own. Point out that contractions (there's, etc.) are two words before they start.
- c) Students compare sentences in pairs and underline the quantifiers. Check the sentences with the class.

Ask students to turn to R8.4, SB p151. Play the recording again. Students listen and notice the stress and linking in each sentence. Also highlight the weak form of of /əv/.

I think there's a bit of milk in the fridge. (11 words)
We haven't got enough bags of crisps. (8 words)
There's hardly any food in the cupboard. (8 words)
He's got a lot of tins of cat food. (10 words)
We need to get a few packets of biscuits. (9 words)
There's lots of coffee and plenty of cups. (9 words)

- 7 R8.5 P Play the recording (SB p151). Students listen and practise, copying the linking and sentence stress.

- 8 a) Students do the exercise on their own. Check answers with the class.

2 too much 3 hardly any 4 a few 5 a bit of 6 plenty of 7 enough 8 some 9 too many

- b) Students work on their own and tick the sentences in 8a) that are true for them.

- c) Students do the exercise in pairs. Encourage students to ask follow-up questions if appropriate. Ask students to share one or two of their sentences with the class.

Get ready ... Get it right!

- 9 Pre-teach cycle lane and check students remember the other words/phrases in the box.

Focus students on the examples below the box and ask students what the quantifiers are in each sentence (n't enough, too much).

Students work on their own and write four good things and four bad things about the town/city they are in now. Encourage them to use the ideas in the box or their own ideas, and the quantifiers from 5b).

- 10 a) Put the students into groups of three or four. Students take turns to say their sentences. The other students say whether they agree or disagree, giving reasons for their answers.

When students have discussed all of their sentences, they choose the two best and the two worst things about the town/city there are in now.

- b) Ask each group to tell the class their two best and two worst things about the town/city there are in now. Finally, ask the class to decide what they think is the best and the worst thing about the town/city.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews types of container. Students do the activity in pairs. Check students' answers by saying the containers in 1a) on SB p62 and eliciting things that can come in each container.

Listening

- 1 Students discuss the questions in groups. Ask students to share interesting answers with the class.
- 2 a) Focus students on the photo and use this to pre-teach shark, attack and bite. Also pre-teach oxygen /'ɒksədʒən/.
b) Tell students that they are going to listen to a TV news report.
R8.6 Give students time to read questions 1–4, then play the recording (SB p151). Students listen and answer the questions. Check answers with the class.
1 A British tourist has been attacked by a shark off the coast of Texas. 2 Dead zones are areas in the ocean where there isn't enough oxygen, so all the fish die. 3 People/Too much pollution in the sea. 4 About 150.

c) Give students time to read sentences 1–7, then play the recording again. Students listen and choose the correct information in each sentence. Students check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

1 eight 2 quite near 3 leg 4 very big 5 half 6 bad 7 aren't

Help with Listening

- This Help with Listening section reviews consonant-vowel links and linking with /w/, /j/ and /r/ sounds, which were first introduced in lessons 3C and 4C.

- 3 a) Focus students on the sentence from the news report. Students do the exercise on their own. Check the answers with the class. Use the example sentence to highlight the consonant-vowel link and the three extra linking sounds /w/, /j/ and /r/.

We usually link words that end in a consonant sound with words that start with a vowel sound. When a word ends in a vowel sound and the next word also starts with a vowel sound, we often link these words with a /w/, /j/ or /r/ sound.

EXTRA IDEA

- Students can refer back to the introductory bullet point in the Help with Listening box on SB p33 to find out when we use /w/, /j/ and /r/ sounds.

Vocabulary word formation (2): prefixes and opposites, other prefixes and suffixes

Skills Listening: Shark attack!; Reading: Saving Jesse's arm

Help with Listening linking (3): review

Review the passive; Past Perfect; character adjectives

b) Focus students on the sentences from the beginning of the news report. Students work in pairs and draw the links, adding extra linking sounds if necessary.

c) Students turn to R8.6, SB p151 to check their answers. You can check answers by playing the beginning of R8.6 again, pausing after each sentence to highlight the various types of linking.

A British tourist has been attacked by a shark off the coast of Texas, making it the eighth shark attack in the USA this year. We now go over live to Freeport for a special report from our North American correspondent, Andrew Evans. Andrew understands the man didn't do anything unusual to cause this attack.

d) R8.6 Play the whole recording again. Students listen, read and notice the different types of linking.

Reading and Vocabulary

- 4 a) Be prepared with definitions, examples, etc. to pre-teach the vocabulary in the box, or bring in dictionaries for students to check the meanings themselves. Tell students that estimate and harm can be verbs or nouns. Also point out that harm is an uncountable noun. Model and drill the words. Pay particular attention to the pronunciation of conscious /'kɒnʃəs/ and strength /streŋθ/. Note that estimate is pronounced /'estimeɪt/ if it is a verb and /'estɪmət/ if it is a noun.
b) Focus students on the title of the article. Point out that this is a true story. Students say what they think happened to Jesse. Don't tell them if they are correct at this stage.
c) Students read the article and decide if their predictions were correct. Check the answer with the class.

Jesse's arm was bitten off by a shark. He was taken to hospital, where his arm was reattached.

- 5 Students do the exercise on their own. Early finishers can check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

1F The shark bit off the whole of Jesse's arm. 2F A park ranger shot the shark. 3F A volunteer firefighter got Jesse's arm from inside the shark. 4T 5T

Help with Vocabulary

- 6 a)–c) Focus students on the introductory bullet point and check students know what a prefix and a suffix are. Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in VB.3 SB p132. Check answers with the class. You may wish to check the answer to 6a) briefly before students move on to 6b).

- a) We often use the prefixes un-, dis-, im-, in- and ir- to make opposites of words.
- Elicit examples of words with these prefixes from the article (unconscious, disappeared, impossible, incorrect, irresponsible).
- Point out that we can use these prefixes to make opposites of adjectives (unconscious, etc.) and verbs (disappear, etc.).
- Point out that adjectives beginning with p usually take the prefix im- (possible → impossible, etc.) and adjectives beginning with r usually take the prefix ir- (responsible → irresponsible, etc.).
- b) unbelievable; impatient; unselfish; dishonest; Inconsiderate; impolite; disorganised; irregular; unreliable; disloyal; immature; unambitious; informal; dissimilar; insensitive; unhelpful
- Model and drill the words. Point out that prefixes aren't usually stressed.

- 7 a)–c) Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in VB.4 SB p132.
- b) While students are working, draw the table from 7a) on the board so that you are ready to check their answers. Check answers with the class. You may wish to check the answer to 7a) briefly before students move on to 7b).

- a) Check the table on the board by eliciting the answers from the class (for the examples, see the words in pink in the table in VB.4 SB p132). Check students understand the meanings of the prefixes and suffixes.
- b) underpaid; repaid, overpaid; rewrite; painful, painless; oversleep, sleepless; undercharge, recharge, overcharge; careful, careless; remarry; successful; replay, playful; underuse, reuse, overuse, useful, useless
- Check the meaning of any words you think your students might have problems with (for example people might overcharge you in a shop, etc.).
- You can elicit the answers and write them in the correct place in the table on the board.
- Also highlight that the opposite of successful is unsuccessful, not successless.
- Note that unhelpful means 'not helpful'. Helpless means 'not able to do things for yourself or protect yourself': A baby is helpless without its mother.

EXTRA IDEAS

- Students work in pairs and take turns to test each other on the opposites in 6. One student says the adjective, for example honest, and his/her partner says the opposite, for example dishonest.
- Write the following sentence on the board: I was underpaid/overpaid last month, so I complained to my boss. Ask students which word is correct (underpaid). Put students into pairs. Each pair writes six similar sentences with the words from 7. Students swap sentences with another pair and choose the correct words in their sentences.

- 8 a) Tell students they are going to tell other people in the class about a frightening or exciting experience they have had. Give students a minute or two to think of an appropriate story. Encourage students to think of a true story if possible. If they are having problems, tell them that they can invent a story instead. Students shouldn't reveal if their stories are true or not to the class.
- Students work on their own and decide what they are going to say, based on the prompts or their own ideas. While students are working, monitor and help them with new language and vocabulary.

- b) Put students into groups of three or four. Students take turns to tell their stories. While students are working, monitor and help them with any problems. Don't interrupt students too much at this stage.

After each story, students ask questions to find out more information about the story and guess if it is true or not.

EXTRA IDEA

- Before doing 8b), students can practise telling their story in pairs. This will give students extra 'rehearsal time' before they tell the story in groups, as well as giving shy students more confidence.

- c) Ask students to tell the class about the best story in each group. Finally, the class can decide what was the best story in the class.

EXTRA IDEA

- Students write their story for homework. These can be collected next class and displayed around the room for other students to read. Alternatively, correct the stories they have written for homework and give them back to students in the following class. Students can then write a final version of their stories.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews prefixes and suffixes. Students work on their own and write eight words with prefixes or suffixes, as in the examples. 2 If your students need some extra help, write the following prefixes and suffixes on the board before they begin: un-, dis-, im-, in-, ir-, under-, re-, over-, -ful, -less. Put students into pairs. Students take turns to say sentences with their partner's words, as in the example. Ask students to share some of their sentences with the class.

- 1 Focus students on pictures A–C. Students work in pairs and discuss what the people in each picture are going to do. Students also think of one possible danger for each situation.

Ask students to share their ideas with the class.

- 2 a) Be prepared with definitions, examples, pictures, etc. to pre-teach the vocabulary in the box, or bring in dictionaries for students to check the meanings themselves.

Note that the outback refers to the areas in Australia that are far away from towns and cities, especially in the desert area in central Australia.

Model and drill the words/phrases. Pay particular attention to the pronunciation of bear /beə/ and calm /kalm/.

- b) Students do the activity in pairs or with the whole class. Note that there can be more than one possible answer for some words/phrases.

Possible answers: a hear C; the outback B; dive A; cross a river B/C; petrol A/B; a spare map B/C; stay calm A; a kangaroo B; shiver A/C

- c) RW.7 Tell students they are going to listen to three conversations. Play the recording (SB p152). Students listen and match conversations 1–3 to pictures A–C. Check answers with the class.

Ask students which of the three trips they would like to go on. Encourage students to give reasons for their answers.

Real World Warnings and advice

- 3 a)–c) Focus students on the introductory bullet point to check students understand warnings.

Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in RWB.1 SB p133. Check answers with the class.

- a) a) asking for advice b) giving advice c) giving warnings d) responding to advice/warnings
- b) After If I were you, I'd ... and You'd better ... we use the infinitive: If I were you, I'd take plenty of warm clothes. You'd better come up immediately.
- After It's a good idea ... and Don't forget ... we use the infinitive with to: It's a good idea to take a spare map. Don't forget to tell them when you expect to be back.
- After Whatever you do ... we use the imperative (usually the negative imperative): Whatever you do, don't lose your partner.
- Highlight that If I were you, I'd take plenty of warm clothes is a second conditional. Remind students that we often miss out the first clause in these sentences when giving advice: I'd take plenty of warm clothes.
- Also remind students that we often use in case to give reasons why we're doing something.
- Point out that after Be careful we can also use of + noun: Be careful of kangaroos.
- Also tell students that you'd better = you had better.

- 4 RW.9 P Play the recording. Students listen and practise. Check they copy the sentence stress correctly. Play the recording again if necessary.

You can ask students to turn to RWB.1 SB p133. They can then follow the sentence stress while they listen and practise.

- 5 a) Check students remember the tube and pre-teach pickpocket. Focus students on sentences 1–8, which give advice for people visiting the UK. Students do the exercise on their own.

- b) Students check their answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

2 Make sure 3 Whatever you do, 4 If I were you, I'd 5 It's a good idea 6 Be careful 7 Don't 8 Look out for

- 6 a) Students do the exercise on their own. While students are working, monitor and check their sentences for accuracy.

Finally, ask students to share the most important warnings or pieces of advice with the class.

EXTRA IDEA

- If you have a multilingual class, ask students to work in pairs with a student from a different country in 6b). Ask students to imagine that they have just arrived in their partner's country. Students take turns to give their partner advice/warnings about their country.

b) Students check answers in pairs. Play the recording again, pausing after each line for students to check answers.

Reading, Listening and Grammar

- 1 Pre-teach a healthy diet (when you eat a good balance of healthy food) and compare this with go on a diet (try to lose weight).

Students discuss the questions in groups. Ask each group to share interesting answers with the class.

EXTRA IDEA

- To revise food vocabulary, ask students to make a list of their favourite food. Students compare lists in pairs and see how many food items are the same.

- 2 a) Be prepared with definitions, examples, etc. to pre-teach the vocabulary in the box, or bring in dictionaries for students to check the meanings themselves. Note that the aim of these boxes is to highlight which words you need to pre-teach in order to help students understand the text that follows. The vocabulary in these boxes is not in the Language Summaries.

Model and drill the words. Pay particular attention to the pronunciation of digest /daɪ'dʒest/.

- b) Focus students on the article. Ask students what they think the article is about (going on a fast and drinking only juice).

99.1 Play the recording. Students read and listen to the article. Check answers with the class.

The journalist felt healthier after her retreat because she felt more relaxed than she'd been for years and she'd lost 3 kilos.

Review warnings and advice

Help with Grammar

relative clauses with where and when

- 4 a)–c) Focus students on the introductory bullet point and check students understand what a relative clause is. Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in 99.1 SB p135. Check answers with the class.

- a) a) who; b) that; c) which; d) whose e) when
- Point out that we usually use who for people (but that is also correct), and we usually use that for things (but which is also correct).
- Highlight that we don't use what in relative clauses: ~~The food what we usually eat...~~ We can use what to mean 'the thing/things that': Now I'm much more careful about what I eat. (= the things that I eat).
- b) 1 The subject of eats in sentence A is that.
2 The subject of eat in sentence B is we.
- We can leave out who, that or which when it isn't the subject of the relative clause.
- Tell students that we never leave out whose in relative clauses.
- Point out that we can usually leave out where if we add a preposition at the end of the relative clause: That's the café where I met my wife. → That's the café I met my wife in.
- Also highlight that we can usually leave out when if the time reference is clear: Monday's the day (when) I play tennis. If the time reference isn't clear, we must use when: This was also when I started getting really hungry.

- 5 a) Students do the exercise on their own, then check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

1 that 2 who/that 3 who/that 4 that/which 5 who/that

- d) Students compare sentences in groups and find out how many are the same. Ask students to tell the class which sentences are the same for all the students in the group.

Vocabulary Health

- 6 a) Students choose the correct words/phrases in pairs.

b)  Play the recording. Students listen and check their answers. Check answers with the class. Don't tell students the meanings of the other words at this stage.

Tell students that A&E stands for 'Accident and Emergency'. In the UK this department is also called the casualty /'kæʒuəlti/ department, or just casualty. Mark's had a car accident. They've taken him to casualty.

Highlight that we also say allergic /ə'lɜ:dʒɪk/ to something. My sister is allergic to eggs.

Model and drill the words. Pay particular attention to the pronunciation of surgeon /'sɜ:dʒən/, asthma /'æsmə/ and allergy /'ælədʒi/. Note that only the main stress in words/phrases is shown in vocabulary boxes and the Language Summaries.

- 1 A surgeon
- 2 An operating theatre
- 3 Asthma
- 4 A specialist
- 5 The A&E department
- 6 An allergy

- 7 a) Focus students on the six incorrect words in 6a) (a GP, a surgery, an infection, a prescription, a ward, a migraine). Students do the exercise on their own. Point out that the words from 6a) go in the first gap in each sentence and that who, that, etc. go in the second gap. Early finishers can check their answers in pairs.

b) Students check their answers in  SB p134. Check answers with the class.

Ask students in which sentence we can leave out the relative pronoun (sentence 5). You can point out that we can also leave out where in sentence 4 if we add a preposition to the end of the relative clause: A surgery is a building or an office you can go to and ask a GP or a dentist for medical advice.

Highlight that GP is short for 'general practitioner'.

Model and drill the words. Pay particular attention to the pronunciation of surgery /'sɜ:dʒəri/ and point out that migraine can be pronounced /'maɪgreɪn/ or /'mi:greɪn/.

- 1 A migraine; that/which
- 2 A ward; where
- 3 A GP; who/that; who/that
- 4 A surgery; where
- 5 A prescription; (that/which)
- 6 An infection; that/which

- 8 Students do the exercise in pairs, as shown in the speech bubbles. Encourage students to use relative clauses in their definitions.

Get ready ... Get it right!

- 9 Put students into two groups, group A and group B. Students in group A turn to SB p105 and students in group B turn to SB p110. Check they are all looking at the correct exercise.

a) Put students into pairs with someone from the same group. Students write sentences with relative clauses to define words/phrases 1–8, as shown in the example. Note that they are not allowed to use the words/phrases in their definitions.

If students don't know the words/phrases, they can check them in a dictionary. Note that all this vocabulary has appeared in earlier units of the Student's Book.

While students are working, monitor and help them with their definitions. Don't check their sentences with the class at this stage.

b) Reorganise the class so that a pair from group A is working with a pair from group B. Students take turns to say their sentences and guess the other pair's words. You can allow pairs to have two or three guesses for each word.

While students are working, monitor and correct any mistakes you hear. Ask each group to tell the class which pair guessed more words correctly.

Finally, check the definitions for the words with the whole class.

Possible answers

Group A 2 A place where you put your car at night.

4 A thing (that/which) you put your head on when you're in bed. 5 A house that/which only has one floor. 6 A machine that/which freezes your food.

7 A person who/that sells houses. 8 A thing on your computer screen that/which you click on.

Group B b) A machine that dries your hair. c) A place where you put rubbish./A thing (that/which) you put rubbish in.

d) A house that is not attached to other houses. e) A person who/that likes football. f) A place where you put things at the top of your house.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews health vocabulary. Students work on their own and write six words/phrases connected to health. Put students into pairs. Students take turns to ask their partner to describe their words/phrases, as in the example. Encourage students to use relative clauses in their descriptions if possible.

Vocabulary News collocations

- 1 Students discuss the questions in pairs. Ask students to share answers with the class. You can also discuss any stories that are in the news at the moment.

- 2 a) Students do the exercise on their own, then check their answers in VB.2 SB p134. Check answers with the class.

Point out that accept and reject are opposites. Also tell students that protest can be a verb or a noun: We're protesting against the new pay offer. The protest soon became violent. Highlight the different stress pattern on the verb (protest) and the noun (protest). Also tell students that a person who protests is called a protestor and a person who demonstrates is called a demonstrator.

Highlight that we say go on strike and be on strike: Ambulance drivers are going on strike at midnight. The factory's closed because everyone is on strike.

Model and drill the phrases, focusing on stress.

discover something new; carry out a survey; suffer from an illness; take someone to hospital; take part in a demonstration; publish results/a report; protest against something; meet a target; call off a strike

- b) Students work in pairs and take turns to test each other on the collocations in 2a), as shown in the speech bubbles. You can ask students to close their books while they are being tested.

Listening and Grammar

- 3 a) Focus students on photos A–C and ask students to cover the speech bubbles on SB p70. Tell students the photos are of today's main news stories. Students work in pairs and discuss what they think the news stories are about. Encourage students to use the words/phrases in 2a) where possible or their own ideas.

EXTRA IDEA

-  Elicit students' ideas and write them in three columns headed A, B and C on the board. Students can then listen and check their answers against the ideas on the board.

- 4 a)–d) Focus students on the introductory bullet point to remind students of one of the main uses of the Present Perfect Simple.

Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in GB.2 SB p135. Check answers with the class.

- a) 1 The first sentence: The health service. The second sentence: A new report on allergies. 2 has failed 3 has ... been published 4 We make the Present Perfect Simple active with: subject + 've (= have)/haven't or 's (= has)/hasn't + past participle. We make the Present Perfect Simple passive with: subject + 've (= have)/haven't or 's (= has)/hasn't + been + past participle.
- Point out that we often use passive verb forms in news reports and newspaper articles.
- Remind students that we must use the Past Simple active or passive when we say the exact time something happened: She was taken to hospital two days ago.
- b) Present Perfect Simple active has failed; haven't met; 've made; has ... carried out; haven't ... seen; 've ... heard; has died
- Present Perfect Simple passive has ... been reduced; has ... been published; hasn't been published

- c) We use just to say something happened a short time ago.
- We use yet to say something hasn't happened, but we think it will happen in the future.
- We use already to say something happened some time in the past, maybe sooner than we expected.
- Remind students that we use still to say that something started in the past and continues to the present.
- We only use just and already in positive sentences and questions. We put these words before the past participle: has already been reduced, we've just heard.
- We only use yet in negative sentences and questions. We put yet at the end of the sentence or clause: We haven't met our targets yet.
- We only use still in negative sentences with the Present Perfect Simple active and passive: That survey still hasn't been published, not That survey still has been published. We put still before the auxiliary.

- This Help with Listening sections helps students to hear the difference between the Present Perfect Simple active and passive.

5 a) R9.4 Focus students on the example sentences. Play the recording. Students listen and notice the weak forms of has /həz/, been /bi:n/ and have /həv/.

b) R9.5 Play the recording (SB p152). Students listen and decide if the verbs are in the Present Perfect Simple active (A) or passive (P).

Play the recording again, pausing after each sentence to check students' answers.

have been taken (P); have taken (A); hasn't met (A); haven't been met (P); have already rejected (A);

7 a) Students do the exercise on their own before checking answers in pairs.

b) R9.6 Play the recording. Students listen and check their answers.

Play the recording again, pausing after each verb form to check the answers with the class.

5 has accepted 6 have found 7 have been discovered
8 has just arrived 9 has already sold

8 Students do the exercise on their own, as in the example.

2 The Prime Minister has just arrived. 3 The relatives haven't been told yet. 4 He has already been questioned by the police. 5 Three men have just been arrested. 6 Has the match finished yet? 7 The results still haven't been published.

9 Put students into two groups, group A and group B. Students in group A turn to SB p104 and students in group B turn to SB p109.

a) Tell students that they are going to be newsreaders. Students work with a partner from the same group and choose the correct auxiliaries in their news summaries. If necessary, check the auxiliaries only with the class.

Student A 1 has 2 have 3 have been 4 have been 5 has 6 has just 7 have 8 has been Student B 1 have been 2 has 3 have just been 4 have been 5 has just 6 has already been 7 has

b) Students practise reading the news summary to their partner from a). Allow time for each student to read their summary at least twice. Encourage students to read the summary with natural rhythm and stress.

c) Reorganise the class so that a student from group A is working with a student from group B.

Give student Bs time to read questions 1–4. Student As then read their news summaries without stopping. Student Bs answer their questions. Students aren't allowed to look at their partner's books.

Tell students not to check their answers yet.

d) Students swap roles. Give student As time to read their questions. Student Bs then read their news summaries and student As answer their questions.

e) Students work with their partner and check their answers.

Finally, check answers with the class and find out who got all the answers right.

Student A 1 Seventeen. 2 Yes, they have. (Three men have just been arrested.) 3 For the opening of his new film. 4 Over 20 million. Student B 1 Texas. 2 Over 50. 3 Next year. 4 No, we don't.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews the Present Perfect Simple active and passive. Students do the first part of the activity on their own, as in the examples. Put students into groups. Students take turns to tell the other students their news and ask follow-up questions. Encourage students to use the Present Perfect Simple active and passive when giving news, and the Past Simple to give more information. Ask each group to share one interesting piece of news with the class.

Listening

- 1 Check students remember lie. Students discuss the questions in groups. Ask students to share interesting answers with the class.
- 2 a) Be prepared with definitions, examples, etc. to pre-teach the vocabulary in the box, or bring in dictionaries for students to check the meanings themselves. Model and drill the words. Point out the silent 'c' in muscles /ˈmʌsəlz/.
b) Focus students on photos A–D. Discuss if the person is lying or telling the truth in each photo with the whole class. Don't tell students the answers at this stage.
c) Tell students that they are going to listen to a radio interview with Dr Miriam Richards, a body language expert.

R9.7 Play the recording (SB p152). Students listen and check whether the woman in photos A–D is lying or not. Check answers with the class.

A She's telling the truth (this is a real smile). B She's lying (her eyes are going left). C She's telling the truth (she's looking up). D She's lying (she's touching her nose and covering her mouth).

- 3 a) Students do the exercise in pairs.

Help with Listening

- This Help with Listening section helps students to hear the difference between British and American accents.

- 4 a) Give students a few moments to read the words in 1–5. Point out that in each set of words there are letters in bold. Tell students they are going to listen to how we say these letters differently in a British and an American accent. They will hear the British accent first.

Vocabulary connecting words: although, even though, despite, in spite of, however

Skills Listening: How to spot a liar; Reading: Catch Me If You Can Help with Listening British and American accents

Review Present Perfect Simple active and passive

R9.8 Play the recording. Students listen and notice the different ways we say the letters in bold.

Highlight that the vowel sounds in 1–3 are usually said differently in British English (UK) and American English (US). 1 hot UK /hɒt/; US /hɒt/. 2 saw UK /sɔː/; US /sɔː/. 3 aunt UK /ɑːnt/; US /ɑːnt/. Point out that the letter 'r' is usually pronounced in American English (as in 4), whereas in British English the letter 'r' isn't usually pronounced (unless it is followed by a vowel sound). Also highlight that in American English, a 't' between two vowel sounds is pronounced more like a 'd' (as in 5).

b) R9.9 Play the recording (SB p153). Students listen and decide which accent they hear first.

Play the recording again, pausing after each pair of sentences to check students' answers.

1 British 2 American 3 American 4 British 5 British 6 American

c) R9.7 Ask students to turn to R9.7, SB p152. Play the recording of the interview again. Students listen and notice the difference between the interviewer's British accent and Dr Richards's American accent. Tell students that the voices on these recordings are standard British and American accents, and point out there is a wide variety of regional accents in both countries.

Reading and Vocabulary

- 5 a) Focus students on the photos in the article on SB p73. Students guess what the connection is between the two photos. Check answers now or after 5c). Note that Abagnale is pronounced /ˌæbənˈdʒaɪl/ and Jr is short for 'junior'. In the USA, when a father and son have the same first name, the son is usually called Joe Jr, etc.

The first photo is of Frank Abagnale Jr. The second photo shows Leonardo DiCaprio in the film Catch Me If You Can, which is about Frank Abagnale Jr's life.

b) Be prepared with definitions, examples, etc. to pre-teach the vocabulary in the box. Note that a con artist is a person who deceives other people by making them believe something false or making them give money away. A bad cheque is a cheque that cannot be cashed. Also point out that the FBI stands for the Federal Bureau of Investigation, one of the national police forces in the USA.

Model and drill the words/phrases with the class. Pay particular attention to the pronunciation of frank /frɒŋk/, cheque /tʃek/, overdrawn /əʊvə'drɔ:n/ and FBI /ef bi: 'aʊ/.

c) Students read the article and find out how many different jobs Frank Abagnale Jr has had and what he does now. Check answers with the class. Also check the answer to 5a) if you haven't already done so.

He has been a pilot, a doctor, a lawyer and a sociology lecturer. He now runs a successful business that gives advice to companies on how to stop fraud and he also gives lectures to the FBI for free.

6 a) Students do the exercise on their own. Early finishers can check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

1 Because he wrote bad cheques. 2 Because his hair was already going grey. 3 He found out that pilots could fly for free as guests on other airlines. 4 A lawyer (he passed his law exams the third time he took them). 5 Miami and France. 6 Five years.

b) Students discuss the questions in groups. Ask students to share their answers with the class.

Help with Vocabulary Connecting words:
... however ...
... despite, in spite of ...

7 a) Focus students on the example sentence or write it on the board. Ask students how many clauses there are (two) and to underline or point out the connecting word (Although). Ask students how you would write this as two sentences (Frank was rich. He was lonely and unhappy.). Point out that the first sentence has a positive meaning and the second sentence has a negative meaning.

b)-d) Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in V9.3 SB p134. Check answers with the class.

- b) Although /ɔ:l'təʊ/, even though /ðəʊ/, despite, in spite of and however are similar in meaning to but.
- We use although, even though, despite and in spite of to contrast two clauses in the same sentence.
- We use however to contrast two sentences.
- Point out that even though is usually stronger than although.
- In spoken English we often use though instead of although/even though. We usually put though at the end of a sentence: It was a lovely meal. I didn't like the wine, though.
- We also say despite the fact that + clause: We got lost, despite the fact that we had two different maps.
- c) After despite and in spite of we usually use a noun or verb+ing: In spite of/Despite his age, people believed he was a pilot. In spite of/Despite being so young, people believed he was a pilot.

- After although and even though we usually use a clause: He moved to Atlanta and got a job as a doctor, although/even though he didn't have any medical training.
- Point out that we can put although, even though, despite and in spite of at the beginning or in the middle of a sentence: I went out, even though I was tired. = Even though I was tired, I went out.
- Also highlight that we usually put however at the beginning of a sentence.
- We use a comma (,) after the first clause in sentences with although, even though, despite and in spite of. We also use a comma after However.

8 Focus students on the example. Highlight that felt in the first sentence changes to feeling in the rewritten sentence because despite is usually followed by a noun or verb+ing. Students rewrite the rest of the sentences on their own. While students are working, monitor and help them with any problems.

Students check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

2 Robin slept really well, in spite of the noise./In spite of the noise, Robin slept really well. (Note that the clauses can be reversed in all the answers apart from sentence 4.) 3 Even though I don't get paid very much, I enjoy my job. 4 Erica was well-qualified. However, she didn't get the job. 5 We enjoyed the concert, even though there weren't many people there. 6 They watched TV all night, despite having to work the next day. 7 Even though the teacher explained it twice, I still didn't understand it.

9 a) Students do the exercise on their own. Tell students that they can write one or two words only to remember each of the four things.

b) Ask students if they can remember how to tell if someone is lying. If necessary, remind them of the following signs from the interview in 2c): avoiding eye contact or making more eye contact than usual, smiling a lot (but without using the muscles round the eyes), looking to the left, looking down or straight ahead, covering their mouths, touching their noses.

Put students into groups of four. Students take turns to tell the group their four things. Other students in the group can ask one question about each thing to try and find out if the person is lying. When each student has finished talking about his/her four things, the other three students then decide which two things he/she is lying about.

When students have finished, ask each group to decide who the best and worst liar was, and why.

c) Ask students to tell the class who the worst liar in each group was and why they could tell he/she was lying. Finally, ask students who was the best liar in each group.

EXTRA IDEA

- Finish the class by saying two true and two false sentences about yourself and ask students to decide when you are lying.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews parts of the body. Students work in their own and write all the parts of the body that they know. Set a time limit of two minutes. Students compare lists in pairs to find out who has the most words. Students then work with their partner and take turns to point to a part of the body. Their partner says the word.

- 1 a) Students do the exercise on their own or in pairs before checking new words/phrases in V8.4 SB p134.

Note that only new words/phrases are included in the dictionary box in the Language Summary.

Check students understand the difference between a runny nose and a blocked-up nose. Point out that flu is short for influenza.

Highlight that hay fever is a type of allergy, usually to pollen. Also tell students that wheezy is an adjective and sneeze can be a verb or a noun. Teach students that when other people sneeze, we usually say Bless you!

Note that be sick has two meanings: 'be ill' or 'vomit/throw up'. In American English, be sick is more common than be ill: Sorry, I can't come to work today. I'm ill. (UK) I'm sick. (US).

Point out that we don't usually add an -s to make the plural of paracetamol: Take two paracetamol every four hours. You can teach students that the opposite of have diarrhoea is be constipated, which is a false friend in some languages.

Model and drill the words/phrases. Highlight the pronunciation of antibiotics /ˌæntɪˈbaɪˈɒtɪks/, diarrhoea /daɪəˈrɪə/, throat /θrəʊt/ and stomach ache /ˈstamək eɪk/. Also point out that temperature /ˈtemprətʃə/ is three syllables, not four, and that the stress on hay fever is on the first word, not the second.

d) Reorganise the class so that the pairs of students who swapped papers are sitting in groups of four. Each pair takes turns to role-play the conversation for the other pair. b) Students role-play the conversations with their partner. Student A starts conversation 1 and student B starts conversation 2.

c) Ask students to tell the class about their symptoms and the treatment their doctors suggested. Also find out if students were happy with their doctor's advice and ask them to give reasons for their answers.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews health problems and symptoms. Students do the first part of the activity on their own. Set a time limit of two or three minutes. Put students into pairs. Students take turns to mime their words. Their partner guesses what the health problem or symptom is. If necessary, demonstrate this activity for the class before they start working in pairs.

Vocabulary Contacting people

- 1 Students do the exercise on their own, then check their answers in V10.1 SB p136. Check answers with the class. Highlight that get hold of implies difficulty and is often used with manage or can't/couldn't: Did you manage to get hold of Mrs Edwards?

Point out that we can say keep in touch with someone or stay in touch with someone, and teach students get back in touch with someone (communicate with someone again after a long time).

Also point out that we can say be/lose/keep/get in touch with someone or be/lose/keep/get in contact with someone: I'm still in touch/contact with my old boss.

Model and drill the phrases.

Note that only the main stress in words/phrases is shown in vocabulary boxes and the Language Summaries.

2 give 3 leave; call 4 let 5 're/are 6 lost 7 keep 8 heard; get

- 2 Students do the exercise in pairs.
Ask each pair to share interesting answers with the class.

Listening and Grammar

- 3 a) Check students understand a marriage /'mæridʒ/ (the relationship between a husband and wife) and compare it to a wedding (the ceremony when two people get married). Students write five things that they think make a successful marriage, as in the examples.

b) Put students into pairs to compare their lists. Encourage students to give reasons why they have chosen the things on their lists. Each pair then chooses the five most important things from both lists.

c) Put the class into groups, or finish the activity with the whole class. Students agree on a final list of five things people need for a successful marriage.

Review Past Perfect

4 If students have been working in groups, ask each group to tell the class their top five things and write them on the board. Students can then choose a final list of five things from all the things on the board.

- 4 a) Focus students on the picture of a wedding. Students match the words in the box to the people in the picture. Check answers with the class.

Point out that the bride and the groom are the man and woman getting married. In British weddings the groom usually has a best man, who looks after the wedding ring and makes a speech at the reception. The bride usually has one or more bridesmaids, who help her prepare for the wedding.

the bride: Peggy; the groom: Tom;
the best man: Derek; the bridesmaid: Brenda

- b) Tell students they are going to listen to Peggy talking to her son, Leo, about her wedding anniversary.

R10.1 Give students time to read questions 1-3, then play the recording (SB p153). Students listen and check their answers. Check answers with the class.

1 No, they're not. 2 They want to organise a party.
3 Because they want to invite all the people who came to their parents' wedding.

- c) Put students into pairs. Students read the summary of the conversation and try to correct five mistakes. Don't check their answers at this stage.

d) Play the recording again. Students listen and check their answers to 4c). Check answers with the class.

... married for 25 years ... Derek Bradley, and his wife, Brenda, moved to the USA many years ago. Peggy doesn't know how to get in touch with them. She's still in touch with Trevor Jones ...

EXTRA IDEAS

- If you think your students will find 4c) difficult, play the recording again and ask them to correct the mistakes while they listen.
- If your class are finding the recording difficult, ask them to look at R10.1, SB p153. Play the recording again. Students listen, read and check their answers.

- 5 a)–d) Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in 610.1 SB p137. Check answers with the class.

- a) 1 Yes, they did.
2 No, they didn't.
3 Yes, they did.
4 No, they aren't.
5 Yes, he did.
6 No, he didn't.
7 Yes, he did.
8 No, she didn't.
- b) We use was/were going to talk about plans we made in the past which didn't happen, or won't happen in the future.
• We use was/were supposed to to talk about things we agreed to do, or other people expected us to do, but we didn't do.
• Tell students that we often use was/were going to or was/were supposed to to apologise for not doing something. We usually give a reason: Sorry, I was going to call you back last night, but I didn't get home until late.
• Note that was/were going to and was/were supposed to are quite similar in meaning and native speakers sometimes confuse the two forms.
- c) After was/were going to and was/were supposed to we use the infinitive: It was going to be a surprise party. I was supposed to call you back.
• Point out that we can also use was/were going to and was/were supposed to in negative sentences and questions.

- 6 Focus students on the examples to highlight that we usually use the weak forms of was /wəz/ and were /wə/ in sentences with was/were going to and was/were supposed to.

610.2 P Play the recording (SB p154). Students listen and practise. Check students copy the sentence stress and weak forms correctly.

- 7 a) Students do the exercise on their own. Check answers with the class.

2f) 3a) 4g) 5c) 6c) 7d)

- b) Focus students on the example. Students do the exercise on their own. Early finishers can check their sentences in pairs. Check answers with the class.

2 Peggy and Tom were going to call Trevor and Sheila, but they lost their phone number.

3 Leo was supposed to try and find the Bradleys' address on the Internet, but his computer wasn't working.

4 Karen was going to get her parents a present on Monday, but she couldn't find her credit card.

5 Leo was going to buy himself a new suit last week, but he didn't have enough money.

6 Leo was supposed to get in touch with Jane Lewis, but he lost her phone number.

7 Leo's parents Tom and Peggy were supposed to go through go through their old address books, but they couldn't find them.

Get ready ... Get it right!

- 8 Students do the exercise on their own. Tell students to write words or phrases, as in the example, not complete sentences.

- 9 a) Put students into pairs. Students take turns to tell their partner about the things on their list, as in the speech bubbles. Encourage students to ask follow-up questions and continue each conversation for at least 30 seconds if possible.

While students are working, monitor and correct any mistakes you hear.

- b) Finally, ask students to tell the class their partner's best reason for not doing one of the things on his or her list.

EXTRA IDEA

-  At the beginning of the next class, write the following prompt on the board: I was going to hand in my homework today, but .... Give students a few moments to think of an interesting or unusual excuse for not handing in their homework. Go around the class and elicit students' sentences. The class decides which is the most original excuse.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews vocabulary for contacting people. Students do the first part of the activity on their own. Put students into pairs. Students take turns to tell their partners about the people on their list. Encourage students to ask questions about the people if possible. Ask students to tell the class about one person on their list.

Vocabulary Describing people

- 1 a) Students do the exercise on their own, then check new words/phrases in V10.2 SB p136. Check answers with the class (see V10.2 SB p136).

Teach students the verb dye: I'm going to dye my hair.

Check students understand that when a man is losing his hair we say: He's going bald. If he has no hair, we just say: He's bald. For people whose hair is turning grey we can also say: He/She's going grey.

Point out that jewellery is an uncountable noun.

Tell students that when we use more than one adjective to describe someone's hair, we usually use the order 'length, style, colour': She's got long, straight, brown hair.

Also point out that we often use in his/her teens/early twenties/mid-thirties/late forties etc. to talk about someone's approximate age. We use a hyphen (-) with mid-twenties, etc. but not with early forties, late fifties, etc. Highlight that we use The person/man/woman/one with ... + (red) hair, glasses, a beard, etc., but The person/man/woman/one in ... + clothes: She's the woman with long wavy hair and glasses. He's the one in a blue suit.

Model and drill the words/phrases in V10.2 SB p136. Pay particular attention to the pronunciation of dyed /daɪd/, striped /straɪpt/ and jewellery /ˈdʒuːəlri/.

- b) Focus students on the picture of Tom and Peggy's 25th wedding anniversary party. Ask students what they remember about Tom and Peggy from lesson 10A. Focus students on the speech bubbles and ask who the person is describing (2). Also teach the phrase: You mean him/her?

Students work in pairs and take turns to describe the people, using words/phrases from 1a) and their own ideas. Their partner guesses who he/she is describing.

While students are working, monitor and check they are using the language from 1a) correctly.

EXTRA IDEA

- Ask students to draw their family tree. Put students into pairs. Students work in pairs and take turns to describe members of their family using the language from 1a).

Listening and Grammar

- 2 a) R10.3 Play the recording (SB p154). Students listen and match the names to people 1–7 in the picture, and find out where Peggy's husband, Tom, is.

Students check answers in pairs, giving reasons for their choices. Check answers with the class.

Also check which people are talking on the recording (Karen, Peggy, Jane, Leo and Trevor). Ask students which people in the picture are Karen and Leo. (Karen and Leo are standing at the back of the picture. Leo is wearing a striped shirt and glasses. Karen is wearing a long dress and has her hair in a ponytail.)

Brenda 4 Jane 3 Derek 1 Nick 6 Trevor 7 Sheila 5
Tom is in the bathroom (practising his speech).

EXTRA IDEA

- Ask students to look back at the picture of Peggy and Tom's wedding on SB p76. Students work in pairs and describe how the people have changed in 25 years.

- b) Give students time to read sentences 1–10. Check students understand a speech.

Play the recording again. Students listen and decide who said each sentence: Peggy, Karen or Leo.

- c) Students check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

2 Karen 3 Peggy 4 Leo 5 Karen 6 Leo 7 Peggy 8 Leo
9 Leo 10 Peggy

Help with Grammar verbs (2)

- 3 a) Ask students if sentences 1–10 in 2b) talk about the past, the present or the future (the present).

- b) Students do the exercise on their own or in pairs. Check answers with the class.

b) 3; 10
c) 4; 5; 8
d) 2; 7
e) 6

- c)–f) Students do the rest of the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in G10.2 SB p137. Check answers with the class.

- c) We use must to talk about something that we believe is true. 2b) sentences 3 and 10.
- We use could, may or might to talk about something that we think is possibly true. 2b) sentences 1, 4, 5 and 8.
- We use can't to talk about something that we believe isn't true. 2b) sentences 2 and 7.
- When we know something is definitely true, or is definitely not true, we don't use a modal verb. 2b) sentences 9 and 6.
- To illustrate the point, ask students to compare these two sentences: Leo's in the dining room (I know this because I saw him go in there). Leo must be in the dining room (I can't see him anywhere else so I am making a deduction).
- Point out that we don't use can or mustn't to make deductions: It could be him. not ~~It can be him.~~ He can't be a millionaire. not ~~He mustn't be a millionaire.~~
- You can also tell students that could and might are more common than may.
- d) Sentences 2, 4, 5, 6, 8 and 10 are talking about states. Sentences 1, 3, 7 and 9 are talking about something happening now.
- e) To make deductions about states we use: modal verb + infinitive.
- To make deductions about something happening now we use: modal verb + be + verb+ing.

4 R10.4 P Play the recording. Students listen and practise. Check they copy the sentence stress. Play the recording again if necessary.

5 Check that students remember who Karen is (Peggy and Tom's daughter).

Students do the exercise on their own before checking in pairs. Check answers with the class.

1 could 2 may 3 can't 4 must 5 might 6 must
7 can't 8 could; may

6 Students do the exercise on their own. Remind students that they must use either the infinitive or a form of be + verb+ing. Check answers with the class.

2 be doing 3 know 4 love 5 be working 6 be losing
7 need

7 a) R10.5 Tell students they are going to hear six short recordings of sounds and voices. Play the six recordings. Students listen and write sentences with must, may, might, could or can't about what they think is happening in each recording. Pause after each recording to allow students time to write. Play the six recordings again if necessary.

b) Students compare sentences in groups and find out if any of their deductions are the same. If they aren't the same, students discuss which of the group's sentences are correct.

c) Play the six recordings again, pausing after each recording to check students' sentences. Say whether you think each sentence is correct.

Possible answers 2 Someone must be cooking sausages/frying something. 3 He might be late./He must be stuck in a traffic jam. 4 They could be watching a football match. 5 They must be at work./They can't know each other very well. 6 Someone may be heating up a ready meal/cooking something in a microwave.

8 Focus students on the picture. Tell students that all these things belong to people at the party. Students work on their own and decide who they think owns each thing.

 Elicit the names of the people at the party and write them on the board before students begin (Tom, Peggy, Karen, Leo, Derek, Brenda, Trevor, Sheila, Nick, Jane).

9 a) Students compare answers in groups. Students discuss who they think each thing belongs to, using modal verbs of deduction. Encourage students to give reasons for their deductions, as in the example.

Note that students must use modals of deduction in their discussions, even if they believe they know the correct answer, as they don't know for certain who the things belong to.

While students are working, monitor and correct any mistakes you hear.

b) Students turn to SB p141 to check their answers. Finally, ask the class how many answers they got right.

baseball cap: Nick Bradley; wedding photos: Peggy; glasses case: Brenda Bradley; speech: Tom; earrings: Jane Lewis; wedding ring: Sheila Jones; football key ring: Leo; driving test book: Karen; London book: Brenda Bradley; wallet: Derek Bradley; watch: Trevor Jones

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews vocabulary for describing people and modal verbs of deduction. Students write descriptions of three people in the class on their own, as in the example. Make sure students don't include the person's name in their sentences. Put students into pairs. Students take turns to say their sentences. Their partner guesses who the person is, using modal verbs of deduction, as in the example.

Reading and Vocabulary

- 1 Students discuss the questions in groups. If possible, include students from different countries in the same group. Ask students to share their ideas with the class.

EXTRA IDEAS

- If you have a multilingual class, ask students to describe a typical wedding in their country in pairs or groups.
- Alternatively, students can describe the last wedding they went to.

- 2 a) Focus students on the magazine article. You can point out that the title 'For better, for worse', is taken from the vows that people make when they get married:
I (groom/bride) take you (bride/groom) to be my (wife/husband), to have and to hold from this day forward; for better, for worse, for richer, for poorer, in sickness and in health, to love and to cherish, till death do us part.

Students do the exercise on their own. Early finishers can check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

1 fourth 2 went 3 had 4 has 5 Fewer

- b) Students do the exercise on their own. Check answers with the class.

Ask students if any of the numbers surprised them. If appropriate, you can also ask students about the divorce rate in their own countries.

A typical wedding costs about £16,000.

A typical wedding lasts six hours.

A typical wedding costs about £2,600 an hour.

The average cost of a divorce is £15,000.

In 1971 there were 459,000 weddings in the UK.

In 2001 there were 286,000 weddings in the UK.

The divorce rate in the UK is 53%.

The divorce rate in Italy is 12%.

- c) Focus the students on the phrasal verbs in bold in the article. Students work on their own and match them to meanings 1–10. Encourage students to guess the meaning of the phrasal verbs from the context where possible. Remind students to write the infinitives of the verbs.

- d) Students check their answers in type 1 SB p136. Check answers with the class.

Tell students that we can say split up or break up.

2 get over 3 go up 4 look up 5 point out 6 put off
7 fall out 8 come up with 9 split up 10 come across

Help with Vocabulary phrasal verbs (3)

- 3 a) Students read about the four types of phrasal verbs.

Alternatively, write the examples on the board and go through the four types of phrasal verbs with the class, highlighting the position of the object for phrasal verbs types 2, 3 and 4.

- b)–c) Students do the exercise in pairs, then check their answers in type 1 SB p136. Check answers with the class.

- b) TYPE 1 split up; go up TYPE 2 come across sth TYPE 3 put sth off; point sth out TYPE 4 come up with sth
- Point out that we can sometimes add a preposition to some type 1 phrasal verbs to make them type 4 phrasal verbs: I've never fallen out with my brother. Georgina has just split up with her boyfriend.
- Note that if the object in a type 3 phrasal verb is long, we put it at the end: He pointed out some problems in the report. not He pointed some problems in the report out.

EXTRA IDEA

- Write these phrasal verbs on the board in random order: come back, log on, get back, set off (type 1 phrasal verbs); deal with, go through, look after (type 2); tidy up, pick up, sort out (type 3); look forward to, put up with, go out with (type 4). Students work in pairs and decide if the phrasal verbs are type 1, 2, 3 or 4.

- 4 Put students into pairs, student A and student B. Student A turn to SB p106 and student B turn to SB p111. Check they are all looking at the correct exercise.

- a) Students do the exercise on their own. Check the answers with the class. Only check the words students need to fill in the gaps, so that the students in the other group don't hear the questions they are about to be asked.

Student A 1 split up 2 get over 3 coming up with 4 get out of 5 looked up 6 put ... off

Student B a) get out of b) fallen out c) get over
d) gone up e) point ... out f) come across

b) Students work with their partner and take turns to ask and answer the questions. Encourage students to ask follow-up questions if possible.

- 5 Focus students on the example and highlight that we can put the words in brackets (her divorce) in the second gap in the sentence, but not the first.

Students do the exercise on their own before checking in pairs. Check answers with the class. Ask students to give reasons for their answers by saying what type of phrasal verb is in each sentence.

2 ✓; ✓ 3 ✓; X 4 X; ✓ 5 ✓; ✓ 6 ✓; X 7 X; ✓ 8 ✓; ✓ 9 ✓; X

Listening

- 6 a) Focus students on the photos and ask students what they know about the people. Also ask students what these two couples have in common (they both got divorced).

Boris Becker is a former world number 1 tennis player from Germany. He won six Grand Slam tournaments and in 1985 he became the youngest ever winner of Wimbledon at the age of 17. He married Barbara Feltus in 1993, but they got divorced in 2001.

Steven Spielberg is an American film director and producer. He directed Jaws, E.T., Indiana Jones and the Temple of Doom, Jurassic Park, War of the Worlds and Saving Private Ryan. He married actress Amy Irving in 1985, but they got divorced in 1989.

b) Be prepared with definitions, examples, etc. to pre-teach the vocabulary in the box, or bring in dictionaries for students to check the meanings themselves.

Model and drill the words. Highlight the pronunciation of legal /'li:ɡəl/, guarantee /ˌɡærən'ti:/ and court /kɔ:t/.

c) Check students understand radio phone-in (a radio programme where members of the public phone in to give their opinions or to ask an expert questions about a particular topic).

R10.6 Play the recording (SB p154). Students listen and answer the questions. Check answers with the class. Tell students that a prenuptial agreement is sometimes called a prenup.

1 A prenuptial agreement is like a divorce contract that couples sign before they get married. They agree how they'll divide up their property and money if they ever get divorced. 2 Yes, she does. She says that if both the husband and wife agree to follow the prenuptial agreement when they get divorced, then they don't need a lawyer at all.

d) Give students time to read sentences 1–5, then play the recording again. Students listen, tick the true sentences and correct the false ones.

1F Most couples don't usually get half of everything they own. 2T 3F Boris Becker and Barbara Feltus were married for seven years. 4F Amy Irving got $100 million when she got divorced. 5F You don't need a lawyer to deal with a prenuptial agreement.

Help with Listening and /d/ at the end

- This Help with Listening section focuses on when we say /t/ and /d/ at the end of words in natural spoken English and when we leave these sounds out.

- 7 a) Focus students on the sentences from the recording. Students do the exercise on their own or in pairs, as in the examples.

10.6 While students are working, write the sentences on the board so that you are ready to check their answers.

b) R10.6 Play the beginning of the recording again. Students listen and check their answers.

Play the recording again, pausing after each sentence. Elicit students' answers and circle or cross out each t or d in bold on SB p81 in the sentences on the board.

Alison, first of all, we should start with the most obvious question – what exactly is a prenuptial agreement?

Well, it's like a divorce contract couples sign before they get married. They agree how they'll divide up their property and money if they ever get divorced.

c) Students choose the correct word in the rule on their own. Check the answer with the class.

Point out that the /t/ and /d/ sounds that are pronounced in the example sentences link to the vowel sound at the beginning of the next word (first of, etc.).

We don't usually hear /t/ or /d/ sounds at the end of words when the next word starts with a consonant sound.

d) Ask students to turn to R10.6, SB p154. Play the whole recording again. Students listen and notice when we don't say the /t/ and /d/ sounds at the end of words.

- 8 Students discuss the questions in groups. If possible, include men and women in each group. Finally, ask students to share their ideas and opinions with the class.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews phrasal verbs. Students work on their own and make a list of eight phrasal verbs they know. Put students into pairs. Students swap papers and take turns to say a sentence for each of the phrasal verbs on their partner's list. Students decide if their partner's sentences are correct. While students are working, monitor and help them with any problems. Ask a few students to tell the class one of their sentences.

1 Check students remember relatives (all the people in your family). Students discuss the questions in groups. Ask each group to share interesting answers with the class.

2 a) Focus students on the pictures. Ask students who Peggy and Tom are (the couple who had a 25th wedding anniversary party in lesson 10B) and what they remember about Derek, Brenda and Nick Bradley (Derek Bradley was Tom's best man and Brenda was Peggy's bridesmaid. They now live in New York with their teenage son, Nick). Tell students that Derek, Brenda and Nick are staying with Peggy and Tom after the party.

R10.7 Give students time to read sentences a)–f), then play the recording (SB p154). Students listen and fill in the gaps.

b) Put students into pairs. Students check their answers to 2a) and match conversations 1–3 to pictures A–C. Check answers with the class.

- a) emails b) books c) photos d) girlfriend
e) sandwich f) washing

3 a) Check students remember give/refuse permission. Focus students on responses 1–6 from the conversations. Students work on their own and decide if each response is giving permission or refusing permission.

c) R10.8 Play the recording again. Students listen and check their answers to 3a) and 3b). Check answers with the class.

Real World asking for, giving and refusing permission

Help with Listening intonation (3): asking for permission

Review phrasal verbs

- a) 3 infinitive 4 Past Simple 5 infinitive 6 Present Simple
- Point out that we use phrases 1–6 in 4a) to ask for permission to do something.
- Also point out that could, may and can are modal verbs and are therefore followed by an infinitive.
- Is it OK if I... and Do you mind if I... are followed by the Present Simple, not the infinitive, as I is the subject of the if clause. You can illustrate this by eliciting how you can ask permission for other people to do things: Is it OK if Nick uses your computer?
- Also point out that Would you mind if I gave my girlfriend a call? is a second conditional and is a very polite way to ask for permission.
- We can also use Could I...? or Is it all right if I...? to ask for permission: Could I borrow your pen? Is it all right if I use your phone?
- b) 1 Yes, of course. 2 No, not at all.
- c) Would you mind if I...?
- Highlight that we usually give permission by saying: Yes, of course (you can't is, etc.); Go ahead; Help yourself.
- Do you mind if I...? and Would you mind if I...? mean 'Is it a problem if I do this?'. To give permission for these phrases we usually say: No, not at all.
- Point out that Actually, I'd rather you didn't, if you don't mind, is a very polite way to refuse permission.
- d) 1 No, we don't. 2 Yes, we do. 3 Sorry/Actually, ...
- Tell students that we don't usually say no to refuse permission because it isn't polite. We usually give a reason instead.

Help with Listening Intonation (3):

- This Help with Listening section focuses on the difference between polite and impolite intonation patterns when asking for permission.

5 R10.9 Play the recording. Students listen and decide which question sounds more polite, a) or b). Play the recording again. Pause after each pair of sentences to check students' answers. Use the example to point out that when we are being polite, our voice starts higher and moves up and down more. A flat intonation pattern makes the person sound either rude or bored when asking for permission and is less likely to get a positive response.

- 2b) 3b) 4a) 5a) 6b)

- 6 LISTEN & PRACTISE Play the recording (SB p155). Students listen and practise.

Check students copy the polite intonation when they ask for permission. Play the recording again if necessary.

EXTRA IDEA

- Students work in pairs and think of three things they would like to ask you permission for. Students ask you their questions. You decide whether to give or refuse permission, giving reasons where appropriate.

- 7 a) Students do the exercise on their own. Check answers with the class. Model and drill the sentences if necessary.

1 May I see what you've written? 2 Can I use your dictionary for a moment? 3 Do you think I could borrow some money? 4 Do you mind if I take a photo of you? 5 Is it OK if I borrow your CD-ROM for a few days? 6 Would you mind if I used your mobile to call the USA?

- b) Put students into pairs. Students take turns to say the sentences in 7a). His/Her partner decides whether to give or refuse permission. If students refuse permission, they must give a reason.

Encourage students to use polite intonation when they ask permission.

While students are working, monitor and correct their intonation where necessary.

Ask a few pairs to practise their requests and responses in front of the class.

- 8 Put students into pairs, student A and student B. Student A turn to SB p105 and student Bs turn to SB p110.

- a) Students work on their own and read the information about the two conversations. Students then decide what they want to say in each conversation.

While students are working, monitor and help them with any problems. Encourage students to use a different phrase for each request. Also remind students that if they want to refuse permission, they must give a reason.

- b) Students work with their partners and role-play the conversations. While students are working, monitor and correct any mistakes you hear.

- c) Students tell the class which things their partner refused permission for and the reasons they gave. Finally, you can ask one or two pairs to role-play their conversations for the class.

Ask students to turn to p101 and look at I'm Not in Love. This song was first recorded by the British band 10CC /ten si: 'si/ in 1975. It was also recorded by the American singer Tori Amos and the British band Westlife.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews ways of asking for, giving and refusing permission. Put students into pairs, but don't let them talk to each other yet. Students do the first part of the activity on their own. Students then work with their partners and take turns to ask for, give or refuse permission. Remind students that when they refuse permission, they must give a reason. Ask students to tell the class one or two things their partners gave them permission to do.

Vocabulary Things people do at work

1 Students do the exercise on their own, then check their answers in V11.1 SB p138. Check answers with the class. Check students understand that unsocial hours are times when most people don't work, for example evenings, nights and weekends.

Point out that you can do overtime or work overtime.

Also check students understand that run in this context means manage.

Note that the person in charge of a public company is usually called the managing director (UK) or the CEO (= Chief Executive Officer, US).

Highlight that we usually use customers to talk about people who buy things from shops, restaurants and businesses. We usually use clients to talk about people who pay money for services from lawyers, banks, etc.

Model and drill the phrases. Highlight the pronunciation of audition /əˈdɪʃən/, finances /ˈfaɪnənsɪz/, shifts /ʃɪfts/ and clients /ˈklaɪnts/. Also point out that the stress on organise is on the first syllable, not the third.

Note that only the main stress in words/phrases is shown in vocabulary boxes and the Language Summaries.

work unsocial hours; sort out people's problems;
organise conferences; do overtime; go for an audition;
run a department; be responsible for the finances;
deal with customers/clients; arrange meetings;
work shifts; be in charge of a company

EXTRA IDEA

- Students work in pairs and take turns to test each other on the collocations. One student says the words/phrases from B, for example conferences, and his/her partner says the whole collocation, for example organise conferences.

2 a) Students do the exercise on their own.

b) Put students into pairs. Students take turns to tell their partner about the people whose names they wrote down in 2a). Encourage students to use phrases from 1 in their conversations and to ask follow-up questions if possible. You can also ask each pair to decide which person has the most interesting job.

Ask students to tell the class about some of the people they discussed.

Listening and Grammar

3 Focus students on the photo. The two people in the picture are Max and Gabi. Max is the boss of On The Box, a company that makes TV programmes, and Gabi is his PA (personal assistant).

Tell students they are going to listen to Gabi talking to an actress called Fiona on the phone.

R11.1 Give students time to read questions 1–4, then play the recording (SB p155). Students listen and answer the questions. Check answers with the class.

1 He's in a meeting all day. 2 She's in hospital.

3 She was in a car accident and she's broken her leg.

4 She's going to ask him to call Fiona back in the morning.

4 R11.1 Give students time to read sentences 1–8, then play the recording again. Students listen and fill in the gaps. Students check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

2 accident 3 month 4 operation 5 Friday

6 programme 7 soon 8 Max

5 a) Focus students on the photo again. Tell the class that it is now the next day and Gabi is giving Max his messages from the previous day.

R11.2 Give students time to read sentences a)–h), then play the recording (SB p155). Students listen and put the sentences in the order Gabi says them.

Check answers with the class. You can also ask students what Gabi is going to do to solve the problem (she's going to find three people who can come in for auditions tomorrow morning).

Help with Grammar

6 a)–c) Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in Gr11 SB p139. Check answers with the class.

- a) Present Continuous → Past Continuous; Present Perfect Simple → Past Perfect; Past Simple → Past Perfect; am/is/are going to → was/were going to; will → would; can → could; must → had to.
- Remind students that we use reported speech when we want to tell someone what another person said. We usually change the verb form in reported speech.
- Highlight that modal verbs could, should, would, might and ought to don't change in reported speech. The modal verb may changes to might: "I may be late." He said he might be late.
- Tell students that the Past Simple doesn't have to change to the Past Perfect. It can stay the same: "I met him in 2003." She said she met him in 2003.
- You can also point out that we don't have to change the verb form if the reported sentence is about something general, or something that is still in the future: "I love classical music." → I told him I love classical music. "John's going on holiday in June." → I told her that John's going on holiday in June.
- b) We never use an object (me, her, etc.) with say: She said (that) ... not ~~She said me (that) ...~~
- We always use an object (me, her, etc.) with tell: She told me (that) ... not ~~She told (that) ...~~
- We don't have to use that after say and tell in reported speech: She told me (that) she'd broken her leg.
- Pronouns (I, he, etc.) and possessive adjectives (my, his, etc.) usually change in reported speech: "We can't come to your party." → She told me that they couldn't come to my party.
- We often change time expressions in reported speech: tomorrow → the next day; next week → the following week; last week → the week before, etc.

7 R11.3 P Play the recording. Students listen and practise. Check students are copying the sentence stress and the weak form of that /ðət/ correctly.

8 a) Tell the class that Gabi is now giving Max some other messages she took yesterday. Focus students on the example. Point out that they must use the verb say or tell in brackets when they write the sentences in reported speech. Students do the exercise on their own, then check answers in pairs.

b) R11.4 Play the recording (SB p155). Students listen and check their answers. Check answers with the class. Note that that is optional in all answers.

2 Carl told me (that) he was going to be in New York next week/the following week. 3 Sid said (that) he hadn't understood your email. 4 Linda Wise said (that) she couldn't come to Monday's meeting. 5 Mrs Lee told me (that) the designs would be ready on Monday. 6 Ted Black said (that) he was having a party on Saturday. 7 Ted Black said (that) he wanted to talk to you about a new project. 8 Your ex-wife told me (that) she'd/she had sold the house.

Help with Listening in he, his, him

- This Help with Listening section helps students to understand when we don't say the /h/ at the beginning of short words like he, his, him and her.

9 a)–b) Focus students on the beginning of the conversation and give students a few moments to read it.

R11.4 Play the beginning of the recording. Students listen and circle each h in bold that they hear. Play the recording again if necessary.

Students check answers in pairs, then choose the correct words in the rules in 9b). Check answers with the class. Point out that when he, his, him or her follow a word that ends in a consonant sound, we often don't say the /h/. If the previous word ends in a consonant sound, these words often link together (said he, call him, etc.). This can make these words difficult to hear in natural spoken English.

- a)
- GABI Well, Mr Hall said he had to talk to you.
- MAX OK, I'll call him later. What's his number?
- GABI He only gave me his mobile number. Here it is.
- MAX What does he want, anyway? I talked to him last week.
- GABI Apparently his wife wants her script back.
- b) We usually hear /h/ in he, his, him and her if it follows a vowel sound. We don't usually hear /h/ in he, his, him and her if it follows a consonant sound.

c) Ask students to turn to R11.4, SB p155. Play the whole of the recording again. Students listen and notice when we don't say /h/ in he, his, him and her.

10 Focus students on the prompts in the box and the examples. Students write four true sentences and four false sentences about themselves, using the prompts or their own ideas. Tell students to write their sentences in random order, not in two groups of four.

- 11 a) Put students into pairs. Students take turns to say their sentences and guess if their partner's sentences are true or false. Before they begin, tell students that they will need to remember their partner's sentences for the next part of the activity. To help them do so, they can write one word only for each sentence.

b) Reorganise the class so that students are working with a new partner. Students take turns to tell each other their first partner's sentences using reported speech, as in the speech bubbles. Their new partner guesses if the sentences are true or false.

Finally, ask students how many sentences they guessed right. Students can share any interesting or surprising things they found out about their classmates.

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews jobs vocabulary. Students work on their own and write all the words for jobs that they know. Set a time limit of three minutes. Students compare lists in pairs to find out who has the most jobs, then tell their partner about anyone they know who has the jobs on either list. Ask students to share any interesting or unusual jobs with the class. Note that students use their lists of jobs again in 1b).

Vocabulary Adjectives to describe jobs

- 1 a) Students work on their own and tick the adjectives they know, then do the exercise in V11.2 SB p138. Students check their answers in pairs. Check answers with the class. Highlight that we can also say I work full-time/part-time. Point out that we can say a rewarding job or a satisfying job. Also highlight that lonely has a negative meaning. Compare these two sentences: I was alone (I was on my own). I was lonely (I was on my own and unhappy about it).

Model and drill the words, focusing on stress. Pay particular attention to the pronunciation of temporary /'tempərərɪ/, glamorous /'glæməərəs/ and dull /dʌl/.

V11.2 2 rewarding 3 stressful 4 challenging 5 part-time
6 full-time 7 repetitive 8 temporary 9 permanent 10 dull

b) Ask students to look at the list of jobs they wrote in the quick review. Students match one adjective from 1a) to each job. Encourage students to use all the adjectives if possible.

c) Put students into the same pairs as in the quick review. Students compare lists and say whether they agree with their partner's choice of adjectives. Discuss any adjectives students disagree about with the class.

EXTRA IDEA

- If you didn't do the quick review, ask students to work in pairs and think of one job for each adjective in 1a). Students can compare their lists in pairs.

b) Focus students on the photo and ask if they recognise any of the people (Max and Gabi, from lesson 11A). Tell students that the other woman, Eva, is having an audition for a part in a TV programme. - 5 a)–c) Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in 11.2 SB p139. Check answers with the class.

- a) We don't use the auxiliaries do, does or did in reported questions: He asked if I had any acting work, not He asked if I did have any acting work.
- We use if or whether when we report questions without a question word: First he asked me if/whether I was working at the moment.
- We sometimes use an object (me, him, etc.) with ask: He asked (me) whether I was available to start next week.
- The changes in the verb forms in reported questions are the same as reported sentences: "What other parts have you had recently?" → He asked me what other parts I'd had recently.
- Remind students that we use reported questions when we want to tell someone what another person asked us.
- b) We make reported Wh- questions with: He asked (me)/He wanted to know + question word + subject + verb.
- We make reported yes/no questions with: He asked (me)/He wanted to know + if or whether + subject + verb.
- Point out that the word order in reported questions is the same as in a positive sentence: I asked her where her brother was. not I asked her where was her brother.
- Also highlight that we don't use question marks with reported questions.

- 6 11.7 P Play the recording. Students listen and practise. Check students copy the sentence stress.

- 7 a) Focus students on sentences 1–10 and the cartoons. Tell students that these are real questions that people have asked in interviews. Go through the example with the class. Students do the exercise on their own.

- b) Students compare answers in pairs, then decide which question is the funniest. Check answers with the class.

2 She asked him what his star sign was. 3 He asked him if/whether it was a problem if he was angry most of the time. 4 She asked them why they weren't in a more interesting business. 5 He wanted to know if/whether he had to wear a suit for the next interview. 6 He wanted to know which job he was applying for. 7 She wanted to know if/whether she could come back when she found her glasses. 8 She wanted to know why she was here/there. 9 He asked her if/whether the company would pay to look after his horse. 10 He asked him if/whether he had been in prison too.

- 8 Check students remember what happened to Eva (she went for an audition). Tell students that Max phoned Eva later the same day to tell her that she's got the job.

- a) The first sentence is a request. The second and third sentences are imperatives.
- b) To report requests, we use asked + object + (not) + infinitive with to: "Can you come to a meeting on Monday?" → He asked me to come to a meeting on Monday. Point out that it is also correct to report the complete request: He asked me if I could come to a meeting on Monday.
- To report imperatives, we use told + object + (not) + infinitive with to: "Be at our offices at ten." → He told me to be at their offices at ten. "Don't accept any more work." → He told me not to accept any more work. Highlight the position of not when we report negative imperatives.
- You can tell students that we also use asked + object + (not) + infinitive with to to report invitations: "Would you like to go with me?" → He asked me to go with him.

- 10 Students do the exercise on their own, then check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

2 She told him to call her at lunchtime. 3 She asked him to pick her up after the meeting. 4 She told him not to worry about her. 5 She asked him to book a table at their favourite restaurant. 6 She told him not to tell anyone about the job yet. 7 She asked him to help her learn her lines.

- 11 Allow students to choose a partner, or put students into pairs yourself. If possible, put students in pairs with someone they don't know very well. Students write six questions to ask their partner, using the prompts or their own ideas. They should write questions that they don't know the answer to. Students are not allowed to talk to their partner at this stage of the activity. While students are working, monitor and check their questions for accuracy.
- 12 a) Students work with their partners and take turns to ask and answer their questions. Make sure all students make notes on their partner's answers, as they will need them for the final stage of the activity.
- b) Reorganise the class so that students are working with a different partner. Students take turns to tell their new partner about their conversation with their first partner in 12a). Students should report the questions and the answers, as in the speech bubble.

Tell students that they can report the six questions their first partner asked and also the six questions they asked him/her (twelve questions in total).

While students are working, monitor and correct any mistakes you hear in the reported questions. Encourage students to discuss any interesting information and ask follow-up questions where appropriate, rather than just report the questions one by one.

c) Finally, ask students to tell the class two interesting things they found out about their first partner.

This activity reviews reported sentences and questions. Students do the first part of the activity on their own. Put students into pairs. Students take turns to tell each other about their conversations using reported speech, as in the example. Ask one or two students to tell the class about interesting conversations they had yesterday.

Reading and Vocabulary

- 1 Check students understand police drama and detective story. Students discuss the questions in groups. Ask students to share interesting answers with the class.
- 2 a) Be prepared with definitions, examples, etc. to pre-teach the vocabulary in the box, or bring in dictionaries for students to check the meanings themselves. Point out that cop is informal for police officer and check students understand undercover cop (a police officer who pretends to be someone else in order to find out information about criminals). Note also that the meaning of bug in the article is a listening device, not an insect.
- b) Focus students on the title of the website article and the photos. Ask students which company made the TV programme Undercover (On The Box) and the name of the actress who appears in both photos (Eva). Students read the article and match the people's names to their roles in the TV programme. Students check their answers in pairs and decide who they can see in the photos. Check answers with the class.

Help with Vocabulary

- 4 a)–b) Students do 4a) on their own, then check their answers in R11.4 SB p138. Check answers with the class.

- a) remind, warn + object + (not) + infinitive with to; refuse, promise, agree, threaten + (not) + infinitive with to; suggest + verb+ing
- Use the examples in the article to highlight the verb patterns in the table: Rupert invited her to have dinner, etc.
- Also highlight that verb forms in other clauses still change as normal: He threatened to kill him if anything went wrong.
- Note that when we use these reporting verbs, we don't have to report every word people say. It's more important to report the idea: "Don't forget to turn off the TV." → She reminded them to turn off the TV. "Yes, OK, it's true. I was the person who crashed your car." → He admitted crashing her car.
- Point out that some reporting verbs can have more than one verb pattern. For example after promise, agree, admit and suggest we can use that + clause: Kat promised (Dom) that she would go out with him. Dom admitted that he was in love with Kat.
- Highlight how we make these verb forms negative and point out that we often use not with warn: He warned Hendrik not to tell anyone about their plan.

- 5 a) Ask students to briefly summarise what happened in episode 4 of Undercover.

Focus students on the two conversations from that episode. Students work on their own and put the sentences in bold in reported speech. Do the first one or two with the class if necessary.

- b) Students check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

1 Dom suggested going to the Ritz. 2 He offered to book a table. 3 He invited Kat to come/go to Paris next weekend/the following weekend. 4 He admitted saying some stupid things sometimes. 5 Kat agreed to talk about Paris after dinner. 6 Rupert warned Hendrik not to be late. 7 Hendrik promised to be there on time. 8 Rupert reminded him to watch out for the cops. 9 Hendrik threatened to tell the police everything he knows/knew. 10 Rupert refused to believe him.

- 8 a) Put students into groups. Students discuss what they think is going to happen in episode 5 of Undercover.

 Elicit students' ideas and write them on the board for checking in 6b).

- b) R11.9 Play the recording (SB p156). Students listen and decide if any of the ideas on the board are correct. Check answers with the class.

- c) Give students time to read sentences 1–8, then play the recording again. Students listen and decide if the sentences are true or false.

Help with Listening • Missing words

- This Help with Listening section shows students that we often miss out words in spoken English when the meaning is clear.

- 7 a) Focus students on the beginning of episode 5 of Undercover. Students read the conversation and notice the missing words. Ask students what kind of words we often miss out (the verb be, pronouns, articles, prepositions and positive auxiliaries).

- b) R11.9 Ask students to turn to R11.9, SB p156. Students listen to the first two parts of episode 5 of Undercover again and notice the missing words.

- 8 Focus students on sentences 1–10 in bold in R11.9, SB p156. Students work in pairs and take turns to say the sentences in reported speech, as in the speech bubble. Students should do this as a speaking activity, not a writing activity. Check answers with the class.

2 Darren suggested calling Kat.

3 Glenn reminded Darren to turn on the camera when they arrived.

4 Hendrik offered to put them/the statues in Rupert's car himself.

5 Hendrik invited Rupert to come and visit him in Amsterdam.

6 Rupert promised to buy some more of his/Hendrik's statues.

7 Gloria threatened to kill Kat if she turned around.

8 Kat admitted working for the SCS.

9 Gloria refused to help the police.

10 Gloria warned Kat not to say a word.

- 9 a) Students work in the same pairs as in 8 and decide what happened at the end of episode 5 of Undercover. Encourage students to include all the characters, if possible.

EXTRA IDEA

-  To help students with ideas, write all the characters' names on the board. Ask the class to tell you each person's location and current situation, and write this information on the board next to each name. Students then do 9a) in pairs.

- b) Students work in pairs and write a summary of what happened at the end of episode 5, using at least five reporting verbs from 3. While students are working, help them with any problems and check they are using the reporting verbs correctly.

c) Students swap articles with another pair. Students read the summary and decide which ending is the best. Finally, ask students to tell the class the main points of the ending they have read. The class can then decide which ending is the best.

EXTRA IDEA

- Students can write their summaries in 9b) for homework. The articles can be displayed around the room for other students to read. Students can then decide which ending they think is the best.

Ask students to share what they remember about the programme with the class.

1 Students discuss the questions in groups. Ask students to share interesting answers with the class.

2 a) Focus students on the photo. Tell students that Nicola is working as a temp (a temporary assistant) for the company On The Box and today is her first day. Ask students who else works for this company (Max and Gabi from lessons 11A and 11B) and what TV programme this company has made (Undercover).

R11.10 Give students time to read sentences 1–6, then play the recording (SB p157). Students listen and choose the correct words/phrases.

1 Max 2 wants 3 to 4 on holiday 5 the BBC 6 the week

b) Focus students on Nicola's notepad and give them a few moments to read it.

Play the recording again. Students listen and fill in the gaps on Nicola's notepad.

Students check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

4 R11.11 P Play the recording (SB p157). Students listen and practise. Check that students copy the polite intonation correctly. Play the recording again if necessary.

Help with Listening stress

- This Help with Listening section focuses on how we usually put the main stress on information that we want to check or correct.

5 a) Focus students on the introductory bullet point and check they understand it.

R11.12 Play the recording. Students listen and mark the main stresses in each sentence. Check answers with the class.

Highlight that Nicola stresses fifty as this is information she is unsure about. Mr Cramer stresses fifty as this is incorrect information and stresses fifteen as this is correct information.

NICOLA And it arrives at twelve fifty.
 MR CRAMER No, not twelve fifty, twelve fifteen.

b) R11.13 Play the recording (SB p157). Students listen and write which words, letters or numbers have the main stress.

Play the recording again, pausing after each pair of sentences to check answers with the class.

See R11.13, SB p157.

c) Ask students to look at R11.13, SB p157. Students work in pairs and practise saying the pairs of sentences they listened to in 5b).

While students are working, monitor and check they are stressing the correct words.

6 a) Students do the exercise on their own. Check answers with the class.

2 mean 3 get 4 say 5 talking 6 give 7 that 8 with 9 with

b) Focus students on the sentences in bold in the conversations in 6a). Students work on their own and decide which words, letters or numbers are said with contrastive stress.

c) R11.14 Play the recording (SB p157). Students listen and check their answers.

Play the recording again, pausing after each sentence to check the answers with the class.

See R11.14, SB p157.

d) Put students into pairs. Students practise the conversations in 6a). Encourage students to practise each conversation until they can remember it.

While students are working, monitor and check they are stressing the correct words.

Ask a few pairs of students to role-play the conversations for the class.

7 Put students into pairs, student A and student B. Student As turn to SB p106 and student Bs turn to SB p111. Check they are all looking at the correct exercise.

a) Students read the information and underline the main points, as in the examples. Students then plan what they are going to say in their phone conversations. Encourage students to make notes, but not to write out the whole conversation word for word.

While students are working, monitor and help them with any problems. Students are not allowed to look at each other's books at any stage of the activity.

b) Students work with their partners. Student As phone student Bs and leave a message.

Encourage student Bs to check information where necessary, using language from lesson 11D. While students are working, monitor and correct any mistakes you hear.

c) Students swap roles so that student Bs phone student As and leave a message.

d) Students take turns to check their partner's message to see if he/she has written down the correct information. Finally, ask how many students wrote down all the information in the message correctly.

EXTRA IDEA

- Reorganise the class so that each student A is working with a different student B. Students repeat the activity with a different partner to give them extra fluency practice.

I wish!

QUICK REVIEW ●●●

This activity reviews ways of checking information. Students do the first part of the activity on their own. Students can invent the names and addresses if they wish. While students are working, write the phrases from 12A1 SB p139 on the board. Put students into pairs. Students take turns say the names and addresses to each other. Their partner writes them down. Encourage students to use the language on the board to check information where necessary. Students then check the names and addresses with their partner.

Vocabulary Informal words and phrases

- 1 a) Students do the exercise in pairs before checking their answers in 12A1 SB p140.

Check answers with the class (see 12A1 SB p140).

Point out that broke in this context is an adjective, not a verb. Also teach students that hang around and be off are type 1 phrasal verbs (they don't have an object). Note that we can also say be off to ... to mean 'be going to a place': I'm off to Brazil next month.

Highlight that fancy is followed by a noun, a pronoun or verb+ing and can't be bothered is followed by the infinitive with to. Point out that the phrases ending in prepositions (feel up to, have a go at, be into, could do with, be sick of) can be followed by a noun, a pronoun or verb+ing.

Model and drill sentences 1–12 with the class. Note that only the main stress in words/phrases are shown in vocabulary boxes and the Language Summaries.

- b) Students do the exercise on their own.

c) Students do the exercise in the same pairs. Encourage students to ask follow-up questions. Students should try to keep each conversation going for at least 20 seconds. Ask students to tell the class about one or two conversations they had.

Listening and Grammar

- 2 a) Focus students on photos A–E. Students work in pairs and discuss what they think the people in each photo are talking about.

Ask students to share their ideas with the class. Don't tell students the answers at this stage.

b) 12A1 Play the recording (SB p157). Students listen and match the conversations to the photos. Check answers with the class.

- a) The sentences talk about the present.
- b) 1 No, she hasn't. 2 Yes, she does.
- Use this example to highlight that we often use sentences with I wish ... to talk about imaginary situations in the present. We often use it to talk about the opposite of what is true or real: I wish we had a dishwasher (The speaker hasn't got a dishwasher now, but she wants one).
- Highlight that even though the sentences talk about the present, we use a past verb form.
- c) To make wishes about states we use wish + Past Simple: I wish we weren't so broke.
- To make wishes about activities happening now we use wish + Past Continuous: I wish you were coming to the match with me.
- To make wishes about abilities or possibilities we use wish + could + infinitive: I wish I could come with you.
- To make wishes about obligations we use wish + didn't have to + infinitive: I wish we didn't have to go to this party.
- Point out that we can say I wish I/he/she/it was ... or I wish I/he/she/it were ...: I wish I was/were taller.
- Also highlight that we often use the second conditional to give reasons for wishes: I wish we had a dishwasher. If we had one, I wouldn't spend my life washing up.
- Note that students often confuse I wish and I hope. Point out that we use I wish for imaginary situations and I hope for real possibilities. I wish you were coming to the party (I know that you aren't coming = imaginary situation). I hope you're coming to the party (I think that you might come = real possibility).
- We can also make sentences with wish with you/hel/she/we/they: He wishes he lived somewhere hotter.

- Students work in pairs and match sentences 1–8 in 5a) with the different uses of wishes in 3c).

6 Students do the exercise on their own, then check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

7 a) Focus students on the example. Ask students what type of conditional this is (a second conditional). Students do the exercise on their own, then check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

b) 'd come; didn't have c) wasn't/weren't; 'd be
d) could; 'd get e) 'd take; didn't have to

b) Students write second conditionals to explain how their life would be different if their wishes in 8a) came true, as in the example.

9 a) Students do the activity in groups of three or four. Encourage students to ask follow-up questions and extend the conversations, as shown in the speech bubbles. When each group has finished, ask them to decide which are the most unusual or surprising wishes.

b) Students take turns to tell the class about the most unusual or surprising wishes in their group. Finally, students can decide on the most unusual or surprising wish in the whole class.

QUICK REVIEW ...

This activity reviews wishes and second conditionals. Students do the first part of the activity on their own. Highlight the examples before they begin. Put students into pairs. Students take turns to tell their partner about their wishes and reasons. Ask students to share their partner's interesting or surprising wishes with the class.

Vocabulary Phrases with get

1 a) Focus students on the table. Tell the class that get in English has many different meanings. Students work on their own and tick the phrases they know. If students don't know some of the phrases, they can check them in the Language Summary after doing 1b).

b) Students work on their own and fill in the gaps in the table with the phrases in the box. Point out that there are three phrases for each box.

Students check their answers in V12.2 SB p140. Check answers with the class (see V12.2 SB p140).

Check students understand get to know someone (learn more about a person by spending time with them) and compare this with meet someone and know someone: I met Tony on holiday five years ago. We spent two weeks in the same hotel and got to know each other quite well. I also know his brother, Michael (I've met him and I know who he is).

Ask students how children at school can get into trouble (by being rude, fighting, etc.).

Point out that we can use other adjectives with get (get married, get annoyed, etc.). Highlight that we also use get to mean buy: Could you get me some bread from the shops?

Model and drill the phrases with the class.

c) Students work in pairs and write other phrases with get that they know, as in the examples.

Possible answers: get upset; get tired; get excited; get engaged; get divorced; get ready; get something right/wrong; get bored; get embarrassed; get (back) to sleep; get home; get ill/sick; get asthma; get a cold/flu; get over something; get up; get dressed; get sacked/fired; get arrested

- 2 a) Students do the exercise on their own. Point out that their sentences can be in the past, present or future, and tell them to write their sentences in random order, not in two groups of three.

While students are working, monitor and help with any problems or new vocabulary.

b) Put students into pairs. Students swap papers and decide which three of their partner's sentences are false. Students check their ideas with their partner to see how many they have guessed right.

Listening and Grammar

- 3 a) Focus students on photos A–C. Students discuss what they think were the most important moments in these people's lives with the class or in pairs. Don't tell students the answers at this stage.

b) Tell students that they are going to listen to the people in the photos talking about important moments in their lives.

- a) 1 The past. 2 No, he didn't. 3 Yes, he did. 4 Imaginary.
- Use the example sentence to show students that we use the third conditional to talk about imaginary situations in the past. They are often the opposite of what really happened: If I'd stayed at home, I wouldn't have met my wife (he didn't stay at home and so he met his wife).
- b) We make the third conditional with: if + subject + Past Perfect, subject + 'd (would)/wouldn't have + past participle.
- c) 1 No, it isn't. 2 Yes, it is.
- Point out that we use a comma (,) when the if clause is first in the sentence: If she hadn't lost her passport, she'd have flown home that day. = She'd have flown home that day if she hadn't lost her passport.
- Tell students that we can use could have in the main clause of the third conditional to talk about ability: If I'd been there, I could have helped you.
- We can also use might have in the main clause of the third conditional to mean 'would have perhaps': If you hadn't got lost, we might have got there on time.
- Note that we don't usually use would in the if clause: If I'd known, I'd have told you. not If I would have known, I'd have told you.

Help with Listening

- This Help with Listening section helps students to understand the third conditional in natural spoken English.

- 6 a) R12.4 Focus students on the examples before playing the recording. Students listen and read the sentences. Highlight the way we say the contractions I'd, wouldn't and hadn't, and the weak form of have /əv/.

b) R12.5 Play the recording (SB p158). Students listen and write the sentences. Play the recording again if necessary. Ask students to check answers in pairs.

 Play the recording again, pausing after each sentence to elicit students' answers and write them on the board. Check that all the contractions are included in each sentence.

1 They'd have come if they'd wanted to. 2 I'd have called you back if you'd left a message. 3 If I'd had some money, I'd have gone out last night. 4 We wouldn't have gone out if we'd known. 5 If I'd had more time, I'd have finished it.

- 7 R12.6 P Play the recording (SB p158). Students listen and practise. Check students copy the stress, contractions and weak form of have /əv/ correctly. Play the recording again if necessary.

You can also ask students to turn to R12.6, SB p158. They can then follow the sentence stress and weak forms of have as they listen and practise.

- Ask students to look again at the sentences in 8a) and say what actually happened using because or so. For example sentence 1: Sandy and Paula met each other because his friend introduced them. Students can also do this for the sentences they wrote down in 6b).

- 9 a) Students do the exercise on their own. While students are working, monitor and help them with any problems. Early finishers can check answers in pairs.

- 5 Mark wouldn't have got depressed if he hadn't lost his job.

QUICK REVIEW ...

This activity reviews the third conditional. Students do the first part of the activity on their own, as in the example. Put students into pairs and ask them to swap sentences. Students take turns to make third conditionals from their partner's sentences, as in the example. Ask each student to tell the class one of their third conditional sentences about their partner.

Listening

- 1 Pre-teach superheroes (imaginary characters from comics, TV or films who fight evil, help people and save the world) and superpowers (special abilities that superheroes have). Students discuss the questions in groups. Ask students to share their answers with the class.

- 3 Stan Lee created the Spider-Man character and wrote the original Spider-Man comics.

EXTRA IDEA

- Find photos or illustrations of other superheroes from magazines or the Internet, for example Superman, The Incredible Hulk, The Fantastic Four, Batman, Wonder Woman, The X-Men, etc. Put the pictures on the board so that students can discuss them in 1.

- 2 a) Be prepared with definitions, examples, etc. to pre-teach the vocabulary in the box, or bring in dictionaries for students to check the meanings themselves. Point out that a fly is a type of insect. Model and drill the words, paying particular attention to the pronunciation of crawl /kro:l/.

- b) Tell students that they are going to listen to a radio interview with the writer, Robin Bell, who has just written a book about Stan Lee.

Help with Listening

STRESS

- This Help with Listening section reviews the work on sentence stress and weak forms that students have done in face2face Intermediate.

- 3 a) Put students into pairs. Focus students on the beginning of the interview. Students decide which words are stressed and which words are said in their weak forms. While students are working, write the beginning of the interview on the board ready for checking.

EXTRA IDEA

- Ask students to look at the Help with Listening sections on SB p16 and SB p56 again to remind them which words are usually said in their weak forms.

- b) V12.7 Play the recording. Students listen and check their answers. Play the recording again, pausing after each sentence and eliciting students' answers. Mark the stress on the sentences on the board and write in the weak forms.

Hello and /ən/ welcome to /tə/ What Are /ə/ You /jə/ Reading?, the programme that /ðət/ looks at /ət/ what's new in the world of /əv/ publishing. With me in the studio is Robin Bell, whose new book, Superhero, tells the story of /əv/ Spider-Man's creator, Stan Lee. Welcome to /tə/ the programme.

- c) Ask students to turn to R12.7, SB p158. Play the whole recording again. Students listen and notice the sentence stress and weak forms.

Reading and Vocabulary

- 4 a) Focus students on the photo of Alain Robert on SB p97. Find out if students have heard of him and ask what he is doing in the photo (climbing up the side of a tall building).

- b) Be prepared with definitions, examples, etc. to pre-teach the vocabulary in the box, or bring in dictionaries for students to check the meanings themselves. Model and drill the words. Point out that the stress on skyscraper is on the first syllable, not the second.

- c) Students read the article and match the topics to paragraphs 1–5. Check answers with the class.

a)2 b)1 c)4 d)3 e)5

- d) Students read the article again and answer the questions. Early finishers can check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.

Ask students for their reactions to the article and their opinion of Alain Robert.

1 Because he'd forgotten his keys. 2 Because they said he'd never climb again after a bad fall, but he was back on a mountain after only six months. 3 Because he climbs without ropes or protective equipment. 4 Because he usually climbs without permission. 5 He climbed the highest skyscraper in Venezuela dressed as Spider-Man. 6 Because it is a form of relaxation and it gives him a sense of what is important on Earth.

EXTRA IDEA

- Ask students to go to Alain Robert's website to find out more about his life and the buildings he has climbed.

Help with Vocabulary

formation (3):

- 5 a)–d) Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs, then check their answers in V12.3 SB p140. While students are working, draw the table from 5a) on the board so that you are ready to check their answers. Check answers with the class.

- a) Focus students on the table on the board. Elicit which words from the article go in each column and complete the table (see the table in V12.3 SB p140).
- b) Focus students on the table again and elicit which are the suffixes for each noun and adjective. Underline these suffixes on the board.
- c) We use these suffixes to make nouns: -ment, -ion, -ence, -ation.
- We use these suffixes to make adjectives: -ing, -ed, -able, -ive, -ful, -less.
- Point out that sometimes the verb and the noun are the same: They really care about the environment (verb). He puts a lot of care into his work. (noun).
- Highlight that we often use -able to mean 'can': It's a very enjoyable film. = people can enjoy this film. He's very dependable. = you can depend on him.
- Remind students that we use -ful to mean 'with'. We use -less to mean 'without'.

6 a)–b) Students do the exercise in pairs, then check their answers in V12.4 SB p140. Check answers with the class.

- a) See the table in V12.4 SB p140.
- Point out that we often don't include the final -e on verbs when we add suffixes: create → creation, pollute → pollution, confuse → confusing, etc.

7 Give students a few minutes to learn the verb families in V12.3 and V12.4 SB p140.

Students do the activity in pairs. One student says a verb from 5a) or 6a) and his/her partner says the other words in the word family. Students should close their books while they are being tested.

- b) Students continue working in their groups. Each group continues to develop their superhero's character based on the prompts. Make sure that all students take notes at this stage, as each student will be describing the group's superhero to other students in the next stage of the activity. While students are working, monitor and help them with ideas and new language.
- c) Reorganise the class so that students from different groups are sitting together. Students take turns to describe their superhero to the other people in the group. End of Course Review

- The aim of this activity is to review language that students have learned throughout the course in a fun, student-centred way. The activity takes about 30–45 minutes.

Check students understand a counter, throw a dice, land on a square, move forward/back and have a rest.

Give students time to read the rules on SB p98 and answer any questions they may have.

Ask students what happens when a student lands on a Grammar or Vocabulary square for the first time (they answer question 1 only).

Ask what happens when a second student lands on the same square (they answer question 2).

Also check what happens when a third student lands on the square (they can stay there without answering a question).

Put students into groups of four and give a dice and counters to each group (or students can make their own counters).

Ask a student with a watch in each group to be the time-keeper for the group. He/She should time students when they land on a Keep Talking square and have to talk about a topic for 40 seconds.

Students take turns to throw the dice and move around the board.

If a student thinks another student's answer to a question on a Grammar or Vocabulary square is wrong, he/she can check in the Language Summaries in the Student's Book, or ask you to adjudicate.

While students are working, monitor and help with any problems.

The first student to get to FINISH is the winner. Students can continue playing until three students have finished.

If one group finishes early, ask them to look at all the squares they didn't land on and answer the questions.

Vocabulary Plus

Instructions

There are twelve Vocabulary Plus worksheets (p177–p188). These worksheets introduce additional vocabulary that is not presented in the Student's Book. The topic of each Vocabulary Plus worksheet is linked to the topic of the corresponding unit in the Student's Book. There is an answer key at the bottom of each worksheet, which can be cut off if necessary. You will need to photocopy one Vocabulary Plus worksheet for each student.

- Use them as extra vocabulary input in class. We suggest you cut off the answer keys and check the answers after each exercise.
- Give them for homework for students to use on their own. You can either leave the answer keys on the worksheets so students can check the answers themselves or cut them off and check answers at the beginning of the next class.
- When you have a mixed-level class, give them to students who finish longer speaking activities early. They can begin the worksheets in class and finish them for homework if necessary. You can then give the worksheet for homework to the other students at the end of the class.

- 2 a)–b) Students do the exercises on their own or in pairs. Check answers with the class.

c) Students write the adjectives on their own. Check answers with the class. Model and drill the words, highlighting the pronunciation of exhausted /ɪg'zɔ:stɪd/ and embarrassed /ɪm'bærəstɪd/. Point out that -ed endings are pronounced as an extra syllable /ɪd/ after a /t/ sound (irritated, frustrated, etc.).

- 3 Students do the exercise on their own, then check answers in pairs. Check answers with the class.
- 4 Students do the exercise on their own before comparing sentences in groups of three or four. Finally, ask each group to tell the class two interesting things they have found out about other students.

Point out that only fruit can be ripe, whereas other types of food (meat, vegetables, milk, etc.) can be fresh. Also point out that still is usually used with mineral water and that the opposite is sparkling. Also teach the verb chew /tʃu:/.
Model and drill the words, paying particular attention to chewy /'tʃu:li/, sour /saʊə/ and savoury /'seɪvəri/. Check students understand the differences between similar words, (for example savoury and salty) by asking students to name another type of food or drink for each word.
Students can then work in pairs and test each other on the vocabulary. Students take turns to point to a picture and ask their partner to say the correct adjective.

Use any time after lesson 4B. 15–25 minutes.

Procedure

- 1 Students do the exercise in pairs. Check answers with the class (see answer key on worksheet). Point out that the prefix over- means 'too' and the prefix self- means 'about yourself'. Also highlight that we only use well-behaved about children or pets.
Model and drill the words. Point out that compound adjectives are generally stressed on the second word, not the first (good-natured, strong-willed, etc.) and highlight that the -ed endings in broad-minded and narrow-minded are pronounced /ɪd/ because they follow a /d/ sound.
Students can then work in pairs and test each other on the vocabulary by taking turns to read a definition and asking their partner to say the correct compound adjective.

How to measure happiness

Scientists have found a new way to measure happiness: they can calculate how ¹satisfied people are with their everyday lives by giving positive and negative points for typical activities. In a ²fascinating survey, scientists discovered that commuting to work is the activity that people find most ³exhausting and ⁴irritating. Many people feel ⁵depressed, ⁶annoyed and ⁷frustrated when they have to do housework and meet deadlines at work. In general, the most ⁸entertaining activity is relaxing with friends and the most ⁹satisfying is spending time with family. However, some parents were ¹⁰embarrassed to say that looking after children didn't always make them happy. Finally, you may be ¹¹disappointed if you think that a higher salary will bring greater happiness. In fact, one scientist suggests that organising your time well might be the best way to improve your quality of life.

- Marek doesn't earn much but he finds his job very satisfy.
- You must go and see that new film. It's extremely entertain.
- I'll be very annoy if they don't reply to my letter.

- 4 Write three sentences about you with -ed adjectives and three sentences with -ing adjectives.

3 Travelling by car

1 Read the story and put pictures A-D in order.

Last Saturday it was my mum's 70th birthday so we went on a family trip to Paris for the weekend. My wife Viv and I – and the kids, of course – set off early for the airport, with my parents driving in front in their own car. Soon I realised we were going to run out of petrol, so I phoned them on their mobile and explained that we would fill up at the next garage.

When we left the garage, we speeded up to catch up with mum and dad, but suddenly a police car overtook us and I had to slow down and pull over. Luckily the police officer only gave me a warning, so I apologised and we set off again. By now the traffic was terrible, so we decided to take a short cut.

Unfortunately, we got lost and didn't know where we were. We stopped a young man to ask the way and because he was going in the same direction, we gave him a lift. He was able to map-read so we got to the airport in time, but there was no sign of my mum and dad. They got stuck in a traffic jam after we lost them, so we all had to catch a later flight. Although it was difficult getting to Paris, we still had a great weekend.

3 a) Fill in the gaps with the correct form of the words/phrases from 2.

- Have you ever run out of petrol?
 - Do you _____ if someone is driving too close behind you?
 - Do you usually _____ in bad weather?
 - Do you wait until your car is nearly empty before you _____ it _____?
 - If you were following a friend and he or she was driving too fast, would you try to _____ him/her?
 - Are you good at _____ or do you always have to ask for directions?
 - Have you ever stopped to _____? Where did he or she want to go?

Study Skills

Instructions

There are four Study Skills worksheets (p191–p194). The aim of these worksheets is to help students become better and more independent learners. The worksheets are designed to be used in class, offering a change of pace and focus for both teacher and students. You will need to photocopy one Study Skills worksheet for each student.

1 Independent learning p191

Aim

To help students become more autonomous learners by raising awareness of ways of learning English outside the classroom.

When to use and time

Use any time after lesson 1B. 15–25 minutes.

Procedure

- 1 Ask students what the four skills are (speaking, listening, reading and writing). Students read the conversation and answer the question. Check answers with the class.

Ana practises reading and writing.
Luis practises speaking and listening.

- 2 a) Focus students on the table and tell students that these are ways to improve their English outside the classroom. Pre-teach graded readers, a personal diary, an e-pal, a pen pal and subtitles. Students do the exercise on their own before checking in pairs. Check answers with the class. Ask students to tell the class some of the things in the table that they often/sometimes do.

1 Ana keeps a diary of what she has learned, reads English-language magazines and websites, and writes to an e-pal. Luis practises English with a conversation partner.

- b) Students do the exercise in pairs. Elicit ideas from students and write them on the board. Students decide which they think are the most useful ideas.

- 3 a)–c) Students do the exercises on their own. Remind students to think about what they do outside the classroom as well as in their lessons.

- 4 Put students into groups. Students compare their answers to 3a)–c). Ask each group to share interesting answers with the class. Also ask students to tell the class what they are planning to do outside class to improve their English.

2 Using dictionaries for pronunciation p192

Aim

To help students use phonemic transcriptions in dictionaries to check pronunciation and word stress.

When to use and time

Use any time after lesson 4D. 20–30 minutes.

Preparation

A class set of monolingual dictionaries would be useful.

Procedure

- 1 a) Focus students on the table. Tell students that these are the phonemic symbols for all the vowel sounds (including diphthongs) in standard British English. Students work in pairs and decide how we say the sounds. Encourage students to look at the example words if they don't know the symbols. Check students' pronunciation of each sound with the class, modelling and drilling difficult sounds as necessary.

- b) Students work in the same pairs and write the words in the box under the correct phonemic symbols in the table in 1a). Encourage students to say the words aloud to each other to help them decide which symbols they match with. Don't check answers at this stage.

- c) Ask students to turn to Student's Book p159 to check their answers. Check answers with the class.

- 2 a) Students do the exercise on their own before checking answers in pairs. Don't check answers at this stage. Note that all these words are in V4.2 SB p122 and V4.4 SB p123.

1 Work in groups. Discuss these questions.

- 1 What do you read in your language?
- 2 Do you read in English outside class? If so, what do you read?

1 What does the key finder do?
2 What do you get when you buy one?
3 How does it work?
4 Does the thing you've lost have to be in the house?

Where are my keys?

The remote control, your reading glasses, your mobile phone and house keys have one thing in common – they're easily lost. This always seems to happen at the worst possible moment, just as you are rushing to catch a plane or a train, or when you're trying to get to a meeting on time.

Now you can get some electronic help and buy a key finder. The EasyFind 4-Way Key Tracker includes a hand-held remote control and some small circular stickers that you put on your keys. This new improved key finder sends a digital radio message out to the stickers. Finding the lost item is easy: press the button on the remote control and the sticker will make a noise, which tells you where the lost item is. This makes it much easier to find things that are lost outside, in the garden or in the street, because it has a range of up to 25 metres.

The EasyFind 4-Way Key Tracker costs about £40 and is in the shops now.

- 5 a) Match 4a)–e) to reading skills 1–5 in 2.
b) Work in pairs. Compare answers.

Progress Tests

Instructions

The Progress Tests (p200–p223) are designed to be used after students have completed each unit of the Student's Book. Each Progress Test checks students' knowledge of the key language areas taught in the unit. Some exercises and questions may also test students' knowledge of language taught in previous units. It is helpful for students to have done the Review section at the end of each unit before doing a Progress Test. You can also encourage students to revise for the test by reviewing the relevant Language Summary in the back of the Student's Book and by doing exercises for that unit on the CD-ROM and in the Workbook. Note that Progress Test 6 also reviews items from units 1–5, and Progress Test 12 reviews items from the whole of the Student's Book.

- Allow students 40 minutes for Progress Tests 1–5 and 7–11, and 50 minutes for Progress Tests 6 and 12. You may wish to adjust this time depending on your class.
- Photocopy one test for each student. Students should do the tests on their own. You can either check the answers with the whole class at the end of the test or collect in the tests and correct them yourself. Keep a record of the test scores to help you monitor individual student's progress and for report writing at the end of the course.
- Progress Tests can also be given as homework.

Listening tests

There is a listening section in Progress Tests 6 and 12 only. The corresponding recording scripts (R6.10 and R12.8) are in the Answer Key for the tests. Both R6.10 and R12.8 have two separate sections. Focus on one section of the recording at a time. Allow students time to read through the questions for that section in the Progress Test before you start. Play that section of the recording without stopping and allow students to answer the questions. Then play the recording again without stopping. Repeat this procedure for the other section.

- a) ROB What are you doing on Saturday night, Jill? You usually go clubbing, don't you?
- JILL Yes, I do, but unfortunately, I've hurt my foot, so that's no good. I should really tidy up the flat, but I think I'm going to have a quiet night in and watch an old film instead.
- b) JANE Have you found a new place to live yet, Steve?
- STEVE We're still looking, actually. My wife fell in love with an old cottage we saw last week. It was gorgeous, but it needed a lot of repairs. Then this morning we saw a terraced house, which was tiny but in a good neighbourhood, and a larger semi-detached house in the suburbs. Um, I preferred the smaller one, I think.
- c) JAN I don't know what to get Mum for her birthday. I was thinking of buying her some perfume. What do you think?
- MAY Well, she loves things that smell nice, but isn't that what you always get her?
- J Um, I suppose it is. I saw a lovely cat in the market made of wood that she might like. Or there was also a really nice corkscrew that looked easy to use.
- M That sounds good. You know how she likes practical things.
- J Right. I'll get that then.
- d) MUM Tim, can you give me a hand making dinner?
- TIM OK. What do you want me to do?
- M First, can you get some vegetables out of the fridge?
- T There are a couple of aubergines. I love those.

- M Yes, I know, but they'll take too long to cook.
Are there any peppers?
- T Um ... oh yes, there are some here at the back.
- M They'll be fine then, thanks.
- T And what about these courgettes?
- M Let's keep those to have with the roast lamb tomorrow.

Hi there, and welcome to the programme. Firstly, let me give you some information I've just received about the Beddington Bridge Music Festival, which takes place every year. Regular fans will remember that the festival happens over the third weekend of August – Friday to Sunday – near the village of Beddington. This year, though, it's going to start on the Thursday, which will give people the chance to have even more fun. There's a range of tickets to suit everyone, from one-day visitors to people who want to stay for the whole long weekend. You should book early because tickets are 30% off until the 30th June. From the 1st July until the festival starts on the 22nd August it will be full-price tickets only. This is a family-friendly event, so children under 16 are allowed in for half price and children below the age of 12 can go in free. Most festival-goers camp in the fields on the festival site, although there's some accommodation available in the nearby villages. Rooms tend to be quite expensive during festival time though, costing at least £50 per person. If you're driving there, there's a parking fee of £27 per car, or £35 if you have a van, for however long you stay. You can also get there easily by public transport – the nearest station is about 4 miles away. Oh, and motorbikes can park for free. Hot and cold food and drink are available on the festival site of course, and don't forget you can also get fantastic home-cooked breakfasts in the main square in the village. Anyway for more information check out the website, which is www.beddingtonfestival.com.

INTERVIEWER We're very pleased to welcome on Arts Today the actor Colin Waring.

COLIN Hello.

- 1 Firstly, how did you become interested in acting?
- c Well, my mother took me to the theatre when I was ten, to see a Shakespeare play that we were studying in English at school. That didn't really attract me though – the language was too old-fashioned, I suppose. Then one of my friends was in a local play and we all went along to watch. That was when I started thinking it might be something I could do too.
- 1 Did you enjoy drama school?
- c I loved it. Some of the teachers were very well-known actors and we were all a bit frightened of them! The most useful thing was being able to go and see all the new plays in London – we often got free tickets and I learned so much that way. The other students were great too and I made a lot of good friends there.
- 1 What was your first acting job?
- c Well, after drama school I worked part-time in a restaurant called The Rendezvous, you know, like actors do. Then I auditioned for a part in a play called Secret Lives, but I didn't get that, sadly. Then I was chosen to play a waiter in Table for Two, you know, the John Frank musical.
- 1 You always say your first love is the theatre. Why is that?
- c A lot of actors say it's the contact with a live audience, and that is exciting of course. But the thing I find most fascinating is that you're part of something that grows and changes – a play is never the same two nights in a row. Some people like playing their part in the same way every night, but I'd get rather fed up with that.
- 1 Finally, any plans for the future?
- c Well, I was offered a part in a new American detective film, but I didn't want to be away from home for that long. Then there's a new play directed by Ian Scott, but that would mean going on tour. So I'm going to do a TV serial, set near here – less travelling!
- 1 Colin, thank you for talking to us.
- c Thank you.

2

MARIE You're looking very well, Paul, have you had a holiday?

PAUL No, but I've just come back from a health retreat. I lived on just fruit and vegetable juice for a week.

- M Wow! Didn't you feel hungry?
- P Actually it wasn't too bad. Um, on Day 1, things were OK. There was a lot to do so I didn't notice I was hungry. I felt a lot worse the next day – bad headache and so on. After that it was great, though.
- M So would you recommend going to a place like that?
- P Oh yes, definitely. Some people do it regularly, every six months or so and, er, I'm thinking of doing it again in March. Anyway, you always look healthy. What are your tips?
- M Well number one – don't miss breakfast. It's the most important meal of the day. I always have fruit, yogurt, that kind of thing.
- P I tend to have a cooked breakfast – you know, eggs, beans, toast, sausages and then I can work without stopping until lunchtime.
- M Wow, that's a lot. I hope you think about the quality of your food. I always buy organic eggs, vegetables and bread. I know they're more expensive, but I feel you get what you pay for.
- P Are you a vegetarian?
- M Well, when I was younger, I thought it was the right thing to do, both for my health and to protect animals. But now I eat a bit of everything – meat and fish included.
- P Mm. So what sort of food do you prefer if you're eating out?
- M It depends what I'm doing and who I'm with. I love spicy food, so Indian or Thai are always good choices.
- P They're delicious, but a bit too hot for me. If I have the choice I go to my favourite restaurant just round the corner from my flat which serves great pasta – and it's quite cheap too.
- M Sounds good to me!
